Mutual Funds Go No-Load

The growth of mutual funds has been phenomenal in recent years. In 1970, there were only 225 mutual funds with $2 billion in assets. By the end of 1972, there were 3,000 mutual funds with $71 billion in assets. The profit that has been made on these investments has made mutual funds one of the leading money-making vehicles in the securities market. The popularity of mutual funds has been enhanced by advertising that promotes the safety, liquidity, and profitability of mutual funds.

Delegates Reject Fred Harris' Bid

The delegates at the American Stock Exchange's annual meeting in New York City yesterday rejected a bid by Fred Harris, the exchange's chairman, to become its permanent president. The delegates, by a vote of 583 to 578, approved a motion to retain the current presidency of Edward J. Keating, who has held the post since 1971. Harris had been seeking the presidency for months and had been backed by several of the exchange's senior members. However, his bid was met with strong opposition from some members who felt that Keating was more qualified for the job. The vote was a setback for Harris, who had been a strong contender for the presidency. The exchange's board of governors will now consider the results of the meeting and make a decision on the presidency in the coming months.
