SUGAR BOWL WINS, TOO!

Sugar Bowl Wins, Too!

By W. K. MILBANK

A SUGAR BOWL WIN for the University of Oklahoma Sooners could not have been more fitting for the 1979 season. The Sooners finished the season with a 10-1 record, including a 7-1 record in conference play. The team had already won the Big Eight Conference title, and the Sugar Bowl victory capped off a historic season for the Sooners.

The Sooners had a strong defense, allowing only 140 points in their 12 games. The offense was led by quarterback Steve Davis, who threw for 2,000 yards and 15 touchdowns. The Sooners had a balanced attack, with running back Barry Sanders averaging 121 yards per game and leading the team in rushing.

In the Sugar Bowl, the Sooners faced off against the University of Miami Hurricanes. The game was a closely fought battle, with both teams playing their best football. In the end, the Sooners emerged victorious, with a final score of 23-14.

The victory was a sweet one for the Sooners, who had lost the previous season’s Sugar Bowl to the University of Alabama Crimson Tide. The win put the Sooners on the map as one of the top teams in college football.

Overall, the 1979 season was a success for the Sooners, and the Sugar Bowl victory was just the icing on the cake. The team’s success was a testament to the hard work and dedication of the players, coaches, and support staff.

‘Dumb Blonde’ Dies

Hollywood’s iron lady, Marie Wilson, popularly known as the “Dumb Blonde,” died Monday at the age of 86. Wilson, who was known for her role in the 1930s film “Dumb Blonde,” passed away in her Hollywood home after a brief illness. She was 86 years old.

Wilson was born in 1932 in Washington, D.C. She began her acting career in the 1930s, appearing in several films and stage productions. She gained fame for her role in the 1930s film “Dumb Blonde,” which was directed by Howard Hawks.

The film, which was a box office hit, made Wilson a household name. She went on to appear in several other films, including “The Big Sleep” and “His Girl Friday.”

Wilson was known for her role as the “Dumb Blonde,” a character she played in several films and stage productions. She was known for her comedic timing and her ability to deliver lines with a deadpan expression.

In addition to her acting career, Wilson was also known for her philanthropic work. She was a supporter of several charitable organizations, including the American Cancer Society and the United Way.

Wilson is survived by her husband, Bob Wilson, and her two children, Mike Wilson and Susan Wilson.
