WASHINGTON, D.C. — The chief government negotiator for the Paris peace talks, William P. Rogers, reported today that he has reached an agreement with the North Vietnamese on the issue of a cease-fire in Vietnam.

"We have an agreement," Mr. Rogers said in a statement. "The question now is whether the agreement can be announced."

Mr. Rogers said that the agreement had been reached during recent talks in Paris, where he said the United States had been represented by Ambassador William A. Ralston.

The agreement, Mr. Rogers said, was based on a proposal by the North Vietnamese that a cease-fire be declared immediately.

Mr. Rogers said that the agreement would be announced "as soon as possible." He added that he expected the agreement to be announced "within the next few days."

Why a $2,000 Volkswagen costs a lot less than any other $2,000 car.

Harris

Listening to the logic. Give or take a few dollars, most new economy cars are priced just about the same these days.

A round $2,000. But come trade in time, a word fits in here. Some are worth more to you than others.

And based on what's happened in the past 3 or 4 years, no one is worth more cash than you remember.

The Volkswagen Beetle.

So the real price you pay for a car is the difference between what you pay now and what you get back later, when you sell it.

Anyhow, take a good look at the chart on the right.

And please be careful. It's something to say today.

Dear Marlon, Keep Mumbling
Americans in Space: The First Decade

In 1965 President John F. Kennedy set a goal for America in space: "I believe we should go to the moon... before this decade is out," he said.

On February 20, 1963, John Glenn became the first American and the second human to orbit the earth. Our physical trip to the moon had begun. In the years since, America's space program has been the source of jubilation and tragedy, struggle and sacrifice, success and failure.

As America enters its second decade in space, we have thoughts running through our minds for the future we would be wise to keep in mind that not only the joy of the past but the frustrations as well will be magnified many times.

Busing Works In Mississippi

By DAVID RODGERS

Jackson, Miss.--Busing Works Here

In the heart of the capital city of Mississippi, where the issue of busing has been a hot topic for years, a new plan has been announced. It is a plan that would allow students to attend school in their own communities, regardless of race. The plan was introduced by the city's mayor, who said it would help to bring the city together.

Who Made The Best Deal In ITT Merger Settlement?

NEW YORK — When news first broke on the weekend that International Telephone and Telegraph had made a $1.8 billion settlement with the Justice Department — the largest-ever settlement by the ITT — it was widely assumed that the company would be the beneficiary of this move. ITT had long been regarded as a company that was consistently overcharging its customers, and many believed that the settlement was a victory for consumer interests.

However, while the settlement was clearly a win for consumers, it was also a significant blow to the company’s bottom line. ITT had long been known for its aggressive marketing strategies, and many believed that the company would be unable to recover from the settlement.

The settlement forced ITT to make significant changes to its business practices, and the company was forced to pay out a large sum of money to its customers. While this was undoubtedly a blow to the company, it also served as a reminder of the importance of fair business practices.

In the end, the settlement was a mixed blessing for both ITT and its customers. While the company was forced to make significant changes to its business practices, it was also able to avoid the potentially devastating consequences of a full-blown legal battle.
