Scalpers Get Jump On Season At OU

By LARRY CANNON

Norman—Scalpers already have reached $50 a ticket for seats in Norman's A. M. Coker Stadium for the first OU game of the year Saturday afternoon. Tickets are selling for $10 a piece and $20 a pair.

Norman State College students, who were among the first to buy tickets, are expected to be among the first to arrive at the stadium for the game against Oral Roberts University.

The game is expected to be an exciting one, with Norman State College having won the previous two games against Oral Roberts University.

The OU game will be played on Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Norman State College campus.

BIA Entering Hairdressing

By ENRICO DEO

The U.S. Department of Justice and the Bureau of Indian Affairs have entered a legal dispute over the regulation of hairdressing in Indian country. The dispute stems from a federal lawsuit filed by several Native American tribes.

The tribes argue that the federal government has no authority to regulate hairdressing in Indian country, while the government contends that it has the right to protect public health and safety.

The case is currently being heard in federal court. The outcome could have significant implications for the rights and autonomy of Native American tribes.

German's Hunt 15 Arab Suspects

The FBI has launched a manhunt for 15 suspected Nazis who were involved in the destruction of the holocaust. The suspects are believed to be located in Germany, Austria, and Switzerland.

FBI agents are working around the clock to trace the suspects' movements and gather evidence. The agency has deployed hundreds of agents and resources to this investigation.

Chemical and biological warfare experts are assisting in the search, which is expected to last for several weeks.

FBI Watches Busing Foes

By HARRY CLARK

The FBI has launched an investigation into the Oklahoma City school district's busing plan. The district's proposal to buss students to schools outside their neighborhood has raised concern among some parents.

The district's plan is intended to reduce racial segregation in the schools, but it has faced opposition from parents who fear it will fragment their communities.

The FBI's investigation will focus on potential incidents of violence or intimidation related to the busing issue. The agency has deployed additional agents to the area to ensure the safety of students and staff.

Cafeteria Hikes Prices At Capitol

By RALPH MILLER

The Oklahoma State Capitol cafeteria has announced plans to increase prices effective immediately. The hikes are expected to generate additional revenue for the cafeteria, which has been struggling to cover its expenses.

The new prices include $1 for breakfast, $2 for lunch, and $3 for dinner. The cafeteria is offering discounts for students and staff members who show their ID.

The prices will remain in effect until further notice. The cafeteria's management committee is expected to review the rates periodically to ensure they remain competitive.

Woman Gets $100

Readers Win Cash

A woman who has been a regular subscriber for the Oklahoma City paper has won $100 in a sweepstakes contest. The woman's name was drawn from a pool of entries by a panel of judges.

The prize is intended to encourage readers to continue subscribing to the newspaper. The woman, who lives in Oklahoma City, plans to use the money for a vacation or a special purchase.

The sweepstakes was open to all subscribers of the newspaper, and the winner was announced in a special edition of the newspaper.

Equal Schools Won’t Bring Equality, Study Says

The nation’s schools still face a long way to go in achieving equality for all students, even if the recent Equal Educational Opportunity Act is passed, a national study says.

The study, conducted by the nation’s top educational researchers, found that despite the best intentions of the lawmakers, the schools still favor the “haves” over the “have-nots.”

“Equal opportunity is just a concept,” said Dr. John Smith, one of the study’s authors. “It’s time we faced the reality that the best schools are still for the rich.”

Need To Change With The Times

What is there to say?" Time magazine asked about the change in the Communist party, and the Oklahoma editor wrote:

"It is not a question of whether a country is a democracy or not. It is a question of whether the people are the rulers of the country or not. It is not a question of ideology or politics, but of power."

of special interest to customers of Walls

For years now we at Wall's have been telling and showing you how to wear "top fashion, high quality" clothing at prices less than the going rates. Sunday, we will offer you another opportunity to prove once again that "your always right with Wall's.

The secret is...we admit it. Our formula for success is simple:

"Give the customers what they want - when they want it - and at a price no other store can match!"

Before we can put this formula to work for you, the most exciting clothing event for men in the recent history of the company will begin at Wall's. A sale of such magnitude, we can't get it all out at once...so a series in the price up at Wall's. Read about it in detail in Sundays Oklahoma Journal.

Ancient Myths Much More Than ‘Charming Stories’

By MARILYN LAND (baby)

These ancient myths, as they have evolved in different cultures, can be seen as the very foundation for the development of human civilization. They are a reflection of the deep-seated fears, desires, and hopes of early human societies. In many ways, these stories serve as a window onto the universe, revealing the primitive beliefs and understandings of the world and its mysteries.

By the end of the month, the Oklahoma campus' Board of Regents has announced plans to expand its enrollment to include mid-division athletes. The expansion is part of a broader initiative to increase the university's visibility and competitiveness in the mid-division sports landscape. The new athletes will be recruited to join the university's existing mid-division programs in sports such as football, basketball, and track and field. The expansion is expected to bring new opportunities for students and athletes alike, with the potential to attract top talent from across the state. Retirement, Decoration Ceremony Honors 5 At Tinker

By KAT LOTTERTON

Curtain rises on a new chapter in the lives of five Oklahoma Airmen. They are all retiring from the Oklahoma City Air Force Base, but they are not the only ones. The ceremony marks the end of their military careers and the beginning of a new chapter in their lives. The ceremony is a celebration of their service and a recognition of their contributions to the Air Force and the community.

The ceremony includes a variety of speakers who share their thoughts and experiences with the audience. One of the speakers is a retired Air Force officer who has been involved in the ceremony planning process. She shares her experiences and reflections on the event.

Another speaker is a retired Air Force officer who has been involved in the ceremony planning process. She shares her experiences and reflections on the event.

The ceremony concludes with a presentation of Awards and the playing of the Air Force song. The audience is invited to join in the celebration and to recognize the contributions of the retirees.

In conclusion, the retirement ceremony at Tinker Air Force Base is a celebration of the service of five retirees and a recognition of their contributions to the Air Force and the community. The ceremony is a fitting tribute to their service and a recognition of their contributions to the Air Force and the community.

Cat Hater? Cat Lover?
Are you a cat tencer? Do you love most animals but find it difficult to love cats? Do you really understand cats? Most people do not. Cats are mysterious creatures. They are independent beings. The cat, after all, is a descendant of a independent animal. Therefore, they have unique attributes. Why do some of the feline people scratch, scratch, and then go? Why do you scratch a cat? The same way you scratch a dog is there a certain way to do it? Why do cats scratch? What is the purpose of their claws? How do you make a cat do what you want? Do you want to be a better cat owner?
