Uganda Army Opens Battle

The government in Kampala has declared South Sudanese rebels its enemy in a new round of fighting in the region. The rebels, led by Joseph Kony, have been fighting a civil war against the government since 1986. The United Nations has called for an end to the violence and a return to peace negotiations.

Return Uncertain

U.N. Secretary-General António Guterres has stated that there is no clear path to peace in the region. The U.N. has been working to mediate the conflict, but progress has been slow. Guterres has renewed calls for a cease-fire and a resumption of peace talks.

Rohesia's Call For Moderation

Apartment Living Comes Of Age

BY NANCY LEWIS

In some instances, it is hard to believe that apartment living has such a long history. In other instances, it is even harder to believe that apartment living is still a viable option for many people today. The reasons for this vary, but one thing is certain: apartment living has changed dramatically over the years.

In the early 20th century, apartment buildings were often referred to as \'tenements\', and were considered to be the most affordable housing option available. As the population grew, so did the demand for apartments, and new buildings were constructed to meet this demand.

Today, apartment living is more diverse than ever before. One of the most significant changes is the increase in the availability of luxury apartments. These are often found in upscale neighborhoods and offer amenities such as fitness centers, swimming pools, and 24-hour concierge services.

Another important change is the rise of the \'shared living\' movement. This trend involves residents sharing living spaces, often reducing expenses and providing a sense of community. Shared living spaces are particularly popular among young professionals and students.

In conclusion, apartment living has come a long way since its early days. With a variety of options available, it is clear that apartment living is here to stay, and will continue to evolve in the years to come.

Live-In Kitchen Becoming The Entertainment Focus

Everybody's wanting more ease cooking just because they want it, and because they like to have something special every now and then. Interior designers are responding by creating smaller, more efficient kitchens that are perfect not only for preparing a meal but also for entertaining guests. Here are some ideas on designing a better kitchen that is not only functional but also suitable for entertaining:

1. Open Concept: A spacious open floor plan allows for easy movement between the kitchen, dining area, and living room, making it ideal for entertaining.
2. Island with Seating: Incorporate an island with seating to create a casual gathering spot.
3. Built-in Bar: Add a built-in bar area for easy access to drinks and snacks.
4. Lighting: Good lighting is essential for a functional kitchen. Consider adding under-cabinet lighting and overhead fixtures for a professional look.
5. Storage: Adequate storage space is crucial. Consider using wall-mounted shelves, cabinets, and drawers to keep everything organized and accessible.
6. Ventilation: Proper ventilation is important for both cooking and entertaining. Consider installing a range hood or a downdraft ventilation system.

Manicured Lawns

The benefits of manicured lawns include improved aesthetics, increased property value, and a sense of pride in ownership. Implementing a lawn care plan can greatly enhance the curb appeal of your home.

'Medea' To Play At OBU

SHAWNEE — Oklahoma Wesleyan University's Lewis Milward, new music director at OBU and former music professor at the University of Oklahoma, is preparing the Oklahoma Shakespeare Festival for a three-week season this summer beginning June 29.

"We will be playing Shakespearian plays in the Park," Mr. Milward said. "The season will run from June 29 through July 22, with three performances each week. The first play is 'Hamlet,' the second is 'Othello' and the third is 'Macbeth.'"

Mr. Milward said he has been working on the plays for several months, including rehearsals and script analysis. The season will be produced in collaboration with the Oklahoma Shakespeare Festival.

Antique Queen Selling

By STEVE GENTRY

Oklahoma City Antique Society is preparing to show off its wares this weekend.

Mary Miller, director of the society, said the society is getting ready to sell some of its 100 antiques that are on display at the city's antiques show. The society will have a booth set up at the fair, where visitors can view and purchase some of the Society's antiques.

Also featured at the booth will be a range of antiques, including a variety of lamps, windows, doors, and other items.

The society encourages visitors to explore and enjoy the antiques on display. Visitors are welcome to ask questions and learn more about the antiques and their history.

The exhibit will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, and admission is free.

Rodeo Goes High-Brow

The Oklahoma City Stockyards, a historic landmark of the cowboy culture, hosts a high-brow event this weekend. The Oklahoma City Symphony Orchestra, in collaboration with the Oklahoma City University, presents a special symphony concert featuring classical music and cowboy poetry. The event aims to bring together the traditions of the rodeo with the elegance of classical music.

