College Pushed For North Side

A strong push is being made for enrollment of a permanent campus of the Oklahoma City Junior College in theソフトver.

The effort is centered in the North Chamber of Commerce which, according to its Aquafact, is determined to push

"Our board has agreed to undertake this," said Frank E. Johnston, of the city board of education, "and the city is in the early stages - just learning the red tape and problems that are involved.

NEW YORK - A notice on the front page of the New York Post today read: "In the midst of the scompany, a group of young men and women were engaged in an illegal gathering." The newspaper further stated that there were about 500 people present, all engaged in the same activity.

Upon learning that the police were present,
the group dispersed and left the area.

Washington - The first federal program to help pregnant women addicted to heroin has taken a tentative step toward operating, after years of legal battles and court rulings.

The program, which is administered by the Health, Education and Welfare Department, will start with a group of women in Washington, D.C.

Three women, who have been using methadone, will be treated in the program. The women will be given a weekly supply of methadone and will be monitored by medical and social workers.

The program is expected to expand to other areas of the country as well.

'Ms' Quickly Working Its Way into English Language

Dr. Patricia Monroe

The 50s were a time of change for women, when the first women's studies courses were offered and the words "feminist" and "consciousnessraising" were coined. But in the wake of the Vietnam War and the ensuing women's liberation movement, there was a push for women to work harder and smarter.

"Ms." represented the first publication specifically for women. It was a response to the one-sidedness of men's magazines, which often focused on women as sex objects or suburban housewives. "Ms." was a new kind of magazine that aimed to provide women with a voice and a platform for their concerns.

"Ms." quickly gained a devoted following of women who were looking for new ways to express themselves. The magazine's first issue was published in 1972 and it quickly became a symbol of the women's liberation movement.

Today, "Ms." is still a prominent publication that focuses on women's issues, but it has also expanded to include a wider range of topics. From politics to entertainment, "Ms." has become a go-to resource for women who are looking for a voice and a community to support them.
