First, Second Districts Pick New Congressmen Tuesday

By PAUL DUNNE

For the first time in Oklahoma's history, a Democratic congressman has been elected in the 2nd District. Republican John C. Thomas of Chickasha was defeated by Democrat Bill Helton of Guthrie. Mr. Helton took 59% of the vote as compared to 41% for Mr. Thomas. The 2nd District includes Carter, Caddo, Comanche, Cotton, Grady, Greer, Kingfisher, Logan, Major, Marshall, Mayes, Noble, and Pottawatomie counties.

In the 3rd District, Republican Marion L. Davis, Jr., was defeated by Democrat George W. B. Mitchell. Mr. Mitchell took 55% of the vote as compared to 45% for Mr. Davis. The 3rd District includes Atoka, Beavers, Beaver, Blaine, Cleveland, Coal, Coffee, Delaware, Dewey, Garvin, Grady, Grant, Harmon, Jackson, Jefferson, Leflore, Lincoln, Love, McIntosh, McCurtain, Murray, Okfuskee, Pottawatomie, Pushmataha, Tillman, and Wheeler counties.

In the 4th District, Republican James E. Bartlett of Oklahoma City was defeated by Democrat Charles Ferrell. Mr. Ferrell took 50% of the vote as compared to 50% for Mr. Bartlett. The 4th District includes Alfalfa, Cimarron, Comanche, Dewey, Garfield, Grant, Harper, Jackson, Kay, Kingfisher, Logan, Kiowa, Lake, Major, McIntosh, Murray, Noble, Oklahoma, Pawnee, Seminole, Custer, and Washita counties.

In the 5th District, Republican Bob C. Barker of Tulsa was defeated by Democrat Wilbur D. Willoughby. Mr. Willoughby took 50% of the vote as compared to 50% for Mr. Barker. The 5th District includes Logan, Major, Osage, Payne, and Tulsa counties.

In the 6th District, Republican Alfred E. Kessinger of Oklahoma City was defeated by Democrat David C. Goodnight. Mr. Goodnight took 50% of the vote as compared to 50% for Mr. Kessinger. The 6th District includes the western part of the state.

In the 7th District, Republican John W. Hume of Oklahoma City was defeated by Democrat William H. Daugherty. Mr. Daugherty took 50% of the vote as compared to 50% for Mr. Hume. The 7th District includes the eastern part of the state.

In the 8th District, Republican James E. Bartlett of Oklahoma City was defeated by Democrat Charles Ferrell. Mr. Ferrell took 50% of the vote as compared to 50% for Mr. Bartlett. The 8th District includes the eastern part of the state.

The election results show a shift in congressional representation. Democrats now hold 6 seats in Oklahoma's delegation, while Republicans hold 6 seats.

State Question 486 Draws Strong Support, Opposition

By PAUL DUNNE

State Question 486, which would have increased property taxes to fund public schools, was rejected by voters in the election.

The question, which asked voters to approve an increase in the state's sales tax from 4% to 4.9% to fund public schools, was defeated by a margin of 68% to 32%.

The question, which was supported by many teachers' unions and education groups, was opposed by the National Federation of Independent Business and the Oklahoma Chamber of Commerce.

Elderly Legislators Face Youth Challenge

By PAUL DUNNE

The Oklahoma legislature is facing a challenge from young candidates who are running for office. The state's population is aging, and many of the current legislators are nearing retirement age.

Many young candidates are running on a platform of reforming the state government and addressing the needs of young people. They are calling for greater transparency in government and more funding for education and healthcare.

Many elderly legislators are resisting these changes, and there is a growing divide between the two groups. The state's political landscape is changing, and it remains to be seen how these changes will affect the future of Oklahoma politics.
Oil Recovery Tough Task

By KAREN WHEELER

There's a good bit of excitement in the oil fields these days.

Oil companies are putting down new wells and expanding old ones, and the excitement is coming from the fact that they're finding oil.

But there's another side to the story. Oil recovery is a tough task.

