Moore Chief Will Quit?

By LANCE WARD

Oklahoma City (AP) - Moore police Chief Larry J. Moore has resigned his commission, apparently in a dispute over a premature police operation that occurred the day before his resignation.

Moore, a small town of about 20,000 people, was the scene of a shootout early Thursday, resulting in the deaths of two suspects and one police officer.

A spokesman for the Moore Police Department said Thursday that a policeman had been shot and killed in the shootout, which occurred just before 2 a.m.

The shooting occurred as part of a multi-agency operation involving local, state and federal agencies.

The spokesman said the officer was killed in the early stage of the operation, and that multiple agencies were involved.

Moore, a small town in Caddo County, is about 125 miles southeast of Oklahoma City.

The latest developments:

1. The Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation is investigating the shooting.
2. The operation involved multiple agencies.
3. The shooting occurred just before 2 a.m.
4. The officer was killed in the early stage of the operation.

---

McGovern Wins California Test

Senator's Forces In Control

Decision On Vote Appealed

Move Called Safe Choice

The Oklahoma Journal

Vol. 8, No. 122

Tuesday, July 17, 1973

Wallace To Walk, Kin Says

By A Journal Writer

George Wallace will avoid a showdown with President Richard Nixon in the race for the 1974 gubernatorial election in Alabama.

Wallace, in a brief statement released by the Democratic party headquarters in Montgomery, said he would not seek the nomination of the Democratic party. He added that he would seek the nomination of the Republican party.

Wallace's statement was welcomed by Southern Democrats, who have long wanted him to run as a third-party candidate.

Sooner Test Vote Predicted

HEALTH - The Oklahoma City health department has confirmed a case of rubella virus in a 20-year-old woman.

The woman, who is a student at Oklahoma State University, is the first case of rubella in Oklahoma in more than a year.

The case is the first confirmed case of rubella in Oklahoma since 1972.

Filing Crush in Full Swing

By MORRIS HAHN

More than 100,000 people have filed their taxes for the 1974 tax year, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

The IRS said Thursday that it had received more than 100,000 tax returns for the 1974 tax year.

The agency said that it had not received any information about a possible increase in the number of tax returns.

The IRS said that it had not received any information about a possible increase in the number of tax returns.

---

Barlett First Day

U.S. Senate candidate Owen Bartlett opens his filing season Monday with a visit to Wilmer Johnson, former Democratic state senator, who announced his support for the Republican nominee.

Statewide Races:

- State Senate: The Republican nominee, Owen Bartlett, has announced his support for the Republican nominee.
- Governor: The Republican nominee, Owen Bartlett, has announced his support for the Republican nominee.
- Senator: The Republican nominee, Owen Bartlett, has announced his support for the Republican nominee.
- Major Party: The Republican nominee, Owen Bartlett, has announced his support for the Republican nominee.

---

Reader Wins $100

A woman who was visiting the Oklahoma City courthouse last week was surprised to learn that she had won $100 in a lottery.

The woman, who was visiting the courthouse to check on a friend, said she had been unaware of the lottery.

The Oklahoma City Prosecutor's Office said it had not received any information about the lottery.

The Oklahoma City Prosecutor's Office said it had not received any information about the lottery.

---

Inside News

Turner Downs Opponent

A federal court judge has ordered former Democratic state senator Turner Downs to pay $10,000 to his former opponent, former state senator James H. Carter.

The court ruled that Carter was entitled to the payment after he had sued Downs for $50,000, alleging that the former senator had defamed him.

The court said that Carter had not sues Downs for $50,000, alleging that the former senator had defamed him.

The court said that Carter had not sues Downs for $50,000, alleging that the former senator had defamed him.

---

Reader Wins $100

A woman who was visiting the Oklahoma City courthouse last week was surprised to learn that she had won $100 in a lottery.

The woman, who was visiting the courthouse to check on a friend, said she had been unaware of the lottery.

The Oklahoma City Prosecutor's Office said it had not received any information about the lottery.

The Oklahoma City Prosecutor's Office said it had not received any information about the lottery.

---

All information from the OJ at Page 2.

---

Filing Crush in Full Swing

By MORRIS HAHN

More than 100,000 people have filed their taxes for the 1974 tax year, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

The IRS said Thursday that it had received more than 100,000 tax returns for the 1974 tax year.

The agency said that it had not received any information about a possible increase in the number of tax returns.

The IRS said that it had not received any information about a possible increase in the number of tax returns.

---

Barlett First Day

U.S. Senate candidate Owen Bartlett opens his filing season Monday with a visit to Wilmer Johnson, former Democratic state senator, who announced his support for the Republican nominee.

Statewide Races:

- State Senate: The Republican nominee, Owen Bartlett, has announced his support for the Republican nominee.
- Governor: The Republican nominee, Owen Bartlett, has announced his support for the Republican nominee.
- Senator: The Republican nominee, Owen Bartlett, has announced his support for the Republican nominee.
- Major Party: The Republican nominee, Owen Bartlett, has announced his support for the Republican nominee.

---

Reader Wins $100

A woman who was visiting the Oklahoma City courthouse last week was surprised to learn that she had won $100 in a lottery.

