OU Victory Sweet In Bitter Rivalry

By LAUREN CAMPBELL

DAKOTA — In a last minute break-through, OU was able to defeat Kansas State in the Oklahoma State Fairgrounds Classic. In doing so, they became the new champions of the State Fairgrounds Classic.

The game was a close one, with both teams putting in a great effort. In the end, OU was able to come out on top with a final score of 78-70. This win was especially sweet for OU, who had lost to Kansas State in previous years.

OU's Coach Chuck Fairlie said, "It was a great game. Our players put in a lot of hard work and we were able to come out on top. We're looking forward to the next game." Kansas State's Coach Bob Hairston said, "We fought hard, but unfortunately we just couldn't make the shots. We'll be looking forward to the next game as well."

The Oklahoma State Fairgrounds Classic is one of the biggest games of the season for both teams, and both coaches were pleased with the outcome.

The game was played in front of a sold-out crowd, with both teams playing to the best of their abilities. The crowd was on their feet for most of the game, cheering on their favorite team.

The next game for OU is against Texas, and for Kansas State it's against Nebraska. Both games will be tough, but the teams are ready to give it their all.

Lesson In Grain Deal

The people are often of the good grain and between the ranks of the farmers there is a need for something more than a mere exchange of goods and services. The farmers need the protection of the government, not just in their own country, but also in the world as a whole. This is why the government must do more to ensure that the farmers are treated fairly. They need the protection of the government, not just in their own country, but also in the world as a whole. 'Perfect' Braking System Among Innovations Of Future

The automobile itself is a complex and fascinating invention, constantly evolving to meet the needs and desires of modern society. Its impact on our daily lives is profound, offering freedom and convenience that were once beyond our reach. As we celebrate the anniversary of its invention, we reflect on the many improvements and innovations that have shaped its history and continue to shape its future.

John Morozuk, a Wauconda man, recently made some improvements to an automobile. After a series of innovations, he reduced the number of parts and increased the efficiency of the automobile. He is, at present, the holder of the title for producing the most compact automobile ever. It measures only three inches wide and a little over six feet long.

The two-door, four-window car wows all that see it. A blue and white, it is driven around by John and his co-pilot, a black and white cat. If asked, Mr. Morozuk will explain that the cat is essential for steering and controlling the vehicle. The car is of a design that requires no fuel, using instead a combination of water and air to power it. This design, he believes, is the future of transportation.

Citizens of Wauconda and its surrounding areas are now able to purchase his compact, efficient automobile directly from the company. Orders are being taken by local merchants, with deliveries expected to arrive within the next few months. For more information, contact John Morozuk at 555-1234.

Education Bug Hits Star Of 'Room 222,' Lloyd Haynes

By STEVE DORMUS

The education bug has bitten Lloyd Haynes, who plays lawyer Peter Dixon on ABC’s “Room 222.” But rather than catching up on the bug, the actor is spending his time in the classroom.

Haynes recently spent a week at the University of Iowa, studying education theories and methods.

Haynes said he was inspired to attend the university because of his interest in education and his desire to give back to the community.

Haynes also recently appeared in the film “Room 222,” which is currently in production.

The film, directed by David Mamet, is set in a high school and follows the lives of the students and teachers.

Haynes plays the role of the school’s principal, who is struggling to keep the school running despite the challenges.

Haynes said he was drawn to the role because it allowed him to explore the complexities of leadership and the pressures of school administration.

Ask Them Yourself

FOR RICARDO MONTALBAN, actor

Are Mexican Americans, do you feel that Monteau have been portrayed correctly in Hollywood films?

J. Pearson, Huntington, Ohio

- Hollywood has always had a tendency to portray Mexican Americans as one-time- or two-time-period villains, often in a stereotypical manner. I think it's important to portray Mexican Americans in diverse and authentic roles.

FOR JACLYN'S SANSER

You were one of the judges in the Miss World competition. Tell us something you learned from your experience which you would like to share.

J. Selby, El Paso, TX.

- I was impressed by the diversity and beauty of the contestants. It's important to celebrate cultural differences and promote understanding and respect.