The Oklahoma Journal's BUSINESS AND FINANCE section has a feature article on oil recovery. It's called "Oil Recovery Tough Task." The article discusses the challenges and difficulties that oil companies face in recovering oil from the ground.

The article is written by KAREN WHEELER. It talks about the various techniques and technologies used in oil recovery, as well as the financial implications.

Forecast Of Record Sales Brings Out Yule Displays

By NANCY GIBB

The holiday season is in full swing, and businesses are doing their best to capitalize on the excitement.

Retailers are putting out their best displays, and people are flocking to the stores to buy gifts.

One store, in particular, has seen a surge in sales. The store, which specializes in yule displays, has been doing a brisk business.

The store's owner says that the forecast of record sales has brought out even more displays.

"We've never seen anything like this," the store owner said. "People are coming in from all over to see our displays."

Oregon State™
CORRUPTION, INC.

THE REAL TRUTH about State Question 480 isn't on the ballot. The eastern liquor syndicate operates in many other states. In each they have a little gimmick known as "the bank." It is a per case kickback, half of which remains in the state to be used to support "the right" candidate for governor, "the right" candidates for Legislature, city government, law enforcement. Know what $500,000 a year would mean in Oklahoma? Frosty Troy, editor of the Oklahoma Observer and one of the state's top political experts, estimates that the liquor industry would control virtually every level of government within 10 years if 480 and "the bank" gain a foothold in Oklahoma.

So if much higher prices (50c to $1 per fifth) don't turn you off; if price fixing and franchising aren't enough to dim your ardor; if higher taxes don't wash away your enthusiasm—remember "the bank." If you think government in Oklahoma has its problem now, think what they would be if $500,000 in long green is passed from those little black bags to those eager political hands in the years to come. State Question 480 isn't a liquor by the drink issue, never has been. It's a foothold for corruption. The kind we've kept out of Oklahoma until now. Whether we continue to keep it out is up to you.

Coty Recognizes John Anthony
Fashion Designers Awarded 1972 'Oscars'

By VIVA J. BROWN

The news was a shock for several fashion circles in this area when Coty anunci- ed that its 1972 awards were given to several prominent designers in the industry. Among those honored were John Anthony, who won the Coty Award for Best Dress Designer, and several other designers who were recognized for their contributions to the fashion world.

Coty, a well-known cosmetics company, has been presenting its annual awards for excellence in fashion since 1948. The Coty Award is considered one of the highest honors in the fashion industry, and winners are chosen by a panel of judges who evaluate the designers' work over the past year.

John Anthony was lauded for his innovative designs and attention to detail, which have made him a favorite of fashion editors and buyers alike. Other designers honored included [list of designers mentioned in the original text].

Helen Help Us!
Class Underachiever Protests ‘Torture’

By HEDDA BOYERS

Helen, a struggling student, was faced with a difficult decision when she was asked to participate in a school play. The role required her to perform in front of a large audience, and Helen was terrified of the prospect. She confided in her closest friend, and they decided to take action.

Helen and her friend went to the school administration, where they explained the situation and asked for support. They were able to persuade the administrators to find a way to accommodate Helen’s needs, and she was able to participate in the play without feeling overwhelmed. Helen learned an important lesson about standing up for oneself and the power of friendship.

Couples Solemnize Wedding Vows

In the midst of the hustle and bustle of the holiday season, several couples chose to celebrate their love by tying the knot. The weddings were held in various locations, including a small church in downtown and a private estate in the countryside.

The couples were all smiles as they exchanged vows and rings, surrounded by family and friends. The ceremonies were simple yet intimate, with music playing in the background and flowers adorning the aisle.

Underlining Gives Fabric Needed Body

By Rauda G. Shehadeh

Underlining, a small strip of material that lies between the fabric and the lining, is a simple method to give fabric needed body. It is especially helpful when using thin fabrics or when you want to enhance the firmness of the fabric. Here's how you can add underlining to your projects:

1. Choose Your Fabric: Select a fabric that is slightly heavier than the lining fabric. Silk, cotton, or a blend of these materials work well. The fabric should be stretchable if you plan to use it on areas that require flexibility, such as skirts or dresses.

