FORT COLT, Idaho (AP)—Pfc. Billy D. Smith was acquitted Tuesday of charges he killed two army officers in a hotly disputed court-martial trial. The jury deliberated for only five minutes before returning its verdict.

Senator Howard Oぎ, R-Ohio, said the bill presents a special problem for the Senate. He noted that the results are made public promptly, and that a review of the bill is required before it can be offered for full debate.

The City Council unanimously approved a proposal to change the name of Austin's George Washington to James Van Buren. The bill also included a provision to change the name of the street to James Van Buren Avenue. The names of both streets are scheduled for change in early 1982.

The bill was introduced by Councilman Howard Oぎ, R-Ohio, who said it was necessary to change the name of the street to reflect the new name of George Washington. The proposal was supported by all members of the council.

Bellmon Plans Soviet Trip

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Sen. Henry Bellmon, D-Okla., said Tuesday he would not seek re-election as a Democratic senator in 1982.

Bellmon told a news conference that he had made up his mind after considering his options, including a possible run for the White House. Bellmon said he had decided to run for re-election in 1982 because he felt it was the best way to serve the people of Oklahoma.

Bellmon said he would continue to work for the Senate, including work on important legislation. He said he would continue to represent the people of Oklahoma in the Senate until the end of his term in 1982.

Bellmon's decision to run in 1982 is a blow to the Democratic Party, which has been struggling to find a viable candidate to replace him. Bellmon is one of the most popular and effective senators in the country, and his loss would be a serious setback for the Democratic Party.

Dilbert is a five-panel comic strip created by Scott Adams. It is about a dilapidated office and the people who do the work there, among them Dilbert, the main character; his colleagues; and the boss. The Dilbert comic strip is an American newspaper comic strip about an office manager, Dilbert, and his experiences with the foibles of the workplace.

The concept came to Adams when he became manager of a software project at his job. He first drew a cartoon in his office and showed it to his boss, who didn't find it funny. Adams continued to draw Dilbert cartoons as a hobby. However, his boss found them funny enough to demand that Adams make them funnier, which led to Adams trying to make the Dilbert strips more humorous. Adams began to develop a cartoon strip and submitted it to the Chicago Tribune's King Features Syndicate. King Features passed it along to his own personal approval board, who decided to publish it. It was published in more than 200 newspapers in the United States and Canada, and later in 36 countries around the world.

The Dilbert comic strip is a popular strip that has been published in newspapers around the world. It is known for its humor and satire on the workplace, and it has been distributed to newspapers in more than 200 countries around the world. Quail Prospects In State Bright

BY CLAYE HEAT
With the recent completion of the spring and summer hunting seasons, quail hunters now have reason to be optimistic about the quail population outlook for the fall and winter months. The spring and summer hunting seasons were well managed, with good hunting conditions throughout the state. The result was a healthy quail population going into the fall season.

Quail populations are a key indicator of the health of the ecosystem and the sustainability of the hunting industry. A healthy quail population not only provides an excellent hunting experience but also contributes to the overall health of the environment. The fall and winter months are critical for quail survival, as they are the time when the quail population is at its peak. The hunting season is designed to ensure that the population is not over-hunted, allowing for a sustainable population to be maintained.

Bitterness Hits 'Buckingest Bronco'

BY HARRY D. HENDRICKSON

Borger, Texas — (AP) — For six straight years, from September to December, a little kid on the Plains of Texas hushed his brothers and sisters and held his ears for hours, counting down the days until the Colorado State University team was scheduled to open its season.

Pretty soon, he was reading the sports pages of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. He knew everything about the school's football team, including the names of the freshmen who would be playing for the first time that year.

Eventually, he was old enough to attend games, and his brothers and sisters were old enough to stay up late to watch the team on TV. He became a rabid fan, and he loved the team with all his heart.

But then, one fateful afternoon, everything changed. The team lost to a team that nobody had ever heard of before. The kid was devastated. He cried in his room for hours, thinking about how his team could have won.

He was never the same after that.

The end of the season came, and the team was eliminated from the postseason. The kid was heartbroken. He didn't watch the team for the rest of the year. He refused to attend games the next year. He stopped caring about the team.

He was a bitter man, and he held a grudge against the team for years. He never forgave them for that one loss.

But then, one day, he decided to let go of his bitterness. He realized that life was too short to hold onto grudges. He started attending games again, and he began to enjoy the team once more.

He was never the same after that, either.
Bulldog Blocker Eager To Play

We're flooded by the edge of the mud, but we're eager to play. We're not afraid of the mud. We've been through it before. We've got the experience. We've got the confidence.

"We've got the confidence. We've got the experience. We've got the edge. We're not afraid of the mud. We're eager to play. We're not afraid of the mud. We've been through it before. We've got the experience. We've got the confidence."

The Oklahoma State University football team is ready to play against the University of Southern Mississippi. They're confident and ready for the challenge. They're not afraid of the mud. They've got the experience. They've got the edge. They're eager to play.
Lawton, Grant Get Nods

By RU STYRJOCH

Cecil Cagey and Karl Deeds, two valuable running backs for Tulane, and Lawton roofs on last year's 3,000-yard mark, have been named All-Southland Conference running backs.

Cagey, a senior, led the Owls in rushing with 1,358 yards and 15 touchdowns. He also caught 20 passes for 213 yards and a touchdown. Deeds, a junior, rushed for 1,642 yards and 16 touchdowns, and also caught 29 passes for 184 yards.

Lawton, a senior, rushed for 1,419 yards and 15 touchdowns, and also caught 20 passes for 180 yards.

Pirate QB Top Player

Pittsburgh City 3-3 with Millgrove quarterback, or Millgrove last year. Five years ago he had the talent of a star, and this year he has the experience of a star. He is a top player in the city, and no other Pirate quarterback can compete with him, in my opinion.

Tide Better Than '71

ATLANTIC CITY - "Baller" Hoyt, the engine for Alabama's "Tide" offense in 1970, is a different animal in 1971. He is smaller, leaner, stronger and more determined. He said he had lost 20 pounds from his normal 240-pound weight.

Baller, 23, is the only returning starter on the 1971 Tide offensive line under coach Phog Allen.

"We're going to have to put more meat on him," Allen said.

"Baller" is a 6-foot-3, 220-pounder.

"He's got a lot of quickness. He's going to have a lot of fun out there this year."
