Judge Denies Spencer Plea

A federal court on Monday refused to adjudge former Los Angeles police officer Edward L. Spencer not guilty by reason of insanity.

The U.S. District Court for the Central District of California denied Spencer's motion for a new trial on the ground that his insanity defense was improperly presented.

Spencer, who was acquitted of first-degree murder in the 1979 slaying of a police officer, had sought a new trial on the basis of a mental condition that he said prevented him from understanding the nature of his actions.

The judge ruled that the evidence presented during the trial was sufficient to support the jury's verdict and that there was no legal basis for granting a new trial.

Harris Drops Death Juries

By ROBERT TAYLOR

District Attorney John G. Harris on Friday announced that he would no longer seek death sentences in sexual assault cases.

In a statement, Harris said his office would no longer seek the death penalty in cases involving sexual assault, but would continue to seek the death penalty in cases involving murder.

The announcement came less than a week after Harris announced that he would no longer seek the death penalty in cases involving murder.

The decision was prompted, he said, by a recent ruling by the California Supreme Court that the death penalty is unconstitutional.

The court ruled that the death penalty is cruel and unusual punishment.

Harris said his office would review all cases currently on death row and that he would not seek the death penalty in any case where the court has ruled that the death penalty is unconstitutional.

The decision does not affect cases involving non-capital crimes.

Harris said his office would continue to seek the death penalty in cases involving murder, but that he would not seek it in cases involving sexual assault.

Fire Destroys Poultry Firm

By NICK BRUCE

A fire that destroyed a poultry processing plant in the Los Angeles area has caused estimated losses of more than $50,000.

The fire, which started in the early morning hours, caused extensive damage to the plant and to adjacent buildings.

The cause of the fire is under investigation by the Los Angeles Fire Department.

The plant, which was located on a busy street in the city's industrial area, specialized in processing poultry products.

The owner of the plant, who was not available for comment, said he was disappointed by the fire and its impact on his business.

Interstate Fatality

Highway patrol officials confirmed the death of a man who was killed on Highway 101 near the Los Angeles border.

The man, who was driving a car, lost control of his vehicle and collided with a tree.

The accident occurred on the northbound lanes of Highway 101 near the Los Angeles border.

The driver was pronounced dead at the scene.

The accident is under investigation by the California Highway Patrol.

Liquor Firms Want 'Control'

By ROBERT TEMPEST

A group of liquor firms has called for the establishment of a state liquor control board to regulate the sale and distribution of alcoholic beverages.

The group, which represents owners of liquor stores and distributors, has been lobbying for the creation of such a board for several years.

The group's proposal would establish a 10-member board, consisting of three representatives from the liquor industry, three from the state Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control, and four from the state attorney general's office.

The board would have the power to set prices, license retailers, and regulate the advertising and promotion of alcoholic beverages.

The group's proposal is similar to one that was passed by the California Legislature in 1977.

The legislation was vetoed by then-Gov. Jerry Brown.

The group plans to reintroduce the bill in the next legislative session.

The group's proposal is expected to face resistance from the state Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control, which has opposed efforts to establish a state liquor control board in the past.

The group's proposal is also expected to face opposition from the state's largest liquor distributors, who have opposed efforts to establish a state liquor control board in the past.

The group's proposal is expected to be controversial, as many believe that the state should be involved in the regulation of the sale and distribution of alcoholic beverages.

The group's proposal is also expected to be controversial, as many believe that the state should be involved in the regulation of the sale and distribution of alcoholic beverages.
