Filled With Thrills

By Tom Dirato

The Oklahoma Sooners beat the Nebraska Cornhuskers, 12-7, on November 21st, to win the Big Eight Championship and an eventual national title.

The game was a grueling battle, with both teams playing their best. The Sooners had a strong defense, while the Huskers had a powerful offense. The game was held in Norman, Oklahoma, at Gaylord Stadium.

During the game, the Sooners took the lead early, but the Huskers were able to come back and tie the game. The game remained close throughout, with both teams scoring touchdowns in the second half.

In the end, the Sooners were able to hold on for the victory, thanks to a strong offensive performance. The Huskers were unable to score in the final minutes of the game, and the Sooners were able to secure their victory.

The win was a significant milestone for the Sooners, who were looking to secure their second straight national championship. The Huskers were also looking for a win, but they were unable to secure it.

This game will go down in history as one of the greatest battles in college football.

Enjoy the game!"

Joe The Jet Remembers...

BY JOEY (THE GREEK) GRIFFITH

LAUSILAS — You know Joe Namath remembers! Joe used to be big in New York, where he played for the Patriots and the New York Jets. Remember when he was still playing for the Jets, he had a big game against the Cleveland Browns. He really threw the ball well that day.

As for the paly details, it all started with a simple pass to Joe Namath. The Patriots took the lead after Joe hit the Browns with a perfect pass. Joe then followed up with a touchdown run to put the Patriots up 7-0 at halftime.

Namath's performance for the Patriots was truly unforgettable. It was a proud moment for the Patriots' fans and Joe Namath's legacy grew even stronger.

By Monday Joe was back in the saddle. He went on to win the first game.

THURSDAY NIGHT, Joe Namath's first crystal visitor and acquaintance with the late producer of the product.

Some other comments from the sports world:

Thursday's game was really exciting. The Patriots looked strong again. The defense particularly, with Joe Namath leading the way.

It's hard to imagine anyone else taking his place on the Patriots' roster.

Real Story At Missouri

By CHARLES SMITH

LIFE Sports Writer

High and mighty in the Big Eight Conference, with dreams of a national championship, Missouri is starting to look more like a football team in a good way. Missouri has three of the top 10 teams in the nation, and they all have a chance to go to the Rose Bowl. They're not just undefeated, but they're also on top of the排行榜 in both scoring and total offense. The Tigers are 12-0, and they're looking to make a statement.

The Tigers' defense is the key to their success. They have a strong line, a fast secondary, and a solid linebacking corps. The offense is led by quarterback Jim Faust, who has thrown for over 2,000 yards and 18 touchdowns. The Tigers are averaging over 30 points per game.

In the Big Eight, Missouri is leading by two games over Oklahoma and Oklahoma State. They have already defeated both teams.

Grider Cured By Acupuncture

Graeme Grider, 31, a University of Missouri medical student, has been cured of his chronic pain by acupuncture. Grider had been suffering from chronic back pain for over 10 years, and he had tried every treatment available, including surgery and medication, but nothing seemed to work.

Grider's doctor, Dr. John Smith, suggested acupuncture as a last resort. Grider was skeptical, but he agreed to try it. After just three treatments, Grider's pain began to diminish, and after six treatments, he was completely pain-free.

Acupuncture involves inserting thin needles into specific points on the body, which stimulates the release of endorphins, the body's natural painkillers.
