Vice President 'Tremendously Gratified'

Nixon Keeps Agnew On The 'Team'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Late last night President Richard M. Nixon announced that Spiro T. Agnew would remain as vice president. The announcement followed some last-minute discussions between Nixon and Agnew, who had apparently been considering his future. Nixon's decision was expected to be made public after Agnew's resignation had been accepted. However, Agnew remained in the White House until 1:30 a.m. ET, when he submitted his resignation letter to the White House, effective immediately.

Embezzling Charge Hits Sand Springs Tag Agent

Sand Springs, Okla. - The embezzlement of State Highway Department funds in the amount of $350,000, according to a federal grand jury indictment, has been charged against Elmer J. Sand Springs, 39, of South Dakota, and his wife, Grace E. Sand Springs, 37, of Sand Springs.

Sand Springs, 39, a highway employee, and his wife, 37, also a highway employee, are charged with mail fraud, embezzlement, and conspiracy to defraud the government.

The indictment, filed in federal court in Oklahoma City, alleges that between July 1, 1972, and July 1, 1973, Sand Springs embezzled $350,000 from the State Highway Department.

The grand jury also charged that Sand Springs and his wife conspired to defraud the government by mailing false statements to federal agencies.

A hearing in the case is scheduled for Oct. 21.

Sand Springs, who was released on bond, is the father of two children. His wife is also employed by the highway department and has been placed on leave without pay pending the outcome of the case.

The embezzlement was discovered after an investigation by the federal Bureau of Investigation.

Red Rocket Hits Venus

Venus - The Red Rocket, a new type of rocket, has been launched by the Venusian Space Agency. The rocket is designed to travel from Earth to Venus in 60 days. The Red Rocket was launched today from the American Rocket Station in Venus and is expected to land on Venus in 60 days.

Putting 'Family' Into Medicine

June 29 to 30 years ago the American Medical Association announced for the first time its endorsement of a "family" plan for health care. The plan, which was designed to provide comprehensive medical care for all Americans, was a significant step forward in the quest for a more equitable and efficient health care system.

The "family" plan included a variety of provisions, such as a comprehensive medical insurance program, access to primary care providers, and the establishment of community health centers. It also called for the expansion of medical education and research to ensure a continual supply of qualified medical personnel.

Since then, the "family" plan has been widely adopted by hospitals and physicians across the country. Today, it is considered a cornerstone of the health care system in the United States.

State Editors Say

No State Police Force

Bill Branan

A long time ago after the American Civil War, a group of states created a system of state police to provide law enforcement in areas where local police forces were insufficient. Today, the role of state police has evolved to include a wide range of responsibilities.

The state police are responsible for enforcing state laws, protecting public safety, and maintaining order. They are also involved in the investigation of crimes, the protection of citizens, and the enforcement of traffic laws.

Tom Braden

McGovern Called 'Cool'

In the 1960s, there was a lot of talk about the "cool" factor in politics. The phrase was often used to describe politicians who were perceived as being calm, collected, and effective in their public appearances.

The "cool" factor was particularly important in the context of the Vietnam War, where the American public was increasingly disillusioned with the war effort. Politicians who were perceived as being "cool" were seen as being more effective in managing the crisis.

Burt Successful
With All Music

Burt Bacharach was nominated for an Oscar for best original song in 1963 for his composition "Skyfall." Since then, he has won an Academy Award, a Grammy Award, and two Emmy Awards. He has also been nominated for several Tony Awards and has won the prestigious Duke Ellington Award.

Burt Bacharach

Bacharach did not become completely enmeshed with the world of music until he was in his mid-20s. He was a student at the University of London when he met his future wife, Marguerite Primrose. They started writing songs together and eventually formed their own band, the Burt Bacharach Quartet. The band was signed to a record deal and had several hits, including "Raindrops Keep Fallin' on My Head" and "This Guy's in Love With You."

Cover Story

Bacharach is one of the few composers who has won Academy Award nominations for Best Original Song. He has also been honored with the Grammy Lifetime Achievement Award and the Kennedy Center Honors. He has written music for a variety of television shows and movies, including "The graduate," "The Pill," and "The Thomas Crown Affair." His music has been featured in numerous films, including "The Graduate," "The Thomas Crown Affair," and "The Graduate."
Movie's Moved To Hollywood

BY DICK KLEINSER

HOLLYWOOD — (UPI) — The international market of a half-finished movie currently being shot here is called "Black Magic." It's a film of a woman named Mr. and Mrs. Brown. The star is Brigitte Bardot. The director is an American, Robert Territories. The producer, Stanley Kramer, is an Australian. It started shooting last October but has been on hold ever since.

But now, according to the director, it's going to be completed. "We are going to finish the movie," he says. "It will be ready for release next year." And that means the international market will be in the hands of the producers, who are still looking for a distributor.

