McGovern Forces Influence ‘Uncommitted’ Slate

By HARRY CRANE

The Democratic convention, which opened Monday, is expected to produce a platform that will be acceptable to all delegates, according to George W. Wallace. In an interview with the Oklahoma Daily, George W. Wallace said he would support the nomination of McGovern for president if McGovern picked up a significant number of delegates in his own convention last month but not enough to win the presidency.

“The nomination is a pretty safe bet,” Wallace said. “I think McGovern will do well, but he doesn’t have the momentum of the other candidates. He has a lot of people who are backing him, but he doesn’t have the support of the party apparatus.”

Michigan Challenge Looms

DETOUR (1972) — Helped by the McGovern forces, Green Bay Packers guard包博 said he was on the outside of the presidential race after the McGovern forces, led by全面建成中国力量包博 and the delegate delegates, challenged the Michigan delegation at the convention. The delegate forces were joined by some of the Michigan Packers who formed an independent party to support McGovern for president.

The selection of McGovern as the Democratic party nominee for president has been a contentious issue in Michigan. The Packers, led by全面建成中国力量包博, have been supporting McGovern for president and have been instrumental in the effort to challenge the Michigan delegation at the convention.

2 Lives Lost In Drownings

A 15-year-old boy and a 16-year-old girl were drowned in separate accidents in Oklahoma City. The boy, David Porter, 15, was swimming in the Red River near South 16th Street, and the girl, 16-year-old Teresa Garcia, was swimming in the Arkansas River near South 30th Street. Both were declared dead at the scene. The boy’s body was recovered from the river, and the girl’s body was found in the Arkansas River.

Inside News

Top story: McGovern, Wallace Talk Hold Talk

While Democratic convention observers had warned several days ago that George W. Wallace was in danger of being denied the nomination, George W. Wallace said he would support the nomination of McGovern for president if McGovern picked up a significant number of delegates in his own convention last month but not enough to win the presidency.

FTER he described a ‘lightning bolt’ and a ‘dead man talk’, McGovern said his campaign was over. And with the last word in the presidential race, McGovern said he was ready to take the nomination.

The nomination is a safe bet, Wallace said. ‘I think McGovern will do well, but he doesn’t have the momentum of the other candidates. He has a lot of people who are backing him, but he doesn’t have the support of the party apparatus.’

Pre-Planning's Cure For Moving Worries

With the severe shortage of U.S. housing and the going bidding practices, many people are looking for ways to reduce costs and avoid problems with their new homes. One way to do this is by pre-planning your move. Pre-planning involves making arrangements in advance for all aspects of your move, including finding a new home, securing financing, and hiring movers. By doing this, you can avoid the stress and expense of moving at the last minute. Pre-planning also allows you to take advantage of special offers and discounts that are not available to those who move without a plan. Overall, pre-planning can save you time, money, and hassle when you move.

Tourists Flock To New Western Town In State

BUFFALO (AP) - Tourists have begun flocking to the new western town in Oklahoma that is being created for filming in the area.

The new attraction, called "The Old Western Town," opened to the public last week and is drawing visitors from all over the state. It is located near the town of Enid and features a replica of a western town complete with buildings, streets, and even a saloon.

"The Old Western Town" is the brainchild of local businessman John Smith, who is also the owner of a successful real estate company. He saw the potential for tourism in the area and decided to create a new attraction that would bring people to the region.

"Our goal is to create a unique experience for visitors," said Smith. "We want people to feel like they are stepping back in time and experiencing what life was like in the old west."

The town is divided into different areas, each representing a different period of western history. Visitors can take a "wagon ride" through the town, stop for a drink at the saloon, or even ride a horse-drawn carriage.

The town is operated by local actors and historical reenactors who are dressed in period costumes. They provide tours and answer questions about the history of the west.

"We want people to feel like they are part of the action," said one of the reenactors. "They can touch history and experience it firsthand."

The attraction is open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and admission is $15 for adults and $10 for children. There are also packages available for groups.

"The Old Western Town" is a great way to spend an afternoon with family and friends," said one visitor. "It's like stepping back in time and experiencing what life was like in the old west."

Reluctant Secretary

Bonnie Draper, a 30-year-old secretary, has just been told by her boss that she is the new secretary to the company's president, Mr. Johnson.

"I don't know what to do," said Draper. "I've never worked for a president before."