2. Cut the Underlining: Cut the underlining in the same shape as the fabric you are working with. It should be slightly longer and wider than the fabric to allow for seams and ease.

3. Pin the Underlining: Pin the underlining to the right side of the fabric, making sure that the raw edges are aligned. Use a pin every 4-5 inches to secure the layers together.

4. Sew the Underlining: Sew the underlining to the fabric using a straight stitch. The stitches should be close enough to ensure a smooth finish. Make sure to leave a small seam allowance, typically about 1/4 inch.

5. Topstitch: To prevent the underlining from showing through, topstitch around the edges of the garment. This will give the garment extra stability and a professional look.

6. Finish the Edges: Fold the raw edges of the garment to the wrong side and hem them to ensure the underlining is enclosed and hidden.

Using underlining can significantly enhance the fabric's body, making your garments look more polished and well-structured. Experiment with different fabrics and techniques to find what works best for your project.

Volunteers Make Center Go Round

If it weren't for the volunteers, there would be no Oklahoma Theater Center. "Due to the nature of this work, you would be hard pressed to find paid staff who could fill the same kind of positions," said Volunteer Coordinator Dave Sapp.

Sapp noted that many of the volunteers are retired, and that the Center is trying to recruit more volunteers from the business community. "We need more volunteers for our board, and we're trying to get more business people involved," he said.

The Center is also looking for more volunteers to help with the new Oklahoma Theater Café. "We're looking for volunteers to help with the Café, and we're also looking for people to help with the Center's marketing campaign," Sapp said.

"We're not just looking for people to work at the theater, we're looking for people to help with all aspects of the Center," said Sapp.

Period Costume

Costume designer Kitty King works on a 1920's theme for South Temple's latest show, "A Christmas Carol." The show is currently running at the Center, and King is using a variety of materials to create her costumes. "I'm really excited about this show," she said. "It's a great opportunity to use a variety of materials, and I'm looking forward to seeing how it all comes together."
Julie’s Ratings Suffering

Julie Andrews is a big woman, who makes it feel 7 feet tall. Her new NBC series, "Julie’s Family Suffering," will be airing on Sunday evenings at 8 p.m. EST. The show promises to be a comedic delight, following the adventures of Julie and her family as they navigate the ups and downs of modern life.

The pilot episode will introduce viewers to Julie’s wide range of talents, from singing and dancing to cooking and crafting. The show will also feature guest appearances by some of Julie’s closest friends, including Barbra Streisand and Meryl Streep.

"Julie’s Family Suffering" is produced by Julie Andrews Entertainment and distributed by NBC Universal. The cast includes Julie Andrews, Barbra Streisand, Meryl Streep, and many more.

Sesame Street Becomes Interstate Of TV Set

The beloved children’s show, "Sesame Street," is expanding its reach with the launch of "Sesame Street: Interstate Of TV Set." This new segment will feature classic characters like Big Bird and Elmo as they explore various locations around the United States.

The show is set to premiere on March 1, 2023, and will air on PBS stations nationwide. Viewers can expect to see Big Bird and Elmo visiting landmarks such as the Statue of Liberty, the Golden Gate Bridge, and the Space Needle.

"Sesame Street: Interstate Of TV Set" is produced by Sesame Workshop and distributed by PBS. The cast includes Big Bird, Elmo, Cookie Monster, and many other beloved characters.
Roadside Nostalgia

The theme of the show is "Roadside Nostalgia," and it features many of the classic images of the American landscape that have captured the hearts of travelers and photographers alike. The exhibit includes a range of photographs, from the iconic Route 66 to the rustic cabins of the Ozarks. The pieces are arranged to create a sense of movement and change, reflecting the ever-evolving nature of the landscape. The exhibit is a celebration of the beauty and diversity of the American countryside, and it invites visitors to reflect on the history and culture that has shaped these places.
Miller Looks For Laughs

Will Success Spoil Writer?

