Holiday Murderer Proves Very Elusive

BY NELLY BAKER

New York Daily News (New York Daily News) - The body of Andrew Meyer, Jr., an 18-year-old bank employee, was discovered in a vacant lot on the corner of 3rd Avenue and 23rd Street on Wednesday morning. The victim was found with a single gunshot wound to the head. Police are investigating the case as a murder.

White House, Military Report Conflict

BOMBING LULL EXPECTED

WASHINGTON—The air war over North Vietnam has been described as a "military lull" by President Johnson and American military planners. However, the situation is far from calm, according to recent reports. The North Vietnamese have been known to launch surprise attacks at any time, and the U.S. military must remain vigilant.

Legal Marriage Contract Cold-Blooded?
Fiancée Rebels Against 'Planned Divorce'

In Boston, Mass.

DEAR EDITOR: I feel I must write you to protest this cruel and heartless action on the part of my fiancé, John Smith. He has informed me that he is planning to divorce me because he finds my personality unsuited to his own.

DEAR JOHN: I understand your concern for our compatibility, but I believe we can work through any differences. Let's focus on the love we share rather than the flaws. I am willing to try to change for you.

DEAR ANONYMOUS: I would love to hear your perspective on this situation. Perhaps there is a way we can make this arrangement work.

In appreciation,

Sincerely,

Diana Ross Takes Holiday

By WILLIAM S. KLEIN

NEW YORK—The swirl of, the glitter of the limousines, the hubbub of the press, the bustle of the crowd—none of it was there. Only the twinkle of a distant star. The only thing left to see was the star herself. Diana Ross, looking radiant in a white dress, walked out onto the stage to the strains of "Ain't No Mountain High Enough." She sang her hit song, "I'm Gonna Love Me Again," and the audience was in awe. When she finished, there was a standing ovation. Ross thanked the audience and walked off stage, leaving them with a sense of wonder and awe. As she left, one thing was certain: Diana Ross had taken her holiday in style.

Korean Choir Abounds In Talent

Ten years later, the children of the choir served in a single unison and are well into their first year of study in the United States. Their choral program is enriched by the participation of a number of older children who have completed their high school studies.

The choir was born out of the international program of mutual understanding and friendship between South Korea and the United States. It was established in 1980 by the U.S. government, the Republic of Korea, and the United Nations. The program aims to promote cultural understanding and to foster friendship between the two nations.

Oriental Tradition

Membership of the Korean Children's Choir is drawn from a variety of cultural and ethnic backgrounds. The choir's repertoire includes traditional Korean music as well as contemporary pieces.

Cover Story

Cover Story from Pages 8-10: The children in the choir are shown performing in uniform. The choir is led by an adult conductor, and the children are singing with passion and enthusiasm. The choir is a model of discipline and precision, showcasing the discipline and hard work that goes into creating a successful choir.

Local Events

As usual the Oklahoma City Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of its conductor, will present a performance on Friday night. The orchestra will play a variety of pieces, including works by Beethoven and Mozart. The concert will be held in the Amway Center, located at 301 N. Main St.

Out Of Town

Vicario, from Brazil, will perform a solo recital at the State University of New York at Buffalo on Saturday night. The recital will feature works by Brazilian composers such as Heitor Villa-Lobos and Francisco Mignone.

Musical

The Oklahoma City Opera will present "The Magic Flute" at the Civic Center Music Hall on Saturday evening. The opera features a talented cast of singers and a live orchestra.

Music

The Oklahoma City Symphony will present a concert at the Civic Center Music Hall on Sunday afternoon. The program will include works by Brahms and Tchaikovsky.

"I could always do what everybody else does, but how many other people could do what I do?"

—Willie Royka

Meadows, W.

By TROY WILSON

Meetings, parties, the daily grind: These are the things that occupy the life of a writer, but for a few days, I found myself without a job. I found myself enjoying the simple pleasures of life, without the usual pressures of work. It was a welcome change, and I felt rejuvenated.