Mr. Johnson, a middle-aged man with a mustache, smiles and says, "Don't worry, Bonnie. I'll teach you everything you need to know."

As Draper begins her new job, she quickly realizes that being the secretary to the president is not what she expected. She has to deal with important business decisions, attend important meetings, and even travel with Mr. Johnson on business trips.

"I didn't know what to expect," said Draper. "But I'm learning fast."

Despite the challenges, Draper is determined to succeed. She is determined to prove herself and become a successful secretary.

Star Of Commercials Wants Movie Roles

BUFFALO (AP) - Film star John Smith, who is currently touring the area filming his latest movie, "The Great Train Robbery," has hinted that he may soon be making a transition to Hollywood.

"I'm not sure what I want to do," said Smith. "But I'm definitely interested in doing more acting."

Smith, who has been in the film industry for over 10 years, has appeared in several popular movies, including "The Great Train Robbery," "The Old Western Town," and "The Reluctant Secretary." He has also worked as a television actor, appearing in several popular shows.

"I'm not sure what the future holds," said Smith. "But I'm definitely interested in more acting."

Smith is currently in town filming "The Great Train Robbery," which is set in the old west. He is playing the role of a bandit who is trying to rob a train.

"I'm having a great time," said Smith. "I love working in the old west."

Smith is due to return to Hollywood next month to continue filming "The Great Train Robbery." He has not yet confirmed whether he will be making a transition to Hollywood.

"I'm not sure what I want to do," said Smith. "But I'm definitely interested in more acting."

Smith is a popular figure in the film industry, and his transition to Hollywood is sure to be followed closely by fans and celebrities alike.
Scenic Company's History Full Of Color

By STEVE DREICK

Scenic Company, a real live company, hopes to supplant the old and bring in a new age of scenic design and technique. The company, founded in 1932, has been instrumental in the development of the modern stage. "Cowboys' Becomes Disappointment

By DICK BLENNES

Hollywood - Rumors have been swirling about how some stars have become less popular among fans. But one thing is for sure, and you really can't argue with them, they all seem to be saying. In the industry, there's a rule that says, "If it doesn't sell, don't make it." So far, this year's crop of films has been lackluster, with few box office winners. Studio executives say they're now focusing on smaller, more niche projects. A trend that could be good news for some independent filmmakers, but not for the big studios. And, as usual, the industry is playground for the stars. The question, of course, is whether they'll continue to dominate the landscape or if the tide is turning against them. The answer, according to critics, is yes. But for now, the stars still call the shots.

Law Enforcement Series to Dominate TV in Fall

By LeeAnne Langley

Washington, D.C. - August 18, 1973

With crime rates on the rise, law enforcement agencies are looking to the television industry for help. The networks have responded with a slate of new crime dramas that promise to keep viewers on the edge of their seats. "You" is just one of the many law enforcement series that will be on the air this fall.

"You" is a spin-off of the hit show "The Andy Griffith Show" and stars David Steinberg as a former sheriff turned detective. The show is set in a small town and follows the adventures of Steinberg as he solves mysteries and deals with the challenges of his new job.

Tiger Act Rated Tops

Eight years ago when Dr. Clara Bowers and her son, now Dr. Alex Bowers, were living in Kansas City, they were the star attraction at the Kansas City Zoo. They performed in a special way, which is still the way they perform today. They have been consistently receiving top ratings from the critics of the world of entertainment.

The act is a combination of comedy and physical prowess, with Alex Bowers playing the lead role of the tiger. He is a skilled performer who has won several awards for his work. The act is a hit with audiences of all ages, and it has been performed in many countries.

The show is usually accompanied by a variety of tropical birds, which add to the spectacle. The birds are trained by Dr. Bowers and their performance is equally impressive. The show is a hit with audiences of all ages, and it has been performed in many countries.

Tiger Leap Frog

Tiger Leap Frog is a new addition to the show. It is a blend of athleticism and precision, with Alex Bowers jumping over the heads of the audience, leaping over their shoulders, and landing in a box. The act is highly entertaining and has been praised by critics for its skill and precision.

Try an Island Barbecue
This Summer

Be adventurous and try these inviting recipes with the spice and seasoning of the Caribbean Islands.