The story of the making of the movie is, of course, the real news. The producers have been trying for months to find a distributor, but so far they have been unsuccessful. The movie is about a woman named Mrs. Brown, who is married to a man named Mr. Brown. They live in a small town in the middle of nowhere, and they are trying to make a living by growing tomatoes. But the tomatoes are not doing well, and the couple is in debt.

One day, a Hollywood agent comes to their door and offers to make a movie about their lives. The couple is thrilled, and they sign a contract. But then they realize that they have no idea how to make a movie, and they are in over their heads. They hire a director, who is very experienced, and he agrees to help them. But it's not easy, and they struggle to make the movie happen.

The movie is about Mrs. Brown, who is determined to make a good movie, and who is willing to do whatever it takes. She is a strong woman, and she doesn't let anything stand in her way. She is willing to risk everything for her dream, and she succeeds in making the movie happen.

The movie is about the power of dreams, and it is a story of hope and determination. It is a story of a woman who never gives up, and who always believes in herself. It is a story of a woman who is willing to do whatever it takes to make her dreams come true.

The movie is about the value of hard work, and it is a story of how hard work can make a difference. It is a story of a woman who is willing to work hard, and who believes that hard work is the key to success. It is a story of a woman who is determined to make a good movie, and who is willing to do whatever it takes to make it happen.

as I was saying...

By STEVE DIMACK

This week a mixture of new books, interesting exhibits, and exciting events are hitting the Oklahoma City area. One such event is the Oklahoma History Center's new exhibit, "The Oklahoma Story," which opens on May 6. The exhibit tells the story of Oklahoma's history through a series of interactive displays and audio-visual presentations.

Another new book worth mentioning is "The Memory Palace," by Stephen Hawkings. This book explores the idea of memory and how it relates to our understanding of the universe.

And finally, the Oklahoma City Symphony will be performing a concert featuring the music of Claude Debussy on Saturday, May 7. The concert will take place at the Civic Center Music Hall and is sure to be a highlight of the week.
Jayne Limits Own Role

BETTENDORF, Ia. - Jayne Mansfield, a regular on the "Midnight Special" series in New Orleans, has had to give up being interviewed by the media today because of her husband, Steve Shirley.

Shirley is a frequent guest on the "Midnight Special" and it is understood that Mansfield does not wish to be interviewed by the media in connection with the radio program. This is Mansfield's first public appearance since the death of her husband, Steve Shirley.

Drove Manufacturers Have Rigid Control In Nevada

By NORMAN SCHOFIELD

Las Vegas, Nev. - Dice manufacturers in Nevada have a strict code of conduct that they follow. The code has been in effect since 1965 and is known as the "Code of the Road." The code requires that at least one man be present at all times during the operation of a dice game. This man is referred to as the "guard." The guard is responsible for maintaining order and ensuring that the dice are not tampered with.

The code also requires that the dice be of a specific color and size, and that they be rolled in a specific way. The dice must be rolled in a straight line, and the guard must roll them at a consistent speed. The code also requires that the dice be rolled in a specific area, and that the players must stay within this area.

The code is strictly enforced, and any violation can result in fines or imprisonment. The code is also enforced by the Nevada Gaming Control Board, which is responsible for monitoring the operation of all gaming facilities in the state.

The code has been in effect for over 50 years, and it is considered to be one of the best ways to ensure the integrity of gaming in Nevada.
ISAAC 'BLACK MOSES' HAYES' NEXT GOAL IS TO BECOME DRAMATIC ACTOR

By LEONARD LEATHER

NEW YORK — Of all the stars named Kelly — and there have been Gate, Gracie, Al and Nancy — Isaac Hayes is the youngest, prettiest, and funniest. The Negro actor has been billed as a "Negro Jimmy Stewart" in several recent movies, and a "Negro Robert Mitchum" in others. But his latest role is that of a "Negro Black Moses." "Black Moses" is the name of a Negro actor who succeeded the white actor in the role of Moses in the film "The Ten Commandments." Hayes will play this role in the upcoming film "The Ten Commandments."

Hayes has performed in a number of movies and television shows, including "The Blackboard Jungle," "The Beat Generation," and "The Laughing Policeman." He has also appeared on stage in a number of plays, including "The Lost Weekend." Hayes has been praised for his dramatic abilities and has been nominated for several awards, including an Academy Award for Best Actor.

Disney Studios Has A Hippie

BY MARILYN WILSON

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Disney Studios is a hotbed of creativity and the home of some of the most talented people in the entertainment industry. One of the latest stars to join the Disney family is the famous singer, songwriter, and actor, Bob Dylan.

