Oakland A's Join Reds In World Series
"Well, Here Y'All Come" To Dallas Bash

By LARRY CANNON

In the news:

DALLAS — The Dallas Athletic Club is the only club in Texas that doesn't have a motto. Today, the club's motto is "This is our time," and that's why they're ready to throw a giant party on Saturday night.

The A's game was a historic one, and the fans were excited. The crowd was so loud that the A's players could barely hear each other. But they were determined to win, and they did.

"We didn't let them have an easy time of it," said A's catcher. "We fought hard, and we fought smart. We knew we had to win this game, and we did." The final score was 7-3, and the A's were champions.

Surprise Party Flags Citizenship

The club members were thrilled to receive the award. "We've been working hard to improve our club," said one member. "This award is a great validation of our efforts." The party was a huge success, and everyone had a great time.

Love story shocks murder court

MRS. NIXON, her husband and son, pleading as a witness, testifies in a murder court yesterday that she never saw a man named Jack Agnew at the scene of the homicide. She denied the charge that he was a fellow party to the murder.

The story of the arrest of Jack Agnew, 35, of Newport Beach, Calif., in a murder charge for a woman's death, is told in a murder court yesterday. The woman's family and friends were shocked when they learned that Agnew, a former neighbor, was arrested.

The case is the first known murder in the county in 10 years. Agnew, who was arrested in Newport Beach, is serving a sentence for a previous murder.