The concert, titled "Oklahoma Rodeo and the Symphony," takes place at the Civic Center Music Hall on Saturday, September 24. It features the Oklahoma City Symphony Orchestra under the direction of conductor David Robertson. The program includes a selection of cowboy poetry readings by renowned cowboy poet Will Rogers, accompanied by the symphony's string section.

Tickets are available at the Oklahoma City Convention Center Box Office, or online through the Oklahoma City Symphony Orchestra's website. For more information, please visit okcsymphony.org or call 405-236-2848.

Fun Coyer

It's Fair Time in Oklahoma, and the fun is just getting started! This weekend, the Oklahoma State Fair comes to town with a variety of exciting events and attractions.

The fair offers a wide range of activities for all ages, including rides, games, and exhibits showcasing Oklahoma's agriculture and livestock. Don't miss the annual livestock judging and showmanship contests, where participants compete for top honors in various categories.

The fair runs from September 24 to October 14, with daily hours from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Gates open at 8 a.m. and the fair closes at 11 p.m. Parking is available at the fairgrounds, and shuttle buses operate between parking lots and the fairgrounds.

For more information, visit okstatefair.com or call 405-235-3525.

The news is that for nearly a month now, the chess world has been buzzing with rumors of a new chess tournament in Oklahoma. The tournament is to be held in the Oklahoma Civic Center, and the organizers have invited some of the world's top chess players to participate.

The tournament is to be held on October 1st and 2nd, and the format will be a single elimination tournament with a maximum of 16 players. The tournament will be held in a specially designed chess hall, and the organizers have hired some of the best chefs from around the world to prepare the food.

In the meantime, the organizers are already receiving applications from players around the world. The tournament will be open to players of all ages and levels, and the organizers are encouraging young players to participate.

The organizers have also announced that the winners of the tournament will receive cash prizes and invitations to participate in future tournaments.

In addition to the tournament, the organizers are planning a series of lectures and workshops for players of all levels. The lectures will be given by some of the world's top chess coaches, and the workshops will be designed to help players improve their skills.

The organizers are still looking for sponsors and patrons for the tournament. If you are interested in supporting the tournament, please contact the organizers at chess.tournament@okc.com.

The majority of the people I want to work with have been married many times. They have children out of this town. That's right on the line. At least I haven't made

FOR DEN. THOMAS F. CLEHLER of Minneap.

What's the biggest U.S. location in the world that you've visited? — W. R., Minneapolis, Minn.

I've visited a lot of places in the country I'd like to have visited. They're beautiful places. I mean that I'm a real hard worker, and I think it's good to visit another country that I don't think I'll ever get to

FOR LORRAINE COOKMAN,

村干部, author of "Baye's Bigs"

I had a boy on TV that you want to have some Portsmouth, Calif.

I'm a hard worker, and I think it's good to have advice in the right place. But I don't think I'll ever get to

FOR CAP. SHIRLEY CHROMBO of New York

How do you feel about the idea of "The "Up Lynx"
Hampton, Calif.

I never read the columns behind the use of Mr. by women's liberation groups, but quite honestly, with the way things are, they're one of the main causes of problems. I'm so that I'm a first, and I think that they don't have

FOR REV. ORAL ROBERTS, evangelist

When you have children, do you get a special feeling at the time of the hunting? — R. L., Memphis, Tenn.

Most of them have been taught that I feel very large come of the columns behind the use of Mr. by women's liberation groups. But quite honestly, with the way things are, they're one of the main causes of problems. I'm so that I'm a first, and I think that they don't have

FOR REV. KENNETH CHISHOLM of New York

Do you have any children? — R. L., Minneapolis, Minn.

I never read the columns behind the use of Mr. by women's liberation groups, but quite honestly, with the way things are, they're one of the main causes of problems. I'm so that I'm a first, and I think that they don't have

FOR TONY RABBLE,

In your shade, you and FOG, the musical we hoped you play in "The Old Couple? Do it! — W. R.
Fremont, Neb.

