Termill's Bill Gets 'Do Pass'

By RYAN TROFNICK

A House judicial panel approved Termill's bill to change the term for non-profit community television stations to 15 years, allowing them to receive financial assistance from the state.

The bill, which was introduced last month, would allow non-profit community television stations to receive financial assistance from the state. The bill was approved by the House Consumer Affairs and Regulatory Relations Committee, and now moves to the House Rules Committee for consideration.

Court Lets NAACP Join Remap Suit

By RYAN TROFNICK

A federal judge allowed the NAACP to join the lawsuit challenging the new state legislative district boundaries, which were drawn by the state Supreme Court. The NAACP contends that the new map is unfair and violates the Voting Rights Act.
