Steinem Reappraises 'Lib' Movement...

Founder Of N.O.W. Raps Sisters For 'Female Chauvinism'

Steinem reconsiders her earlier views on women's liberation, the primary focus of which she previously maintained to be a struggle for women to rid themselves of the 'male chauvinist' who was a social product of men. Now, she says, she has come to see that the problem lies not with men, but with women who attempt to win back the weaknesses or lost rights of men. She terms these women 'female chauvinists' because they are looking to men to fill in the recipe of what it means to be a woman, and in the process they are losing their own sense of identity.

Oklahomans Own Worst Critics

Sooner State Tops For Tourists, Nigh Believes

In a manner of speaking, "Oklahoma City has outdone itself with the presentation of the state," said Don Nigh, New York Times editorial writer. "I have been impressed by the efforts of the state in recent years to improve its image. TheAY=[AY in the downtown area is quite impressive, and the new convention center is a major undertaking. However, I think we still have a long way to go in terms of making the state more attractive to tourists."

At Two MWC Courses

In any area of the country, golf is a popular sport. In Oklahoma, it is particularly so. The two MWC courses are attracting golfers from all over the state. The courses are well-maintained, with beautiful views and challenging holes. The Lion's Den and Thunderbird Park, the two MWC courses, are both in close proximity to the city. They offer a variety of golfing experiences, from casual rounds to competitive tournaments. The courses are open to both members and non-members, and offer a range of golfing options for all skill levels.

Scout Party Conquers Tough Rapids

As expedition of 20 boys and adult leaders from Bow Valley Council crossed the rapids section of the Merced River in Yosemite National Park during the past two days, they were faced with some of the most hazardous and exciting conditions ever experienced in the area.

The summer adventure covered a total of 150 miles, including 30 miles of packing on the Sierra high route. The boys were to be given credit for completing each day's section on the river, and each member of the party was to receive a certificate.

The main problem for the 20 members of the party was the challenge of the rapids section, which included a long stretch of Class IV rapids and a series of Class V rapids. The party had to deal with fast-moving currents and large boulders in the river, making navigation difficult.

One of the members, John Smith, aged 14, said, "It was an incredible experience. The rapids were so beautiful, and the scenery was breathtaking. It was definitely one of the highlights of the trip." The party successfully navigated through the rapids, and all members were proud of their achievement.

One Approved Rezoning Plan to Be Aired

The council agreed to approve the rezoning plan to allow for the development of a new residential neighborhood in the area. The plan was designed to accommodate the growing population and provide much-needed housing.

The rezoning plan includes the creation of a new residential area with areas designated for single-family homes. The plan also includes the preservation of open space and the enhancement of community amenities.

The rezoning plan was supported by the majority of the council members, who believed it would benefit the community. The plan was approved unanimously.

Old Rock House Still Waiting For A Tenant

The old rock house, located on the outskirts of the city, has been a focal point of interest for several years. Despite attempts to find tenants, the house remains vacant.

The house has a rich history and is considered a local landmark. Efforts to preserve the house have been ongoing, and the city has provided funding for its restoration.

The city council has set a deadline for finding a tenant by the end of the year. If a tenant is not found, the house may be sold or relocated to a museum.

A BBB Warning!

As John Rose Peters, president of the Better Business Bureau here, reminded the public today, it's not enough to have a contact number or a website. You must check out the BBB's website or call the BBB's toll-free number to see if there are any complaints about a business. If there are, it's best to avoid doing business with them.

For further reading, the BBB also offers a FAQ section on their website, which covers everything from scams to consumer protection laws. It's a valuable resource for anyone looking to protect themselves from fraudulent schemes.