FOR BARBARA DEAN, actress

How long do you think it will take for women to begin to take on roles traditionally held by men in the entertainment industry?

P. Smith, Justice, MO.

- I think it's important for women to take on roles traditionally held by men in the entertainment industry. It's about time for women to be given equal opportunities and recognition.

FOR GLADYS KNIGHT, singer

My daughter is a singer, and I'm worried she might get into trouble. What advice do you have for her?

L. H., Willingboro, NJ.

- Encourage your daughter to pursue her passion, but also teach her the importance of discipline and responsibility. Support her ambitions, but also guide her towards making responsible decisions.

FOR PAULA PETERSON, actress

You often appear in romantic comedies. Do you prefer romantic comedies over drama or action films?

M. Martin, Long Beach, CA.

- I enjoy working in romantic comedies because they allow me to explore relationships and character development. However, I'm open to working in different genres as well.

FOR BETTY COOKE

Is it true that you are as lazy as when you don't work?

I. Lee, Detroit, MI.

- As an actress, I believe that I am as lazy as when I don't work. It is important to take breaks and recharge your batteries, but it's also important to stay active and productive.

FOR JAMIE FRANCIS

You have a large fan base in the UK. What has been your favorite role to play, and why?

D. Lane, London, UK.

- As an actress, I enjoy playing diverse characters that challenge me as an artist. I don't have a favorite role, but I do appreciate the opportunity to explore different aspects of my craft.

FOR JERRY WADE, news anchor

You recently hosted a news segment on climate change. How do you think the media can help in spreading awareness about this issue?

R. Miller, New York, NY.

- The media can help in spreading awareness about climate change by covering this issue extensively and highlighting the need for action. It's important to reach a wide audience and educate people on the urgent need to address this global crisis.

The Very Gentle
By Dr. Norman Vincent Peale

Art of Persuading People
A famous minister reveals a lifetime's worth of precious—but deceptively simple—hints on dealing with others.

Why are some people so much better at the art of persuasion than others? Are there any guidelines to follow and common-sense rules that will help you win your battles even if you don't have an argument worth putting up with? I can say without boasting that I have been useful to me. Anyone can apply them. Here they are.

1. Always look at your personal from the other person's viewpoint. This may seem obvious, but it's sometimes overlooked. How does he look? What would you consider persuasive? This takes a lot of work. He's not going to be in trouble with the boss. How do you intend to persuade? He's being honest. You have to be realistic. In persuasion it's not enough to make him see what you know or the implications that you have. You must show him the way. He may not see it or even want to. So you must show it to him. He may not believe what you say, but he's not going to be in trouble with the boss because of it. So you must show it to him.

2. Avoid the head-on. It's easier to persuade people when they're not in trouble with the boss. You're not going to be in trouble with the boss. So you must show it to him. He may not believe what you say, but he's not going to be in trouble with the boss because of it. So you must show it to him.

3. Persuasion is a matter of getting people to see the implications of what you say. The implications of what you say. The implications of what you say. They may not see it or even want to. So you must show it to him. He may not believe what you say, but he's not going to be in trouble with the boss because of it. So you must show it to him.

Surely to God, a saying admired by 'em all:
"If you can persuade, you've got 'em."
To the 56,000,000 people who smoke cigarettes.

A lot of people have been telling you not to smoke, especially cigarettes with high 'tar' and nicotine. But smoking provides you with a pleasure you don't want to give up.

Naturally, we're prejudiced. We're in the business of selling cigarettes.

But there is one overriding fact that transcends whether you should or shouldn't smoke and that fact is that you do smoke.

And what are they going to do about that?

They can continue to exhort you not to smoke. Or they might look reality in the face and recommend that, if you smoke and want low 'tar' and nicotine in a cigarette, you smoke a cigarette like Vantage.

And we'll go along with that, because there is no other cigarette like Vantage.

Except Vantage.

Vantage has a unique filter that allows rich flavor to come through it and yet substantially cuts down on 'tar' and nicotine.

