TEEN’S BRIEF CRIME SPREE COSTS 10 YEARS

A 16-year-old Oklahoma City High School student who shot a convenience store cashier in observance of a home, reading an auto-stereotyped alphabet in the year 1950, and sentenced to 10 years in the state prison, Thursday.

Few details were released about the incident, but it reportedly occurred during the early morning hours and involved the theft of money from the cashier’s register.

The suspect, identified only as E.B., was arrested without incident and is being held at the Oklahoma County Jail on charges of armed robbery and assault with a deadly weapon.

E.B. is a known member of a local gang and has a prior conviction for theft.

The incident highlights the growing problem of youth violence and the need for stronger law enforcement measures to ensure public safety.

HARRIS LEADING NARCOTICS RAID

Warrants Issued For 30

By MIKE BRADLEY

In the same old corner, with the same old detective, Oklahoma County Sheriff’s Office narcotics detective, Deputy Harry Harris, led a group of detectives into a house on Wednesday night, searching for evidence of drug dealing.

The search warrant had been issued for the home of a known drug dealer, who had been under surveillance for several months.

Deputy Harris and his team entered the house and began searching for any signs of drug activity, including cash, drugs, and weapons.

While searching the house, Deputy Harris and his team discovered several bags of marijuana, a scale, and a small amount of cocaine.

The house was occupied by four people, all of whom were arrested and booked into the Oklahoma County Jail.

The investigation is ongoing, and more arrests are expected as the case develops.

Chains Halt Meat Spiral

WASHINGTON — Three major supermarkets have announced that they will no longer carry meat products, citing the rising cost of selling meat. The supermarkets, including Giant, Safeway, and Kroger, have made the decision in response to the rising cost of meat, which has been driven by the increased cost of feed and transportation.

The move comes as the agricultural sector deals with a supply crunch and a decrease in meat production. The cost of feed has risen due to the increasing cost of grain, while transportation costs have increased due to the increased demand for meat products.

Supermarket officials have said that the move will help them maintain their profit margins, as the rising cost of feed and transportation has made it difficult to sell meat at a profit.

The move is expected to have a significant impact on the meat industry, as the supermarkets are some of the largest buyers of meat products. The move is also expected to have a ripple effect, as other supermarkets may follow suit.

Nikolais Stresses Aesthetics, Not Purity In Dance Theatre

By ELLEN JORDAN

The Oklahoman

European audiences are familiar with Russian-born choreographer/musical theatre designer Michael Tchernyshev, who has earned a reputation for daring and provocative stage productions. As the Artistic Director of the Moscow State Academic Theatre of Modern Drama and a founding member of the Theatre of the New Generation, Tchernyshev's work has been characterized as a blend of avant-garde theatre and political commentary.

In his new production, "The Hospital: Terminal Case," Tchernyshev explores themes of identity, power, and control in a dystopian society. The play, set in a hospital where patients are treated as mere commodities, challenges traditional notions of medical ethics and social justice.

Tchernyshev's approach to theatre is deeply rooted in the works of playwrights like Samuel Beckett and Bertolt Brecht. He believes that theatre should be a means of critiquing the status quo and encouraging audiences to question their own beliefs and assumptions.

The production features a cast of prominent Russian actors, including Yuriy Nikulin and Irina Kolesnikova, who bring Tchernyshev's vision to life with powerful performances. The set design, with its stark, minimalist aesthetic, further heightens the sense of unease and tension.

"The Hospital: Terminal Case" is a thought-provoking piece that is sure to captivate audiences and spark important discussions about the role of theatre as a vehicle for social commentary. It opens at the Moscow State Academic Theatre of Modern Drama on 1 May and runs until 10 May.
