Bigger And Better Than Woodstock

B 200,000 Rock Fans Jam Illinois Island

COURT, IL—Surely thousands of rock-identified persons were inside an island off the shore of Lake Michigan yesterday afternoon, when the Rock Festival opened. The island, which is about 20 miles from Chicago, was jammed with people, many of whom had arrived by boat or plane. The island is being used as a temporary park for the festival, which is expected to attract more than 200,000 people over the next few days.

The Rock Festival is the largest outdoor music event in the United States. It features performances by some of the biggest names in rock music, including the Rolling Stones, Led Zeppelin, and The Who. The festival is known for its electric atmosphere and is a popular destination for music lovers from around the world.

The Rock Festival is expected to last for several days, with performances taking place from afternoon to evening. The festival is free to attend, but tickets are required for entry into the island. Festival-goers can purchase tickets online or at the gate.

The Rock Festival is a celebration of music and culture, and it is a testament to the power of music to bring people together. The festival is a must-attend event for anyone who loves rock music and wants to experience the lively atmosphere of this incredible event.

Carol Agrees To Star In New 'Lorelei' Tour

Hillsboro — Carol Channing, the versatile and accomplished actress who has won critical acclaim for her performances in such Broadway hits as "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," has agreed to star in a new national tour of "Lorelei." The show, a musical adaptation of the novel by W. Somerset Maugham, opened on Broadway in 1940 and ran for several seasons.

Miss Channing, who has appeared in many productions both on and off Broadway, will play the role of the lovely and seductive Lorelei, a character originally portrayed by the late stunning Gaye Suitor. The new tour, which is scheduled to begin its run in Los Angeles in December, is being produced by MCA, the parent company of the Channing family.

"Lorelei," which is set on the banks of the Mississippi River during the 1930s, tells the story of a young woman who becomes involved with a group of swashbuckling river pirates. The musical, which features such hits as "Lorelei," "Falling in Love," and "Caravan," has been revived several times in the past and has always been well received by audiences.

Final Concert Features Baritone

Baritone Thomas Coryell will present the Fourth Annual Baritone Concert at St. Mary's Episcopal Church Sunday at 5 p.m.

"Coryell will sing works by Bach, Handel, Mozart, Schubert, and Verdi. He will also perform a solo in the East Side of New York City. The concert is the concluding event of the annual Baritone Festival, which features performances by some of the finest baritones from around the world. The festival is sponsored by the Baritone Society of America and is held in cooperation with St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

In Business Over 25 Years
Dodge Driver’s Side; Everything Else Legal

Like everyone else, you too have some basements, all you want to do is start working.

The comfort and the joy that comes with having a garage, a workshop, or a basement is hard to describe. It’s a place where you can be creative, innovative, and make your mark. But what if you’re not sure if you can start working in your basement? Or if you can even use it for that purpose? That’s where this article comes in.

We’ll cover the legal aspects of starting a business in your basement, garage, or workshop. We’ll also provide some tips and tricks on how to make the most of your space while remaining compliant with the law.

Basement to Business

Starting a business in your basement can be a dream come true. You can create a comfortable workspace, expand your creativity, and pursue your passions. But there are some legal considerations to keep in mind.

Firstly, check your local building codes. You may need to get permits and inspections before you can start work. This is important to prevent any potential hazards or violations.

Secondly, make sure you’re complying with tax laws. Depending on your business, you may need to register for sales tax and income tax.

Tips for Success

- Safety First: Make sure your space is safe for work. Install smoke detectors, fire extinguishers, and other safety equipment as needed.
- Insulation: Consider investing in insulation to keep your space comfortable year-round.
- Lighting: Good lighting is essential for any workspace. Consider installing overhead lights or task lighting.

Conclusion

Starting a business in your basement may seem like a daunting task, but with some planning and research, it can be a rewarding experience. Remember to always prioritize safety and compliance with the law. Happy working!

JOHN AND YOKO ONO LEMMON

"Elvis Presley" by Elvis Presley (RCA)
"One Dozen Berries" by Chuck Berry (Chess)
"She's Diddley A Gunning" by Bo Diddley (Chess)
"Little Richard's Cheater" by Little Richard (Golpe)
"Some Time in New York City" by John Lennon (Apple)

Explaining the Lennon hit: Although John Lennon's hit, "Some Time in New York City," began as a romantic and cheerfully flirty pop song, its darker, more surreal lyrics were inspired by his relationship with Yoko Ono. Lennon wrote the song in the early 1970s, and it became a staple of his later performances. The song's themes of isolation and detachment reflect Lennon's feelings at the time, as he was going through a period of personal and professional turmoil. The song has since become a classic example of Lennon's ability to convey complex emotions through his music.

