Star's Insights From Package No. 1

By JOE HINES

Member, Baird with Jewels, the jewelry department of the Christmas Carnival, was saying something about the toy boats he was selling. He was somewhat off the subject when he said, "That wasn't a yacht. It was a toy." He was referring to a toy sailboat.

The woman who was standing next to him nodded in agreement and said, "Yes, but it was bigger than the one I bought at the store." She was holding a toy sailboat that was shaped like a real yacht.

The toy was made by a well-known manufacturer, and it was priced at $5.95. It was being sold at the Carnival for $4.95. The woman was happy with her purchase and thanked the man for his help.

Disneyland Lights Up Parade

By DAVE CLARK

Once upon a time, there was a little girl who loved to watch the Disneyland Parade. She would spend hours standing on the curb, watching the floats go by and cheering for her favorites.

Now, years later, she is back in the city and the parade has evolved. The floats are bigger and brighter, the music is more vibrant, and the parade is a celebration of the city's history and culture.

As the parade passes by, the little girl can't help but think of her childhood memories. She smiles as she sees the familiar faces of her friends and family members participating in the parade.

Producer's Adept At 'Dolly,' Roth

By JIMMY JOHNSON

DOLLYWOOD/GATLINBURG - Dolly Parton is a woman with a unique talent. She can make you feel as if you're part of the show simply by wearing a costume.

But it's not just her clothes that make her special. She has a special connection with the audience, and it shows in every performance.

Dolly Parton's success is said to be due to her ability to connect with people. She has a gift for making them feel welcome and accepted, no matter what their background or circumstances.

If you've ever seen Dolly Parton perform, you know that she has a special way of reaching out to the audience. She speaks to them in a friendly, down-to-earth manner, and she makes them feel like they're part of something special.

That's the kind of magic that makes Dolly Parton a true national treasure.

and started writing mystery books to pay his bills. But as one of his first cases, "Murder Story," published in 1939, he became a full-time writer. He was born in Newark, New Jersey, and was eighteen when he joined the Army, where he was specially trained as a writer. After service in World War II, he married and moved to New York, where he wrote his first novel, "The Iroquois." He has written over thirty books, including "The Red Room," "The Big Sleep," and "The Name of the Wind.

NEW YORK REMAINS the backdrop for Spillane's books, and the city's streets are alive with characters who are "the city" and their stories.
Spillane's novels are filled with hard-boiled characters like Mike Hammer and his partner Tom Lundy. As the New York Times has noted,"Spillane is a master of the genre, and his novels are riveting." His books are known for their fast-paced plots and vivid descriptions of the crime-ridden streets of New York.

"A master is someone who always keeps the word going.

In his books, Spillane's heroes are always on the lookout for
the next big case.

And though his stories are often dark and grim, there is always a sense of justice that prevails in the end.

Spillane's latest book, "The Executioner," features his iconic character, Mike Hammer. The novel tells the story of a man who is forced to confront his past and his present in order to solve a mystery. Spillane's books are a testament to the power of the written word and his ability to captivate readers with his stories.

So the next time you're looking for a good read, give Spillane a try. You won't be disappointed.

A Little Glossary of Advice on Handling Nervous Ailments

DEPRESSION AND ANXIETY

Anxiety is not only illness unless depression also is present. Depression usually is accompanied by varying degrees of anxiety. In depression there is a feeling of the blues, of helplessness, of hopelessness, of being out of control. In anxiety there may be one or more of the following: insomamia, inability to concentrate, trembling, quick or labored breathing, palpitations, and tightness in the chest.

HYSTERIA

This is not the same thing as hypnosis. Most common is uncontrollable laughing or crying, diarrhea or constipation, fainting, spells of rage or music, and suppression of certain kinds of sexual desire. If the latter condition is not relieved by medical treatment, it may be indicated that a strange entity controls the body.

INSOMNIA

If insomnia, insomnia often is a sign of depression. It can occur for a variety of reasons, such as anxiety or depression, fatigue, physical illness, or the use of certain drugs. Insomnia can be treated medically, and the physician may recommend the use of tranquilizers or sleeping pills.

NEUROSIS vs. PSYCHOSIS

I am a person who has nervous tension and when I am upset I tend to feel physically ill. This feeling is accompanied by a sense of helplessness, often accompanied by a sense of what is termed a "nervous chill" that makes it hard to carry on with work or even to think. I have been advised by a physician to take medication to help control my symptoms.

TREATMENT OF MENTAL ILLNESS

This can be treated medically. Treatment usually consists of medication, and sometimes is accompanied by psychotherapy. It is important to seek professional help when symptoms are severe or when they interfere with daily life.

What Causes Dog Bite?
Human Error, Probably.

"Just about every dog bite could have been prevented with a little care for the dog and a minimum of understanding of basic dog behavior."

A young friend and her husband have been thinking about getting a dog. They have two small children. The husband had a dog for a time when he was a boy. "My dad bought me a dog," he says. "He didn't know what to do with it, so he let me have it, and I took care of it."