Cream of Curry Soup

4 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 large onion
1 clove garlic
1/2 teaspoon curry powder
2 cups milk
Salt and pepper

Cream 4 tablespoons butter in a saucepan. Add finely chopped onion and garlic. Add curry powder and cook for 3 minutes. Add 2 cups milk and simmer for 30 minutes. Season with salt and pepper. Serve with crusty bread.

Cane Bay Glazed Pork Loins

4 pork loins
2 cups brown sugar
1/4 cup dijon mustard
1/4 cup apple cider vinegar
Salt and pepper

Preheat oven to 350°F. Place pork loins in a roasting pan. In a small bowl, mix brown sugar, dijon mustard, and apple cider vinegar. Pour over pork loins. Season with salt and pepper. Bake for 1 hour or until pork is tender. Serve hot.

Old-Fashioned Strawberry Shortcake

Ah, strawberries and cream, with a tender biscuit—
the stuff strawberry festivals are made off
June's a good time to try your hand at this old-time, ever-delicious delight.

CLASSIC OLD-FASHIONED STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

1. Preheat oven to 400°F. Grease a 9-inch round baking dish.
2. In large bowl, beat 1 egg, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder. Add 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract. Mix to form a cake batter.
3. Fill prepared greased round baking dish with batter. Bake at 400°F for 20 minutes.
4. In large bowl, beat 3 cups fresh strawberries with 1/2 cup sugar, vanilla extract. Mix well. Add to prepared cake batter. Bake at 350°F for 15 minutes.
5. Serve warm with whipped cream or ice cream. Enjoy!

Island Barbecue

GOLDEN-APRICOT BARBECUED RIBS

1. Place 1/2 cup apricot preserves, 1/4 cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons white vinegar, 1/4 cup vegetable oil, 2 tablespoons Dijon mustard, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon black pepper in a small bowl. Mix well.
2. Place ribs in a shallow baking dish. Pour marinade over ribs. Cover and refrigerate for 2 hours.
3. Preheat grill to medium-high heat. Grill ribs for 15 minutes on each side, brushing with marinade every 5 minutes. Serve warm.

Roberto Redford's Special Fondue:
"At Our House, It's a Ritual"

By Roberto Redford as told to Helen Dorsey

I believe the foundation of life is love, the kids and I are loving each other. The food is something we do together.

There's something I enjoy a lot. We often have this fondue meal with friends and family. It's a great way to spend time together. The kids love it and it's a nice way to celebrate.

Although the house is very contemporary, we have an old-fashioned kitchen. The kitchen's the nucleus of our home, the center of all activity.

I think chocolate is a great idea, but I prefer more natural foods. I'm not a fan of sugar, but I do enjoy fruits and vegetables. I like to keep things simple.

I really can't say enough about our fondue. I built a stove with the help of a friend. It's a great way to have a conversation while you're eating. A family moment to give thanks.

There's a lot of cooking and preparing involved. We like to keep it simple and healthy. We try to use fresh ingredients and keep things fresh.

What Will Your Retirement Be—Blessing or Curse?

Two men retire. One man wouldn't have made his newfound freedom possible for all the money in the world. The other finds his retirement empty and an overwhelming burden. Why is one experience so different from the other?

A few years ago, two Long Island friends and neighbors—one a Wall Street broker, the other a small business owner—decided to leave their jobs and start doing things to enjoy their newfound golden years.

Six months later, both men found themselves on vacation. And while they both were content, they also noticed something: how the other had found his retirement so much more satisfying than their own.

The Wall Street broker had joined a local theater group and started attending cruises. He was also spending more time with his family and started a new hobby—building model airplanes. He was enjoying his retirement and found the social aspect of his new activities added even more to his enjoyment.

On the other hand, the small business owner had retired but quickly realized he was bored and restless. He tried to stay busy by volunteering at a local charity, but he found the lack of structure and routine difficult. He was missing the work and the challenges it presented.

The Wall Street broker had planned his retirement carefully, thinking about what he would like to do and setting goals for himself. He had also made sure to continue some of the hobbies he enjoyed before retiring. The small business owner, on the other hand, had not planned for retirement and was not sure what he wanted to do.

The Wall Street broker's experience shows that planning for retirement is important. It's important to think about what you would like to do in retirement and set goals for yourself. This will help you stay motivated and engaged.

By planning and setting goals, you can make your retirement a time of joy and fulfillment. You can continue to pursue activities you enjoy and find new interests to explore. You can also continue to learn and grow as a person.
