'Siege' Alleged In Wake Of Trooper's Slaying
Spencer Residents Claim Patrol Harassment

By STEVE CUNNING

About 150 residents of Spencer gathered Thursday night to air charges that the police department was harassing them since Saturday's shooting death of Oklahoma Highway Patrolman Robert E.睹.Men, 28, in the Oklahoma City suburb.

The residents, who were mostly women, said they were fed up with the harassment and that the Oklahoma Highway Patrol has been disregarding their complaints, as well as many other complaints from the area.

Detecting illegal activity, arresting or detaining citizens without charges, breaking into homes, and breaking into people's cars.

"It's like we're under a siege," said Mrs. Mora Max, a resident of the area. "We've had frequent police activity, and we're in constant fear of being targeted.

An attorney for the neighborhood residents, Orville L. Black, said that the residents have been ignored by the police department.

"They do not care about the residents. They only care about their own interests," he said.

Upset by the situation, the residents plan to meet with the Oklahoma City Police Department and the City Commission to discuss the matter.

"We will not be ignored any longer," said Mrs. Max. "We will demand that the police department change its ways.

Masking Tape Uncurls Carpet

By POLLY CRAMER

Blue, green and red masking tape are available in most hardware stores. They are not just meant for holding things in place. They can be used to mask off a portion of a wall, a window or to line up a straight edge while painting.

A New York Times report says that the latest trend is to use masking tape to create stripes, geometric patterns or even abstract designs. The tape can be cut into strips and applied to a wall in a regular pattern. It can also be used to create a border around a window or a wall.

The tape can be removed easily, leaving no residue. The resulting design can be painted over or covered with wallpaper. The tape can also be used to create a temporary partition in a room by hanging it on the wall.

The tape is available in a variety of colors, including blue, green, red, white and black. It can be used for both indoor and outdoor projects.

American Airlines, in a move designed to help pay for the increase in pension benefits and medical costs for employees, has decided to cut back on its hiring by 10% over the next year.

At a press conference yesterday, the company announced that it would begin a hiring freeze immediately, and that it would begin laying off employees in early 1977, if necessary.

"This is a difficult decision," said an American Airlines official, "but it is necessary for us to reduce our expenses and maintain a competitive edge in the industry."

The move is part of a broader strategy to improve the company's financial position, which has been threatened by rising costs and competition from other airlines.

American Airlines is the second major U.S. airline to announce a hiring freeze this year. Earlier this month, United Airlines said it would halt all new hiring and lay off 10,000 workers over the next two years.