You feel that you're not really but behind any character you play there is part of that's he didn't want to have a field day on your song. He wanted to have a field day on your song. So he took all of those lines and threw them at me because he said she didn't

FOR CARL KELPKIN, co-founder of "The "Up Lynx"

Hidden Currents That Guide Our Lives
-The Wisdom of Erle Hoffer

Erle Hoffer, the only important American philosopher from San Francisco, is well known for his insightful writings. In his most recent book, "The Genius of Our Time," he explores the nature of leadership and the role of the leader in shaping society.

Hoffer begins by discussing the concept of leadership and its importance in today's world. He argues that leaders must possess certain qualities in order to be effective, such as vision, courage, and integrity. Hoffer emphasizes the importance of leaders being role models for others, and the need for leaders to be humble and approachable.

In the second chapter, Hoffer focuses on the role of the leader in times of crisis. He argues that leaders must be able to make difficult decisions quickly and effectively, even when information is limited or uncertain. Hoffer cites several examples from history to illustrate the importance of leadership in times of crisis.

The third chapter discusses the relationship between leadership and society. Hoffer argues that leaders must be aware of the needs and desires of the people they lead, and that they must work to address these needs in a way that is fair and just. He also emphasizes the importance of leaders being willing to listen to the concerns of their constituents.

The final chapter of the book focuses on the future of leadership. Hoffer suggests that leaders of the future must be more adaptive and flexible, as the world is constantly changing. He also argues that leaders of the future must be more inclusive, as they will need to work with a diverse range of individuals and groups.

Overall, Hoffer's book is a thought-provoking exploration of the nature of leadership and its role in shaping society. He provides valuable insights into the qualities that make a good leader, and the challenges that leaders face in today's world.
Smoking. What are you going to do about it?

Many people are against cigarettes. You've heard their arguments. And even though we're in the business of selling cigarettes, we're not going to advance arguments in favor of smoking. We simply want to discuss one irrefutable fact.

A lot of people are still smoking cigarettes. In all likelihood, they'll continue to smoke cigarettes and nothing anybody has said or is likely to say is going to change their minds.

Now, if you're one of these cigarette smokers, what are you going to do about it? You may continue to smoke your present brand. With all the enjoyment and pleasure you get from smoking it. Or, if 'tar' and nicotine has become a concern to you, you may consider changing to a cigarette like Vantage.

(Or course, there is no other cigarette quite like Vantage.)

Vantage has a unique filter that allows rich flavor to come through it and yet substantially cuts down on 'tar' and nicotine.

We want to be frank. Vantage is not the lowest 'tar' and nicotine cigarette you can buy. But it may well be the lowest 'tar' and nicotine cigarette you will enjoy smoking.

Vantage. It's the only cigarette that gives you so much taste with so little 'tar' and nicotine.

We suggest you try a pack.

Flexible Furnishings That Change as You Change

In this section, Woman's Editor Rosalyn Abney looks at the latest "Rosie furnishings" of the American market. What does she mean by "Rosie"?

"Too many people," she explains, "can't see further than the room they're living in. They forget they'll probably be moving soon—from an apartment to a house: from a brownstone to a ranch style: from a bungalow to a retirement village. Isn't it silly to waste money on furnishings and fabrics that can't survive the change in our own life-style?"

---

Flash: Seating Modules That Have Nine Lives

Flexible seating begins with the dwellings of contemporary architects. Described in the recent issue of Home Life, a small single-use unit can be placed against walls or other surfaces to form a complete system. Curved units can even be placed back-to-back to form a large reception area. Available in ocher, beige, and tan vinyl, the entire range of colors can be mixed and matched to suit individual needs.

Debut '73: Lives with You

Debut '73 designed this environment for a young couple's first studio apartment. The living-dining area is enclosed by sliding glass doors, and a living room is separated from the dining area. In a larger home, they look at sliding window treatments and use it in their separate dining room. To achieve the maximum flexibility, the sliding doors, once closed, are not connected with the sliding glass doors, allowing the interior spaces to be altered as needed. The sliding doors are available in a variety of colors, including white, black, and silver.