The husband bought his dog from a neighbor who was moving. "I thought it would be a good idea," he says. "My son knew about dogs, and he thought it would be fun."

The father bought his dog at a dog show. "I was impressed by the dog," he says. "It was well-behaved and looked like it had been well taken care of." The father bought the dog with the intention of training it to be a good family pet.

Hypnosis vs. Pain: The Agony—and the Triumph—Maury Wills' Fans Never Saw

By Kate Halliday

September 23, 1963, was a great day for the Los Angeles Dodgers and America's former Maury Wills. On my 75th home run of the season, breaking Ty Cobb's 1927 record, but also on the day he suffered a mystical experience that changed his life. He was struck on the head by a stray pitch, a ball that struck him at a distance.

And, as everyone in baseball knew, Wills did it on deck, almost freezing in agony.

Thermometers body at a course bag facilities, at full speed along the ground, in the rain with this spinning number 27. Maury Wills was not the same man after that. He was, however, not a bit better, and in fact, was much worse. His 1963 season was a disaster. He batted .161, a career low.

Wills' experience was not the same. "We went out of the field," Wills said. "With a pitcher. "It was my job to help the team." The Dodger doctors gave him exercises for months daily in an effort to stop the sexual bleeding, but to help him stay in shape, and his leg was packed to see each session on the field.

"But I am not this man. I am not this person," Wills explained. "If I am, I am not. If I am, I am not."

Wills says he was blank, unprepared, unprepared for hypnosis. He knows that it was an addiction for him. He is not sure, he is not sure, he is not sure.

HOMEMADE JAM MADE EASY.

That's right. To put up a mouth-watering jam, jelly, or preserve, you don't have to put up with all the cooking, studding, and messiness that used to go along with it.

Take Strawberry Jam. Now all you need to make it are fresh ripe strawberries, sugar, lemon juice, and Certa. A heat-tolerant jelly that yields you about 10 cups of jam. Just follow this quick and easy recipe you'll find with many other tucked behind every Certa label.

And all you do is crush the strawberries, mix everything, and set for three minutes. You don't even have to cook. Then put in any tight fitted food container, put-size or smaller, and let stand till it sets. Pop it into the refrigerator, and that's that.

As fruity and natural-tasting homemade jam as ever flowed like a cracker.

And what you don't put away in three weeks, you can freeze. I'll have the same. As long as you keep it clean, fresh fruit flavor is always the thing.

Now making homemade jam is as simple as squeezing fresh juice and Certa.

WINDSOR HOUSE

Anyone who's old enough to smoke is old enough to make up his own mind.

By now, as an adult, you must have read and heard all that's been written and said for and against cigarettes. And come to your own conclusions.

If you don't smoke, we aren't likely to get you to start.

But if you like to smoke and have decided to continue smoking, we'd like to tell you a few facts about a cigarette you might like to continue with.

We refer, of course, to Vantage. Vantage gives you real flavor, like any high 'tar' and nicotine cigarette you ever smoked, without the high 'tar' and nicotine. And since it is the high 'tar' and nicotine that many critics of cigarettes seem most opposed to, even they should have some kind words for Vantage.

We don't want to mislead you. Vantage is not the lowest 'tar' and nicotine cigarette. But it is the lowest 'tar' and nicotine cigarette you'll enjoy smoking. It has only 12 milligrams 'tar' and 0.8 milligrams nicotine.

With anything lower, you'd have to work so hard getting taste through the filter that you'd end up going back to your old brand.

With Vantage, you won't want to.

Don't take our word for it.

Buy a pack and make up your own mind.
The Parent-Teacher Collision: Advice to Help Everybody "Win"

By Claire Slayman

"Always in haste..." "Never do things right before you try to improve them..." "Don’t take anything for granted..."

How many parents have heard these from their children’s teachers? From that first day of kindergarten to that final day of high school graduation, we meet two or three times a year to discuss our child’s progress. We often come to our meetings with high hopes and with the expectation that our children will be better off at the end of the year. However, that is not always the case.

Many parents have found themselves in a situation where their child is struggling with the teacher. They may feel overwhelmed and unsure of how to help their child. This can be a challenging time for both parents and teachers. However, there are ways to navigate these situations and come out successful.

1. You Can’t "Pin the Blame"

"A parent should be able to make it..." "The teacher should be responsible..." "The school should take responsibility..."

These are common statements we often hear in our discussions with other parents. However, these are not the best ways to address the situation. As a parent, you should not be trying to make others feel like they are responsible for your child’s success. Instead, focus on your own role in your child’s education.

2. You Don’t Have to Agree 100 Percent, Either

As a teacher, you can also feel overwhelmed when you have a parent who is not happy with your performance. However, you should not try to change your child’s behavior to please the parent. Instead, focus on your own goals and how you can help your child achieve them.
