Dallas Revelry Noisy But Texas Fans Predominate

Big Red Spirit Builds Slowly In Big D

DALLAS — The few red-clad fans who crowded the crowded Cotton Bowl for the annual homecoming game between SMU and Southern Methodist University swelled to 80,000 by kick-off Friday night.

Standing outside the stadium, some real excitement was in the air. ON Cowboys fans were dancing to jazz on the field, while others were drinking and socializing. The air was thick with the scent of beer and the sound of cheering.

More than 50 Dallas Cowboys, augmented by Texas Southern University players and members of the SMU Mustang Band, were on the scene at the intersection but spot by 6:30 p.m.

The night seemed to go smoothly. The dancing of thousands of fans was the sound of fun with people enjoying their time.

The officers were not concerned about the crowd. They were there to keep the peace and make sure the fans were safe.

Robert Peterson, a police officer at the stadium, said: "It's a really exciting atmosphere. The fans are out here having a good time." But he added that they were aware of the potential for trouble and were ready to handle any issues that might arise.

The Paper That Tells South States

Revenue Sharing Bill Passed

BY RONALD INGLIS

City Manager Majors tells News this month he hopes to see this bill signed by the end of the month. The bill would provide city officials with the flexibility to use state funds in the way they see fit, without having to seek approval from the state legislature.

The Oklahoma Senate passed the revenue sharing bill Friday, and it is expected to be signed by the Governor by the end of the month.

The bill will provide Oklahoma City with additional funding to address the city's needs, including funding for schools, hospitals, and other services.

Rich Duel Over $150 Flat

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — In the Racing World, there is a saying: "Nothing is more dangerous than a duel in a flat race." But this week, a duel between two of the most powerful figures in the racing world became one of the most talked about events of the season.

Mrs. Dalrymple, the owner of the winning horse in the $150 Flat, and Mr. Brookfield, the owner of the losing horse, made a wager on the outcome of the race.

The stakes were high, with the winner taking home $150 and the loser losing the same amount.

A lawyer
may have delivered your newspaper today

Or a doctor. Or an accountant.
Or president of the whole United States.

Of course, we're talking about the future—but a carrier is laying the groundwork for his future NOW.
Because he is a carrier, he has the stuff that makes for success.
He's managing a business of his own. That's what a newspaper route is all about. He is learning the lessons of responsibility and progress and courtesy. And how to make a profit.
That profit, chances are, he is banking away. To use when he will need it. For something important, like college and a professional career, perhaps. To become the lawyer who once delivered your newspaper, and learned a great deal while doing it.
So congratulate a future lawyer. Or future doctor. Or spaceman.
Congratulate him the next time he comes around to deliver or collect for your newspaper.