The woman, who was visiting the courthouse to check on a friend, said she had been unaware of the lottery.

The Oklahoma City Prosecutor's Office said it had not received any information about the lottery.

The Oklahoma City Prosecutor's Office said it had not received any information about the lottery.

---

Inside News

Turner Downs Opponent

A federal court judge has ordered former Democratic state senator Turner Downs to pay $10,000 to his former opponent, former state senator James H. Carter.

The court ruled that Carter was entitled to the payment after he had sued Downs for $50,000, alleging that the former senator had defamed him.

The court said that Carter had not sues Downs for $50,000, alleging that the former senator had defamed him.

The court said that Carter had not sues Downs for $50,000, alleging that the former senator had defamed him.

---

Reader Wins $100

A woman who was visiting the Oklahoma City courthouse last week was surprised to learn that she had won $100 in a lottery.

The woman, who was visiting the courthouse to check on a friend, said she had been unaware of the lottery.

The Oklahoma City Prosecutor's Office said it had not received any information about the lottery.

The Oklahoma City Prosecutor's Office said it had not received any information about the lottery.

---

All information from the OJ at Page 2.
Hard Drug Trade On Rise, Federal Agent Says

Lively House Race Likely

Elderly Undergo Culture Shock In Park

Veep Contenders Narrowed To 10

House Bid Announced

Beware 'Fly-By-Nighters' With Home Improvements

Proper 'Tie-Downs' Alleviate Dangers

Flood Coverage Increase Allowed

Fire Hits Forrestal

Can You Imagine That...?
First Day Filings Of Hopefuls Listed

Ceremonies Highlight Summer Scene

Sen. McCune Plans Bid For Re-Election

Bremer Wins Delay

Deadlock To Wallace Predicted

Race Brews For Sheriff

Plea Issued For Victims Of Arsonist

Wet Forces Suffer Setback

It's 13th House Bid For Steed

Church Vows Solemnized

Bridal Notes: Miss Karen Lewis Honored At Party

SHOE SALE

BEDSPREAD CLEARANCE SALE

Rosa Lee's DRESS SHOPPE

Bed & Bath Fashion Shop

Moyre Fashions
Editorials

Mag Recognizes Our Police

Toward a better future in the city, the Oklahoman has asked the Oklahoma City Police Department to consider several suggestions in its editorial, "The Future," to be carried in the newspaper. The department has agreed to look into the suggestions and has promised to provide feedback. The Oklahoman will keep readers updated on the progress of these suggestions.

Give Shelter Director Time

A new director has been designated for the shelter for the indigent, Rev. W.E.B. DuBois. The shelter is located in the old Walker Park. The appointment is effective immediately and the new director will be in charge of all operations.

Off And Kicking

Plates is a great statue sitting outside the county courthouse. It is a popular spot for visitors and it has become a symbol of the county. The statue represents the strength of the county and its people.

Rubber Hoses, Electric Chains

A new innovation has been introduced to the city, rubber hoses and electric chains. These are used for cleaning purposes and have become popular among the city's residents. The hose is made of strong rubber and is durable, while the chains are electric and can be used for heavy cleaning.

William F. Buckley

Whalen On Nixon

A new book by William F. Buckley Jr., "Whalen On Nixon," has been released. The book is a collection of the author's essays and articles on various topics, including politics and culture.

Avon Halts Rep's Sales

Avon has stopped the sales of a product in the city, Rep's Sales. The product is a new line of cosmetics and has caused a stir among the city's residents.

Talk Urged On Pirates

The city is urging a discussion on the topic of pirates, with a focus on the need for increased awareness and education. The city is also considering taking action to prevent pirate activities in the area.

Knives Still Wait For Ted Kennedy

Teddy Kennedy is scheduled to arrive in the city this week to discuss the importance of knives. The discussion will take place at a local park, and the city is inviting residents to attend.

End Of Series

The city has ended a series of events, "The End Of Series," that has been running for the past month. The events have included various activities and discussions, and have been well-attended by the city's residents.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

McGovern Hopes Ted's On Ticket

Michael Dukakis has been named as the new candidate for the Democratic ticket. The announcement has caused a stir among the city's residents, with some expressing support for Dukakis, while others have voiced their concerns.

Washington's Drug Kingpin Eludes Arrest

A drug kingpin has escaped from custody and is still at large. The city's police department is searching for the individual and has urged residents to be on the lookout for any sightings.

Your Money's Worth

Inflation's Vote Key

The city has experienced a rise in inflation, and residents are urged to be aware of its impact. The city's government is taking steps to address the issue and is encouraging residents to participate in the decision-making process.

Rare Find Only 30 Years Old

An old find, only 30 years old, has been discovered in the city. The find is significant and has caused a stir among the city's residents.

Quotes

"The city is a living museum." - Bill Graham

"We need to work together to make the city a better place." - John Doe
Olympic Track Team May Be Best Ever

Exhibitions Scheduled In Softball

U.S. Men's Track Team

State Golfers Fare Well

FALSE TEETH

Market Summaries

Insurance, Bank And Trust