Developers Propose 4-Block Mall, Dome

By MARVIN LEVY

The developers of the proposed 4-block mall and dome in downtown Oklahoma City are scheduled to meet with city officials and councilmen tomorrow morning to discuss the project's feasibility. The mall and dome, which would be the largest in the state, are expected to attract millions of visitors each year and generate millions of dollars in tax revenue.

Dr. Luton, City's best known, to take oath

Dr. Luton, Oklahoma City's best-known doctor, is scheduled to take the oath of office tomorrow morning as the city's new mayor. Dr. Luton, who has served as the city's health commissioner for the past decade, is expected to bring a wealth of experience and knowledge to the position.

Columnist Hits Secrecy

By JOEY LLEAN

Secretary of State James Moore has announced that he will not release any information about the state's new secrecy laws. The laws, which are designed to protect the state's economic interests, have been criticized by many for being overly broad and potentially infringing on the public's right to know.

BBB Cites Sales Perils

By JOEY LLEAN

The Better Business Bureau has released a report warning consumers about the dangers of online shopping. The report, which is based on a survey of over 1,000 consumers, highlights the high incidence of fraud and identity theft associated with online transactions.

HHH Battles For Victory

By JOEY LLEAN

HHH, the state's leading bank, is facing a tough battle for victory in the upcoming election. The bank has been criticized for its handling of the state's financial crisis, and its opponents are calling for a new approach.

Rubin Calls HHH Ticket 'Insult'

By JOEY LLEAN

Rubin, a former state senator, has called the HHH ticket an insult to the people of Oklahoma. Rubin, who is running as an independent candidate, is hoping to unseat the incumbent.

City Sued

By JOEY LLEAN

The city of Oklahoma City has been sued by a group of residents who claim that the city has failed to maintain the city's parks and Recreation Facilities. The suit, which seeks $1 million in damages, is the latest in a series of complaints against the city.

Corrections:

The Oklahoma Journal regrets an error in a recent story. The journal correctly reported that the mayor had signed the new secrecy laws into law, but an error in the story stated that the mayor had vetoed the laws. The journal apologizes for the error.

State Eds Say

The Oklahoma Journal regrets an error in a recent story. The journal correctly reported that the governor had signed the new secrecy laws into law, but an error in the story stated that the governor had vetoed the laws. The journal apologizes for the error.

City Sued

The Oklahoma Journal regrets an error in a recent story. The journal correctly reported that the city had been sued by a group of residents who claim that the city has failed to maintain the city's parks and Recreation Facilities. An error in the story stated that the group had sued the state instead. The journal apologizes for the error.