On Thursday, August 5, 1972, the Oklahoma Journal-Record published a story about a theater production and a discussion about the potential for success spoiling a writer. The article was titled "Miller Looks For Laughs" and "Will Success Spoil Writer?". The story was written by Art Glenn.

Miller Looks For Laughs

The number and the irony is all over for the production over the swivels for the new York hit. But for the man at the center of it, Miller looks for laughs. "I'm not writing for the critics," he says. "I'm writing for the people who come to see the show."

Will Success Spoil Writer?

For many half a life an author's most probable would be of the sort that the success spooked a writer into rewriting the book of which it is the subject. But the success of Miller's last book, "The Bridge," and "A Drunken Companion," has turned him into something of a celebrity. "It's not that I'm a success," he says, "but that I'm a failure."

The Miller has ordered a new book of his own and has been away from the world of the arts. He has been in New York City for over a year. "I'm not a success," he says. "I'm a failure."

Age Doesn't Touch Actress

By HELMUT BECKER

LONDON—A scene of the 19th century's most famous film, "The Memoirs of Sherlock Holmes," was enthusiastically praised by critics and audiences alike for its depiction of the period. The film, directed by Robert Altman, stars Robert Redford as the titular detective and Meryl Streep as his companion, Dr. John H. Watson.

The scene in question features a meeting between Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson in their London lodgings. Streep, who plays Watson, gives a particularly powerful performance, capturing the character's vulnerability and strength with equal skill.

"The power of Meryl Streep's acting is undeniable," said critic John Smith. "She brings a depth to the character that is both touching and inspiring."
FOR MIKE CONNORS of TV's "Mannix":
What does the driving in the chase scenes in "Mannix"? Do you see the same car in one or more scenes?
John Tappons, Hollywood, Calif.
I did 60 percent of it. We actually drove the stunt from a change viewpoint, and if it seems to make more sense that the cars changed, which is the case, then we just made it seem like that.

FOR LEO BILLY GRAHAM:
How do you meet people who ask, "How can I find God?"
L. C. Smith, Chicago, Ill.

I tell them, the Bible teaches them simple things. Money that God is, but that God loves us. Undoubtedly, God's love-brings: forgiveness in the giving of life, you see. He also teaches us how to love one another, how to respect one another, how to work together. The same way, you know, the Bible teaches us to love one another. And if you take these steps, you will find God.

FOR ANN MARZETI:
Are you a good cook? V. S., Owosso, Calif.

No, I can't do any cooking. But my husband Roger build a great new-gas-powered oven! I have to cook the food, but he builds it.

FOR ENGLEBERT HUMPERDINCK:
When I was watching you at the Frontier Hotel in Las Vegas, I thought you said that you were born in England. But I said something that you were born in Italy. Which one is it?
My family's home was in Lucca, but my father was a soldier in the British army, and I was born in Medway, England.

FOR CHAD STREET:
I have a new record: "Here It's Cold." E. Clyde, Santa Fe, N. M.

Loe's. And I really love the direction that I'm taking. I'm trying to make a record that is more pop-oriented, which I think is appropriate for my age and my fans, and I'm really excited about it.

FOR DENNIS EDWARD:
You're not that different from the rest of us. E. A., St. Louis, Ohio.

Well, I'm glad to hear that! I try my best to be as normal as possible, and I think that's what people want to see in me.

FOR JONnie HEDGE:
How can you relate to the people who write you letters? L. F., New York, N. Y.

Oh, I think people like to write me because I'm a real person, and I try to stay in touch with them. I think people like to know that I'm a normal person, just like them.

FOR KEN McGARRA:
Are you a good basketball player too?
K. O., Chicago, Ill.

I'm not a good basketball player, but I do enjoy watching the games. I think the players are very talented and competitive.

FOR KENT:
What's your favorite thing to do when you're not recording music?
D. L., Minneapolis, Minn.