Not that Vantage is the lowest 'tar' and nicotine cigarette. (But you probably wouldn't like the lowest 'tar' and nicotine cigarette anyway.)

The plain truth is that smoke has to come through a filter if taste is to come through a filter. And where there is taste there has to be some 'tar'.

But Vantage is the only cigarette that gives you so much flavor with so little 'tar' and nicotine.

So much flavor that you'll never miss your high 'tar' cigarette.

From one great dish, another great dish made with Swanson Boned Chicken.

Mrs. Russell is now the mother of two and a schoolteacher in Carmelita, California. She made this for her husband, and he said it was the best thing he'd ever had. It's a real treat and makes a great winter meal. The chicken is tender, and the sauce is rich and flavorful. You can serve it with rice or mashed potatoes if you like. Mrs. Russell used Swanson Boned Chicken for this recipe, but you could also use boneless chicken or turkey. It's a great way to use up leftover chicken and make a delicious meal. Mrs. Russell said that the sauce was easy to make and that the chicken was moist and flavorful. She said that it was a perfect winter meal and that she would definitely make it again. Mrs. Russell is a great cook and her recipes are always delicious.
Peter Graves:
“Anybody Can Serve Noodles—But Not Like My Wife’s!”

By Peter Graves, as told to Helen Service

I was born in 1926 in the city of Denver, Colorado, and was the eldest of four children. My mother was a homemaker, and my father was a coal miner. We lived in a small apartment, and my mother was always trying to make ends meet.

One day, my mother came home from the market with a big bag of noodles. She had been told that if you cooked noodles in a certain way, they would be especially delicious. She followed the instructions, and the result was a fantastic meal. My family was so impressed that we decided to make noodles every week.

Little did we know, our noodle recipe would become famous. Over the years, it has been shared with thousands of people, and I still make it at home today. It’s a simple recipe, but it always turns out perfectly. The key is to use a good-quality pasta, and to cook it just right.

If you give this recipe a try, I guarantee you won’t be disappointed. It’s a dish that will bring joy to your family and friends. It’s a recipe that has been in my family for generations, and I’m excited to share it with you.

The 100% corn oil margarine with country-fresh flavor.

3. Roll out dough on floured surface to desired thickness.
4. Cut into desired shapes with a cookie cutter.
5. Bake on a cookie sheet at 350°F for 10-12 minutes, or until golden brown.

SHRIMP ORANGE FLAMBE

1. In a large skillet, sauté shrimp in melted butter until pink. Add orange juice, sugar, and cinnamon. Bring to a boil, then reduce heat to medium.
2. In a small bowl, mix water and cornstarch. Add to skillet, and stir until thickened.

What's the Best Cure for a Hangover?

Everyone seems to have a sensitive remedy for a hangover—whether it's a hangover from a deluge of coffee...little bits that were stored in the stomach, or a bit of everything. But we've solved the problem.

Try It. It Works.

In every country and culture, there is a particular food or drink that is said to cure a hangover. However, in America, the most popular remedy seems to be...water. This is probably because water is the only thing that can do any good for a hangover.

The body is in a state of shock after a hangover, and water helps to rehydrate the body. It also helps to flush out any remaining alcohol from the system.

The answer to the signs that alarm every woman...

MINK OIL AND BEAUTY

By Billie Ann邦德

About five years ago I started using mink oil. I discovered it in the back of my parents' medicine cabinet. It's a small bottle with a small cap that you push down. I don't know what it's good for, but it is one of the most versatile, practical beauty products I've ever used.

It's a light, non-greasy oil that absorbs quickly into the skin. It can be used as a moisturizer, a makeup remover, or even as a hair treatment. I use it on my face, neck, and hands, and I even apply it to my hair.

One day I was sitting at the desk of my friend and fellow beauty editor. She was looking at her nails, which were covered in mink oil. I asked her what she was doing, and she told me about the various uses for mink oil.

I've since been using mink oil for everything from moisturizing my skin to removing my makeup. It works wonders on my skin and I love it.