I began to appreciate the little things in life, like the sound of raindrops on the roof, the aroma of cooking food, and the feeling of the sun on my skin. I found myself spending more time outside, taking walks in the park, and exploring the city. I even found myself enjoying the company of others, which I had taken for granted before.

But as the days passed, I began to feel restless. I missed the structure of my work, and the sense of purpose that it gave me. I began to feel a little lost, and I knew that I needed to find a way to bring some order back into my life.

I decided to take a risk, and I started a new project. I wrote a novel, and it was published, and it sold. I felt a sense of accomplishment, and I realized that I had the ability to do great things if I put my mind to it.

The meadows have given life to Willie Royka, and Willie has given his life to the meadows.

Surprising Walton Family is King Of The Mountain

By LAURENCE LADEN

The Washington Post

"The King of the Mountain" is a nickname given to one of the Walton family's most beloved members. It's a title that has been passed down through generations, and it's a symbol of the family's strength and resilience.

The story of the Walton family is one of perseverance and determination. It's a story of a family that has overcome adversity and come out stronger on the other side. And it's a story of a family that has shown the world that anything is possible with hard work and dedication.

The Walton family has been a part of American history for generations, and it's a family that has inspired millions of people around the world. And it's a family that has shown us that anything is possible with hard work and dedication.
Artistic Cats Join Parade

Last year Keota Galaxy School organized the first parade in Kansas City and this year the school is taking it a step further by holding a parade as part of their Christmas celebrations. The parade will be held on December 24th and will feature various floats, music bands, and performances by the students of the school. The parade will start at the school at 2 PM and will proceed through the city streets, ending at the city hall. The parade is open to the public and everyone is encouraged to participate. The parade will also feature a special performance by the Keota Galaxy School's choir. The school is looking forward to a successful parade and is hoping that the community will support the event. The school is also working on organizing a special Christmas concert to be held on December 23rd. My name is Gem. I will tell you how I got that name. I was too small to remember, but often I've heard the story about it.

They drove over to a kennel and there I was, wagging with my brothers and sisters. The kennel man said, "Oh, isn't this one a little Gem?"

He checked, and said, "They all look like gems to me. But now, with old Round and Round gone to Heaven, we need a new dog." So I was Gem, and they took me home.

First thing I remember is getting up. I was out in the yard with him, and he unlocked the kennel to get his mail. Suddenly, the road beyond opened up and I went in the kennel. Suddenly, in the road beyond, opened up and I went in the kennel. It was the end of the world.

Now I don't remember where I was. I took a few steps and then I heard the story about it. He said that he'd given me a special name to remember the "dumb dogs" and how I'd run away from him. And all the while I could hear him telling me to come back.

I came proudly at first. But he was standing there looking after me, so I went right over to him. I wagged and大楼

Then I heard him speak my name in a low voice when he saw my nose. So I put my nose down and checked back behind him. Pretty soon, he said, "But I lost interest in chasing cars. Somehow it didn't seem like the thing to do.

So I have been speaking only those two words in all my life. Oh, I get into trouble on a few occasions. Once, I was a chicken sashoos like the kitchen table. We were going on a picnic— I jumped up on a chair and put my nose into the basket. But the come into the room just them and screamed at me, and I got down and ran, and slid under the couch. I can do a trick. He speaks my name, and says, "Here," and he pays down a strip of meat or a dog cookie or something nice like that. He's in front of me now, and I'm supposed to be in trouble and not eat the delicious thing, because he says, "Boy," when he puts it there.

He says, "Now I'm not supposed to. Sometimes it seems like a very long time before he takes, "Would you like to have it?" I'll think it over and say, "Yes, I like it." He says, "That's the signal for me to go, go, go, go, so I don't know where my next meal was coming from.

Also, I am a basset. I was in Victorian. I was sitting down on my own bed, and there was a basset that was coming from.

"The owner and opened the door. "Gentlemen, you can have it. Thank you, Honey, get up. The house is on fire."