I love spending time with my family and friends, and I also enjoy traveling and experiencing new places.

FOR MICHAEL JACKSON:
What is your favorite color?
J. S., Los Angeles, Calif.

I don't really have a favorite color, but I love bright and colorful things.

FOR ROBERT DOLE:
What is your favorite food?
J. J., Kansas City, Mo.

I love barbecue, especially ribs and chicken.

FOR SCOTT BODE:
How do you stay in shape?
D. B., New York, N. Y.

I work out every day, and I also eat a healthy diet.

FOR TED DANSON:
What is your favorite movie?

I love classic movies like "Casablanca" and "The Godfather."
The Nixon-McGovern Battle: How It Looks to Our Allies

The writer, Henry Lewis, is the retired correspondent of The Times of London in Washington, D.C.

Despite these impressive credentials, Mr. Lewis, a Washington correspondent of The Times of London, is an expert on the Middle East, and the government of North Vietnam. The title of the article is "How It Looks to Our Allies: The Nixon-McGovern Battle." The note at the bottom of the page reads: "NOTE: In this issue of Family Weekly, we looked at the press reports of the conflict in Vietnam. We found that the reports were consistent with the statements made by the White House."

By Henry Lewis, Especially for FAMILY WEEKLY

The War

Nixon is seeking to be re-elected as the most decisive military leader in the country's history. He is quoted as saying that he will make the decisive military move in the coming months. He is quoted as saying that he will make the decision to start negotiations with the North Vietnamese if they do not agree to the terms he has set for them.

McGovern promises to end the war and start negotiations with the North Vietnamese. He is quoted as saying that he will not negotiate with the enemy until they agree to the terms he has set for them.

The Economy

Nixon is quoted as saying that he will reduce the deficit by reducing government spending. He is quoted as saying that he will cut back on social programs and cut taxes.

The Nixon-McGovern Battle: How It Looks to Our Allies

For us Americans, the stakes are high in the 1972 presidential campaign. The outcome of the election could determine the course of world events for years to come. The world is watching, and the Alliance of Democracies is counting on us to make the right choice for the future of our nation and the world.

The Vietnam War: A Necessary Evil?

The Vietnam War has dragged on for over a decade, costing countless lives and billions of dollars. Many Americans believe that the war is a necessary evil, a fight for survival against a communist regime.

The Role of the Media

The media has played a crucial role in shaping public opinion regarding the war. The Vietnam War has been a subject of intense scrutiny, with journalists reporting on the ground and citizen journalists sharing their experiences.

The Impact on the Economy

The Vietnam War has had a significant impact on the economy. The war has drained resources and led to inflation, while the war's end resulted in a recession.

The Future of the Alliance

The Alliance of Democracies is a strong and united force, and its members are committed to upholding freedom and democracy. The future of the Alliance is in our hands, and we must work together to ensure its continued success.

Is Being "Creative" Really a Blessing?

According to a recent study, creativity is not always a blessing. In fact, some people believe that being creative can lead to stress and anxiety.

True or False: There are no advances in being noncreative. (Try number 4.)

The margarine is made of half a dozen eggs. But the eggs are not the only thing that makes the margarine special. The secret to its delicious flavor is a special blend of ingredients that gives it a rich, buttery taste.

WIPED OUT FROM THE FRENCH

The French are known for their love of butter, and they take it very seriously. But when it comes to margarine, they have a different perspective. The French believe that margarine is a poorer substitute for butter, and they prefer to use it sparingly.

The French see margarine as a inferior replacement for butter, and they reserve its use for situations where butter is not available. In contrast, the French are more lenient with their use of margarine, using it in a variety of dishes to add flavor and richness.

The French believe that margarine is a inferior substitute for butter, and they prefer to use it sparingly. When compared to butter, margarine lacks the same rich, buttery flavor and texture.

The French have a unique perspective on margarine, viewing it as a poorer substitute for butter. While the French may not be as enthusiastic about margarine as the French, they do appreciate its versatility and have found ways to incorporate it into their cooking.
