McGovern 'College Try' Fails In Feud

Show Response 'Tremendous'

By JAY ATHERTON in the Bahamas

Vice President McGovern's "Job Corps College Try" program has been heavily criticized by Senator Edward Kennedy in the Senate, but President Ford halted his program this week, telling Congress that it was not needed.

"It's a great idea," Ford said. "It will cost too much money, however, and it won't work."

In a similar vein, Senator McGovern called the program a "tragedy" and said it was a "waste of money." He added that the program was "a complete failure."

McGovern: Highly Paid Hero Tops TV Sleuths

In the latest episode of the popular TV show, McGovern, the protagonist is a highly paid hero who has to solve the case of the missing art dealer. The plot thickens when a rival art dealer is found dead in the same gallery.

As the investigation continues, McGovern discovers that the art dealer had a secret passion for gardening. He had been planning to open a terrarium store in the near future. The discovery of the garden with broken glass and dying flowers leads McGovern to a new lead.

McGovern follows the lead and discovers that the rival art dealer had been involved in a plot to steal rare plants from a local botanical garden. The plot was uncovered, and the art dealer was arrested.
