Normal Life Can Be Lived...
Frequent Eating Prevents Low Blood Sugar Problems

Dr. Lamb

DEAR READER: -- For years, diabetics have been told that they must follow rigid dietary restrictions in order to maintain normal blood sugar levels. This is true, of course, but it is not the only way to control diabetes. In fact, there are several important things you can do to help prevent low blood sugar, or hypoglycemia, and to improve your overall health.

1. Maintain a Prolonged Fasting State
2. Avoid Alcohol
3. Avoid Eating Carbohydrates Too Quickly
4. Avoid Eating High-Fat Meals
5. Avoid Eating Too Much Food at One Time
6. Avoid Eating Before Bedtime
7. Avoid Eating Before Meals

While these steps may seem difficult, they are not impossible. With practice, you can learn how to maintain normal blood sugar levels without having to make major changes in your lifestyle. And the benefits of doing so are well worth the effort.

Christmas Parties Set...
Chi Omega Alumnae Groups To Gather Dolls For Needy

Christmas is a time of giving, and the Chi Omega alumnae groups are doing their part to help those in need. The groups of alumnae will be gathering dolls for children who might not otherwise receive them. The dolls will be donated to the Salvation Army, which will distribute them to deserving children.

Exec Order Wrecks Play House

The President's decision to fire the Director of the Central Intelligence Agency and then to appoint his deputy to the new post is a clear case of executive overreach. The President is using his position to undermine the independence of the intelligence community. This is a violation of the balance of power established by the Constitution.

Government officials have accused the President of interfering in the investigation into Russian interference in the 2016 election. The President's actions are damaging to the credibility of the intelligence community and the democratic process.

In February, we will see the ramifications of the President's actions. The House Intelligence Committee will likely launch an investigation into the intelligence community, and other bodies of inquiry may follow. The President has demonstrated that he is willing to go to great lengths to protect his personal and political interests. It is clear that Congress must act to prevent further damage to our democracy.

Yuppies' Charmas Fades

The yuppy movement, which once represented the epitome of high fashion and social status, is now faced with a decline in popularity. The trend has become associated with materialism and superficiality. The yuppy lifestyle, characterized by exclusive parties and high living, is no longer seen as glamorous.

There is a growing sense that the yuppy movement is out of touch with the values of the American people. The yuppies are perceived as elitists and as disconnected from the broader society.

The yuppy movement has been criticized for its focus on material possessions and for its disregard for social and cultural values. The movement is no longer seen as a symbol of success and is now considered as a lifestyle that is out of touch with the realities of everyday life.

Handy Way to Protest

The United States Postal Service is now offering a service that allows customers to print their own stamps. This is a convenient and cost-effective way for customers to support their favorite causes. The service is available to customers who have a printer and access to the internet.

The process is simple. Customers can choose from a variety of designs and then print their own stamps at home. The stamps can be used for mailing letters and packages.

This is a great way for consumers to support the causes they care about. The service is also a reminder of the importance of the Postal Service in our society.

State Editors Say

Bill Harvey: To Go To Pot Or Not

A strong administration is one that is willing to take tough decisions to protect the nation. The decision to decriminalize marijuana is one that should be made by the states, as each has unique circumstances.

The administration has a responsibility to keep our country safe. The decision to decriminalize marijuana is one that should be made by the states, as each has unique circumstances.
