Steak Price 'Just Right'

ATLANTA (UP)— Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz said Friday, "The price of steak is about where it ought to be.

Auditor General A.C. Ross, a Democrat and former state auditor, said the steak price was "just right.

The proposal is expected to be introduced in the next congressional session.

"I know what I'm talking about," said Butz. "I've been eating steak for 30 years, and I can tell you that the price is right."

Feminine Gains

Women continue to hold the lower ranks of business, industry, and government, but they are gaining ground. The number of women in the professional ranks is increasing, and women are being appointed to positions of responsibility in a variety of fields. However, women still face challenges, such as the glass ceiling and sexual harassment, which can limit their advancement.

Engineering Need

There has been a significant increase in the number of students pursuing engineering degrees. This is a good thing, as the demand for engineers is growing. However, there is still a need for more engineers in the field. The University of Oklahoma has a strong engineering program, and we encourage students to pursue a career in engineering.