When I walked into the studio for the first time, I was struck by the energy and creativity that filled the air. The atmosphere was electric, with music blaring from the speakers and artists working on their latest projects. It was a place where anything was possible.

I was introduced to Bob Dylan by a mutual friend, who had worked with him on a previous project. We hit it off immediately and started discussing his new album. He was excited to be working on it and shared some of the stories behind the songs. It was a real thrill to hear him talk about his music.

Bob Dylan has been a huge inspiration to me and I was honored to have the opportunity to work with him. It was a memorable experience that I will never forget. I highly recommend checking out his music and supporting his continued creativity.

Everybody Saw Kelly

By SARA WILSON

Sooner film to begin shooting

By JOHN SMITH

Oklahoma City — Shooting is set to begin Monday on the film "Sooner, My Friend," starring Isaac Hayes and directed by Sydney Pollack.

The film is based on the true story of a young black man who must navigate the complexities of race, class, and identity in the face of adversity.

"Sooner, My Friend" is one of several films currently in production in Oklahoma. The state's film industry has been growing rapidly in recent years, attracting a variety of projects from major studios.

The film is expected to draw attention to Oklahoma's growing film industry and help further diversify the state's economy.
Movie’s ‘Superman’ Making A Comeback

by William Stephens

Hollywood - It’s a fact: It’s a plane. It’s a bird. It’s Superman.

The man who played Superman in the movies, now well along to his retirement age, is to be remembered by a new generation of fans. The Superman phenomenon has a long and colorful history, and many of the stories about it are quite entertaining.

The character first appeared in comic books in 1938, and was created by Jerry Siegel and Joe Shuster. The stories were initially successful, but sales began to decline after a few years. Siegel and Shuster sold the rights to Superman to National Periodicals (now DC Comics) for $130, and the character eventually became one of the most popular and enduring in comic book history.

In the years since, Superman has been portrayed by a number of actors in various films, such as Christopher Reeve, who played Superman in the 1978 film directed by Richard Donner. The character has also been featured in numerous television series and in animated form.

While the new generation of fans may not be familiar with the original Superman stories, they will be able to enjoy the character in a whole new way. The new Superman movie, directed by Richard Donner, is scheduled for release next summer, and is expected to be a big hit. The film will feature many of the elements that made the comic book version of Superman so popular, such as his superhuman abilities and his contrasting and fallible human personality.

As the new generation of fans become acquainted with Superman, they will no doubt be inspired to explore the original comic book stories as well, and to appreciate the rich history of the character. Superman is a true icon of the comics world, and his enduring popularity is a testament to the lasting appeal of this timeless hero.
Do-It-Yourself Programs
By RALPH NOVAK
NEW YORK, N.Y. — "Hey, what’s up?" has been the question that has been asked at the most recent of the "What’s the Meaning of Life?" programs. The programs have been geared towards young people, especially those who are interested in exploring philosophical and religious questions.

The format of the programs typically includes a discussion led by a panel of experts, followed by a Q&A session with the audience. The panelists have included philosophers, theologians, and psychologists, among others.

The programs have been well-received by the audience, with many attendees expressing a desire for more discussions of this nature.

In conclusion, the "What’s the Meaning of Life?" program is a great opportunity for young people to engage with experts in a variety of fields and to explore important philosophical and religious questions in a meaningful way.

ACT Continues Kid Show Fight
By BILL DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD, Fla. — A new court filing has been filed in the ongoing lawsuit between the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) and the producer of the popular children’s show "Sesame Street." The ACLU is seeking to block the show’s use of a character that is perceived as offensive to minority groups.

The case began in 1989 when the ACLU filed suit against the show’s creators, alleging that the character of "Big Bird" was offensive to African-Americans. The show’s creators denied the allegations, and the case was dismissed.

In October 1990, the ACLU filed an appeal, arguing that the show’s creators had failed to address the concerns raised in the earlier lawsuit. The case was remanded to the district court, which issued a decision in favor of the show’s creators.

The ACLU then filed another appeal, arguing that the show’s creators had failed to address the concerns raised in the earlier lawsuit. The case was remanded to the district court, which issued a decision in favor of the show’s creators.

In conclusion, the ACLU’s latest filing represents a continued effort to bring attention to the offensive nature of the character "Big Bird" and to hold the show’s creators accountable for perpetuating offensive stereotypes through their programming.
Notes On TV

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jack Paar of "Tonight" story memory will be in the form of an episode special, this time co-starred by with some prominent television personalities. The special is titled "Tonight: The Best of the Show" and will feature guests such as Regis Philbin, Johnny Carson, and Barbara Walters. It will air on NBC, TBS, and ABC.

ABC will do the following hours for the annual Grammy Awards at the MacArthur Hall Auditorium in Chicago, Illinois.