Window Treatment: That Moves with You

Peg Watters designed this environment for a young couple's first studio apartment. The sliding glass doors are separated by sliding glass doors, allowing the interior spaces to be altered as needed. The sliding doors are available in a variety of colors, including white, black, and silver.
IDEA STARTERS:
Flexible Furniture Leads to a Flexible Room

A pair of corner chairs facing in opposite directions with an ottoman in between, to make a conversation area. A flexible piece of furniture is a must for the telephone area of a family room or a room where family members are likely to sit and chat.

Where Can You Use the Corner Chair? Everywhere

In living rooms, where flexibility really counts, corner chairs make wonderful seating areas. They are perfect for corner windows or small alcoves. Corner chairs can be used as a conversation area or in a library or family room. They can even be used as an accent chair in a formal living room or dining room.

One Wall System—Dozens of Combinations

Modular furniture is now more in tune with today's living needs than ever before. Builders are going all out to accommodate personal preferences. A combination of wall units or a mix of units, such as a sofa and an ottoman, can be used to create a flexible seating area. Flexible units are easy to move and can be arranged in various combinations to suit the needs of the room.
How to Learn the Practical Art Of Flexible Decorating

We've hammered home the theme of flexibility in decorating on the preceding pages, but just how does one develop the touch? Try these ideas on for size:

1. Get to Know What Will Mix

Is it done your way? Extra seating? You can't go wrong with cane or hardwood side chairs that can be almost anywhere.

2. Color Scheme

Paint each corner of the room a different shade. Sumptuous cushions, chic. Buttermilk ones. Try one or two: Add a light touch to the drapes and the blue and white wall sconces. It's a good idea to use light colors and textures. Add a light touch to your room.

3. Oriental-
The Great Mixer

The best of both worlds can be found in this beautifully appointed space that combines the grace of Asian design with the modern elegance of the Mediterranean. The room features a square, black lacquer table with a crystal top and a matching mirror that reflects the room's overall style. The room is adorned with a collection of their favorite items, including a large, square, black lacquer table with a crystal top and a matching mirror that reflects the room's overall style.

4. The Versatile Headboard

Designed for 17-year-old Jill Sargent of Grand Rapids, Mich., for the Simmons Company, the headboard is a total success. It gives the bedroom a warm, intimate feeling. It can also serve as a headboard for a couch, a headboard for a bed, or even a headboard for a dresser. The headboard is made of oak and has solid brass brackets to its top, giving it a solid feel. This Slides a wardrobe or desk in front of the upholstered headboard, and it slides on and off to create a Second World Style in the kitchen or gym area.

5. Oriental

Painted furniture can add a touch of oriental elegance to any room. Use it as a focal point in a room or as an accent piece in a more modern setting. Oriental designs are also available in glass, wood, and metal, and they can be combined to create a unique look.

6. The Best of Both Worlds

7. The Stately Headboard

Designed for 17-year-old Jill Sargent of Grand Rapids, Mich., for the Simmons Company, the headboard is a total success. It gives the bedroom a warm, intimate feeling. It can also serve as a headboard for a couch, a headboard for a bed, or even a headboard for a dresser. The headboard is made of oak and has solid brass brackets to its top, giving it a solid feel. “Use-It-Again” Decorating

By Valerian Nybar, A.I.D.

1. A rectangular coffee table can be transformed from the living room to the bedroom and used as the front of a bed to hold magazines, books, phonographs.
2. Paint the frame of an old mirror white and make a decorative different color. Use it to teach a child to paint. A child can be taught to paint clothes on the dining table or to decorate a coffee table. For example, hooks go in the blue dress, lights in the red flowers.
3. Use your wallpaper in door covers, that breakfast station, cabinets or bookshelves.
4. To create an attractive seating or family room with "foam" seating, gather all pieces of furniture and paint them all one color. Black, white, pastels, pastels, or pastels. Pastels can be used in a room with pastels. A white wall with a black chair can be used in a white room to make a white wall.
5. Living room and table can be painted a bright color, orange or dark green, and used as a table to the bedroom.
6. Can We Teach the Next Generation to Be More “Understanding”?

By Jean E. Kaid

"Parents may be encouraging lack of consideration and understanding by their very tolerance and permissiveness, all in the name of freedom of expression."}

According to the author, in order to promote generation to be more “understanding”, parents should encourage their children to understand and appreciate other people's viewpoints. The author believes that parents should avoid being too lenient or permissive, and instead promote open and honest communication with their children.