MICK JAGGER

"Tell Me About It " by Van Morrison (Warner Bros)
"Wildflowers" by Little Walter (Chess)
"Harvest" by Neil Young (Reprise)
"Baby Scratch My Back" by John Lennon (Plastic Ono Band)

Explaining Jagger's hit: "Tell Me About It" was released in 1972 as a single from the Rolling Stones' album "Goats Head Soup." The song was written by Mick Jagger and Keith Richards, and it was a moderate commercial success. The song's lyrics are about Jagger's relationship with Marianne Faithfull, and it features a distinctive, almost tribal rhythm that was later used in the band's hit "Paint It Black." The song has since become a staple of Jagger's live performances and is considered one of his best works.

BOBBY LAMM OF CHICAGO

"Wild Flowers" by Julie Collins (Edeltrac)
"David Geikie" by David Geikie (Stax)
"Leader Of The Pack" by Little Walter (Chess)
"Mama's Man" by Little Walter (Chess)

Explaining the Lamm hit: "Wild Flowers" was released in 1972 as a single from the Chicago album "Chicago V." The song was written by Bobby Lamm, one of the band's lead vocalists, and it features a soulful, R&B-inspired sound that was characteristic of the band's early work. The song's lyrics are about a person who is struggling to find their way in life, and it features a melody that is both catchy and memorable.

MARY TRAVERS

"St. Louis Blues" by Mary Travers (Reprise)
"Wild Flowers" by Little Walter (Chess)
"America the Beautiful" by Ray Charles (Scepter)
"Jazz Box" by David Geikie (Stax)

Explaining the Travers hit: "St. Louis Blues" was released in 1972 as a single from the Mary Travers Group's album "Mary Travers Group." The song was written by Bob Dylan and was a tribute to the blues tradition. The track features a gospel choir and a lively, energetic rhythm that was characteristic of the group's sound. The song's lyrics are about the challenge of finding one's way in life, and it features a melody that is both catchy and memorable.

The fans of today's music know whose records are their favorites, the ones that they like to listen to. But do they know whose records most satisfy the listeners of their favorite bands? Music is a very personal thing. And we found out, too, about the listening habits of three of the best selling recording stars. The replies we got are interesting in two ways:

1. The recording stars tended to pick many records by artists less well-known than themselves. (For example, except for Graham Nash, not one of them mentioned Bob Dylan.)
2. Only two records were mentioned more than once - the Beatles' "Sgt. Pepper" and Randy Newman's "72 Songs."

People Quiz

The Secret Reasons Why We Behave the Way We Do

Time or False: People who answer with obnoxious phone calls do so because they are lonely, cowardly people who are unable to establish normal personal relationships. (See number 3.)

By John E. Gibson

It's not only hard for us to find just any people who behave the way they do, but sometimes even the people we consider to be our friends don't react the way we do. It's quite sad what we do to them. In this quiz, we take a look at some of the things that influence people's behavior.

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. The reason people are afraid of crowds is because they have a "social phobia."
2. People who speak in a loud voice usually do so because they are angry, and sometimes they do so because they are unable to learn normal personal relationships.
3. People who never stay in one place very long, who have a "dissociative" personality, do so because they are trying to escape from reality.
4. When you feel tired, eat a large meal, which makes them more hungry and energetic, and even makes a power nap seem almost as an actual nap.

ANSWERS

1. False. At the University of Wisconsin, researchers found that the personalities of 34 college students were shaped by their childhood experiences, not their parents. True. People who do not stay in one place for very long, or who have a "dissociative" personality, do so because they are trying to escape from reality.
2. False. Studies show that being too well nourished can bring about bad habits, particularly in people who have been born with a "dissociative" personality.
3. False. If you feel tired, eat a large meal, which makes them more hungry and energetic, and even makes a power nap seem almost as an actual nap.

What Your Child Needs to Make It Through School

By Barrett S. Brown, M.D.
Director of the National Institute of Mental Health

A great menace in a child's life is the fear of first day of school. Your understanding of the "fear of school" is highly important to your child's future attitude toward school and healthy growth and development. Reports in child mental health and psychiatry emphasize that your child's behavior is a reflection of his or her attitude toward school.

1. Remember that your child feels the first day of school is an important event. Every child will help you make sure it is a positive experience. It is their first experience with the world of school. Help the child properly introduce himself or herself to the teacher. It is possible the child may not be able to express himself or herself properly. This is an important step to understanding the child's fears.

2. Remember that your child's first day at school may be a fear or a positive experience toward school. Learning to cope with frustration is important. Help the child develop a positive attitude toward school.

3. Take an interest in what your child tells you about school. It is important that the child know you care about what he or she is doing. Help the child learn to express himself or herself properly. It is important that the child understand that you care about what he or she is doing.

4. If your child has a fear of school, help the child understand that school is an important part of life. Help the child understand that school is a place where he or she can learn new things and make new friends. Help the child understand that school is a place where he or she can learn to live with others.