Constance A. White, who seems to be the ideal choice for the role, has been invited to the show. She will be accompanied by her husband, actor Robert F. Smith, and her daughter, who is also an actress.

ABC has received bids from the following networks for the rights to broadcast the Grammy Awards: NBC, CBS, and Fox. The network with the highest bid will be announced shortly.

Yale Semenov has replaced Lawrence J. Davis as the new host of "The Tonight Show," replacing the late Johnny Carson.

Chicago's "Today" will feature interviews with various personalities. The show will be presented by Mary Tyler Moore and her cast members.

PBS Cutting Programs Following Nixon's Veto

A White House source June 1 gave Public Broadcasting Service a warning: it had no more money to spend in the next two years. On June 22, the Senate passed the bill along, 48-42. Eight days later, President Nixon signed the bill. It has had a story. And now the public broadcasting system is in the hands of the Federal Communications Commission. The 1973-74 budget will be the first in two years in which PBS can spend any money. The second will be 1975-76, as the 1972-73 budget will be spent out.

WASHINGTON—The Public Broadcasting Service plans to cut its 1973-74 programming schedule for a total of $15 million. The first cut of President Nixon's $15 million veto is expected to be announced on July 1, followed by a second cut in September.

In addition, the plan to cut the 1973-74 programming schedule for a total of $15 million is expected to be announced on July 1. The National Endowment for the Arts, which provides funding for public broadcasting, has been asked to consider reducing its budget by $5 million.

The 1973-74 budget for PBS is expected to be reduced by $15 million. This will affect the programming schedule for the next two years. The reduction will be announced on July 1.

The Vegetarian "Fad"—Some Famous People Discuss It
That Vegetarian "Fad": Nine Show-Business People Express Their Viewpoints

Why is meat "out" for so many "in" people? Is it for health reasons or moral reasons? Or is it just another Hollywood craze? Tackling one of the celebrities, and this is what you'll hear:

Vegetarianism is a growing movement - not only in the food industry, but also among the average American. It's catching on fast and it's not just Hollywood anymore.

Actor Barry Darsie: I believe in a meatless diet.

Barry Darsie is an African-American actor who has been a vegetarian for over 20 years. He feels that a meatless diet is the healthiest way to eat and that it helps to reduce the amount of meat that is consumed on a daily basis.

Jaye Von Patten has a passion for health and wellness. She believes that a meatless diet is not only good for your health, but it also helps to reduce the amount of animal suffering that occurs in the food industry.

Ellen Burke is a meatless eater and she feels that it's the right thing to do. She believes that a meatless diet is the healthiest way to eat and that it helps to reduce the amount of animal suffering that occurs in the food industry.

If you smoke.

We're not telling you anything you don't know when we acknowledge that a controversy about smoking exists.

And since we're in the business of selling cigarettes, you obviously know where we stand.

If you don't smoke, we're not about to persuade you to start.

But if you do, we'd like to persuade you to try a cigarette you'll like more than the one you're smoking now.

We mean Vantage, of course.

Vantage gives you flavor like a full-flavor cigarette. Without anywhere near the 'tar' and nicotine.

That's a simple statement of truth.

We don't want you to misunderstand us. Vantage is not the lowest 'tar' and nicotine cigarette you can buy.

It's simply the lowest 'tar' and nicotine cigarette you'll enjoy smoking.

We just don't see the point in putting out a low 'tar' and nicotine cigarette you have to work so hard getting some taste out of, you won't smoke it.

If you agree with us, we think you'll enjoy Vantage.
“She’s Just Like Any Other Little Girl, Except...”

By Windle Rockwell

T""Mmamansiefs, N.Y., there's a little girl who does all the things most little girls do. She follows her mother around the house, she plays hide and seek and she plays with her doll. She is happy and content, except for the fact that she has been taken away from her mother and placed in an orphanage in South Africa. A few days after she was born, her parents immigrated to the United States and left her behind. Later, she was adopted by a loving family in New York. She grew up happy and healthy and is now living in New York City. She is almost 100 years old.

She has lived a life filled with adventure and has traveled all over the world. She has met many interesting people and has had many exciting experiences. She is a wonderful person and has a kind heart.

In fact, she has been described as the most extraordinary little girl in the world. She has been called the "Little Girl of the Century" and has been featured in many books and articles.

She is a remarkable person and a true inspiration to all who meet her. She is a true treasure and a blessing to all who know her.

She is the subject of a new book, "She’s Just Like Any Other Little Girl, Except..." by Windle Rockwell. The book tells the story of a little girl who is unlike any other little girl. It is a moving tale of a loving family and a girl who is determined to find her way back home.

The book is available now at all major bookstores and online retailers. It is a must-read for anyone who loves a good story and a true hero.
