Back To The Drawing Board!

Robert J. Cilicoff Jr., 24, of Shelton, will again be required to complete the blanks on the 17th Street Station House arrest, as he was at a costume party last night. The police were called to the party to investigate a bomb threat, but found no evidence of foul play. The party, which was attended by 200 people, was hosted by Cilicoff's father, who was also present. Despite the incriminating evidence, the judge ruled that Cilicoff was not guilty of any crime and released him on bond. The case will be continued later this month.

No Weather Relief Likely

Hallelujah, our weather was perfectly weatherlike and there was no need for an umbrella last night. The skies were clear and the sun was shining. However, the forecast for today is not as favorable. The temperatures are expected to reach the high 70s, but there is a chance of showers in the evening. Be sure to have your umbrellas and raincoats ready, as the weather is unpredictable.

Privett Blasts Utility Law He Helped Draft As ‘Pitfall’

By MARY R. INMAN

Enid—Bobby Privett, former state senator, blasted the electrical utility laws that the state passed in 1976 during the House rules committee meeting Thursday afternoon.

"It is a disaster to the state," Privett said. "We are setting a dangerous precedent for the public utilities industry in Oklahoma, and the utilities are just laughing right now. They are laughing because they know that the public is not going to be able to do anything about it.

"The public utility law was supposed to create a level playing field for all utilities, but it has turned out to be a disaster. The utilities have used the law to their advantage, and the public has been left out in the cold."

Governors Scrap Platform

According to Privett, the utilities have used the law to their advantage, and the public has been left out in the cold."

Make More Money As A Levitz Furniture Salesman!

Levitz Furniture is expanding into the Oklahoma area in the very near future. If you would like to become part of the best retail outlet and earn a attractive commission, look out for a new Levitz outlet in your area.

Regardless of what you sell, earn, insurance, apparel, or any other field of retail sales, here's your opportunity to earn a better income. Look out for a new Levitz outlet in your area.

Levitz is looking for people who don't have the old-fashioned philosophy that "we're not interested in a store that makes money." They're not interested in a store that makes money.

So, if you're an experienced professional salesperson with a proven track record in your field and a desire to earn up to $5,000 annually and more, apply right now to pursue at Levitz Furniture Corporation.

Fairbanks Unhappy With NCAA Limitations

Fairbanks, Ala. (AP) -- Coach Bob Bomar, the Auburn University basketball coach, said Thursday he is ready to speak out about the new NCAA rules that he feels will hurt his team.

"The NCAA is about as intelligent as a manhole," Bomar said. "The new rules have nothing to do with basketball. They're just a way for the NCAA to make money.

"I'm not afraid to speak out," Bomar added. "I'm not going to let anyone dictate our game.

"The new rules are going to hurt our team. We're going to have to make some adjustments, but we're going to win some games."

Co-Op Sponsor Contest

Essay Winners To Visit Capital

Four winners in the annual Co-Op essay contest sponsored by the Oklahoma Cooperative Extension Service, Norman, are to tour the nation's capital. A trip to Washington, D.C., is part of a national contest sponsored by the National Cooperative Business Association (NCBA) and the American Farm Bureau Federation. The winners were: ceramic sculptor Linda Steckler, Perry; office manager Alice Cline, Hugo; recent high school graduate Kyle Brereton, Nowata, and high school student Tina Matty, Perry. They would be joined on the trip by the Extension Service's executive director, Don Fitch, who would serve as their tour guide. The winners were selected from among 1,200 entries in the contest, which required entrants to write an essay on a prescribed topic related to agriculture, co-operatives, or rural development. The essays were judged on content, originality, and presentation, with the winners chosen based on the overall quality of the essays. The trip includes visits to the National Mall, the White House, and other notable sights in Washington, D.C., as well as opportunities to meet with members of Congress and relevant government officials. It is expected to be a valuable experience for the winners, providing them with a deeper understanding of the role of co-operatives in the nation's economy and the opportunities available for students interested in pursuing careers in agriculture or related fields.

Woman Seeks Education Change

In May, 1968, Geraldine Knight was a young woman in the prime of her life. She had just completed her undergraduate degree in education at a reputable university. With a bright future ahead, she set out to make her mark in the world. However, her journey was about to take an unexpected turn.

The story begins in the small town of Payson, Arizona, where Geraldine grew up. She was a bright child, excelling in her studies and dreams of becoming a teacher. Her parents, both educators themselves, instilled in her the importance of education and the impact it could have on society.

When Geraldine graduated, she was offered a teaching position in a school district known for its innovative programs and supportive environment. However, during her first year of teaching, she noticed a significant disparity in educational opportunities among the students. She saw firsthand how the lack of resources and support affected the students' ability to succeed.

As time went on, Geraldine became more and more frustrated with the limitations of the existing educational system. She realized that the system was not working for all students, and she felt a强烈 urge to make a change. She decided to pursue a graduate degree in education policy and leadership. Her goal was to advocate for educational reform and ensure that all students, regardless of their background, had access to high-quality education.

Her journey led her to Washington D.C., where she enrolled in a prestigious graduate program. There, she took courses on education policy, leadership, and social justice. She also gained valuable insights from experienced educators and policymakers who shared her passion for educational reform.

As Geraldine continued her studies, she became involved in various advocacy groups and organizations dedicated to improving education. She spoke at conferences, wrote articles, and engaged with policymakers to discuss her ideas for educational reform. Her passion and dedication were contagious, and she built a strong network of supporters.

Finally, after years of hard work and dedication, Geraldine graduated with her master's degree in education policy. She returned to Payson, Arizona, determined to make a difference in her hometown. She founded a new organization focused on improving educational opportunities for all students.

Geraldine's story is a testament to the power of education and the importance of advocacy. She faced numerous challenges along the way, but her unwavering commitment to improving the educational system inspired others to join her in the fight for educational equity. Her work has had a significant impact on the community, and she continues to be a beacon of hope for future generations of educators and students.
