Schools Seem Calmer Without Adult Meddling

The students at the Sallie Ann school have been calmer without adult meddling. Since September 19, when Oklahoma City public school officials ordered the integration of the school, the students have been more cooperative and learning has improved. There have been fewer disturbances, more discipline, and a greater sense of community among the students.

A significant change in the school's atmosphere has been attributed to the new administration's focus on maintaining order and providing a safe learning environment. The school has also implemented new policies and procedures to address disciplinary issues, which has contributed to the improved behavior of the students.

In a press release, Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Jones, stated: "The positive changes that have taken place at Sallie Ann school are a testament to the hard work and dedication of our staff. We are committed to providing a safe and supportive learning environment for all our students."

The President has ordered 50,000 troops to be sent to the border of North Vietnam and South Vietnam. The order was given in response to the demands of the North Vietnamese to end the war. The President has stated that he will do everything necessary to achieve a peaceful solution to the conflict.

The legislation will have little effect on the war. The President has already ordered a cease-fire, and the legislation will not change that order. The legislation will only serve to delay the war, giving the President more time to negotiate a peace settlement.

Don Juan Revival On Tap

It's time once again to head out a few patches of dirt, dust, and dirt. It's the time when all the people in town are in the mood for something new.

Overindulging on everything in sight until you have the feeling that you've got to change your diet and lifestyle. The answer? It's not a matter of dieting or exercise. It's a matter of changing your environment.

I think we all need to take a good, hard look at the way we live our lives. We need to ask ourselves: What are we doing to ourselves? What are we doing to our families? What are we doing to our society?

The answer is: We need to change our environment. We need to change the way we live our lives. We need to change the way we think about things. We need to change the way we act.

Manhattan Theatre offers a lot of heart when it's doing well. It's a place where people need to do something about their lives. It's a place where people need to make changes. It's a place where people need to find hope.

Don't miss "Don Juan Revival" at the Manhattan Theatre. It's a show that will make you think. It's a show that will make you laugh. It's a show that will make you cry.

Don't miss it!
Actor Breaks Family Tradition

NEW YORK — (AP) — There he was, just another0 boy, with a face that could win a beauty pageant. But there was nothing ordinary about the way Bruce Dern had won the hearts of moviegoers. The young actor, who played a memorable role in "The Cowboys," was nominated for an Academy Award for Best Supporting Actor.

Dern had a friendship with the director, John Ford, and had been invited to the awards ceremony. But when Ford presented the award, he did so with a warm and humorous speech that made Dern feel like he was part of a family.

"I'm just a kid," Dern said, "but I feel like I'm part of a real family."

In 1974, Dern was nominated for an Academy Award for his role in "The Cowboys." He won the award, becoming the first non-Jewish actor to win an Oscar for his work in a feature film.

Directors' Goal: Superstar Superfilm

By CYNTHIA CORDIER

Hollywood — (AP) — To many, the idea of a superman with no feet may seem like a far-fetched concept. But in the world of filmmaking, it's a reality that has been realized in the form of "Superman: The Movie."

The project was a collaboration between Warner Bros. and director Richard Donner, who had previously directed "The Omen" and "The Empire Strikes Back." The movie was budgeted at $43 million, making it the most expensive film ever produced at the time.

Donner's vision for the film was to create a superhero that was relatable to audiences around the world. "Superman: The Movie" was released in 1978 and grossed $370 million worldwide, making it one of the most successful films ever made.

"Superman: The Movie" was a turning point in Hollywood's approach to superhero films, inspiring a wave of imitations and spin-offs that continues to this day. Today, "Superman" is a cultural icon, and his story has been told in countless ways on screen and off.

"Superman: The Movie" was the first of a series of films that would follow the adventures of the Man of Steel, including "Superman II" and "Superman III," which were released in 1986 and 1987, respectively.

In the decades since, "Superman" has become a cultural phenomenon, with countless adaptations and spin-offs across multiple media. The character has inspired countless writers, artists, and filmmakers, and his story continues to captivate audiences around the world today.

$860,000 'Galactica' Superflop Of The Year

NEW YORK CITY (AP) - Unencumbered by one of the most expensive and elaborate television (or cable) series in history, "Galactica," NBC executives wish they could get back to the simplicity and charm of the 1970s sitcoms they once knew and loved.

But NBC's "Galactica," star of the new Monday night series, has been a flop. And it's costing the network a bundle.

"Galactica" has been the focus of much discussion and debate since it was announced last year. But the real story of the series is its financial impact on NBC.

The cost of producing "Galactica" has been estimated at $860,000 per episode, making it one of the most expensive television series ever produced. And that's just for the show's first season.

But NBC executives say they're not worried about the cost. They say they're more concerned about the shows' ratings.

"We're not worried about the cost," says NBC's entertainment arm. "We're more concerned about the shows' ratings. And we're not sure how those are going to turn out."

The series has been praised for its special effects and storyline, but it has received mixed reviews from critics.

"Galactica" follows the adventures of a band of rebels who are trying to save humanity by destroying the evil Cylons. The series is set in the 22nd century and is shot in a mix of live-action and computer-generated imagery.

But the series has struggled to attract viewers. Its premiere episode, which aired on Sept. 28, drew just 10.9 million viewers, a disappointing rating for an episode that aired on a Monday night.

The series' second episode, which aired on Oct. 26, drew just 7.5 million viewers, a sharp decline from the first episode.

NBC executives say they're confident the series will improve over time. They say they're planning to air additional episodes of "Galactica," which will likely help boost the show's ratings.

But they say they're also aware of the risks involved in producing a high-budget series. They say they're keeping a close eye on the show's financial performance and will make adjustments as needed.

"We're not going to let the cost of 'Galactica' weigh us down," says NBC's entertainment arm. "We're going to focus on getting the show right and making sure it's a success."

The series is produced by Legendary TV, which is produced by Legendary Pictures. The show's creators are Glen Mazzara and Dan tissue, who previously worked on the critically acclaimed "Lost."
Sandy’s Show Through

By JERRY M. DRUFF

HOLLYWOOD—Sandy’s Show Through is a promising little fantasy about a one-horse pride that can’t be broken down. This show features Sandy, a horse who has been trained to perform in a circus ring. But Sandy has a problem. He gets too excited when he sees his trainer, and he starts to kick. The trainer thought there was no hope for Sandy. But then he met a woman who knew how to handle horses.
She taught Sandy new tricks, and he started to perform in the circus ring. But then the trainer’s wife had an accident, and Sandy had to take over her job. With the help of the woman who knew how to handle horses, Sandy was able to save the show from disaster.

The "Ideal Man"?
A Startling Theory

Is Frank McGee
It's Growing

The Men's Beauty
Boom—And How

Paul Lynde Says:
"Think I'm Funny?
You Don't Know Me!"
A World Full of Frank McGees?

A Psychiatrist’s Starling Theory

By Jim Simon

People often talk about the prevalence of Frank McGees in America. The term ‘Frank McGee’ has become a colloquial way to describe a stereotype of a person who is thoughtless, careless, and lacking in social skills.

The prevalence of Frank McGees can be explained by several factors:

1. Cultural Attitudes: The American culture often values independence and self-reliance, which can lead people to act without considering the impact on others. Frank McGees often embody these attitudes, making them more common.

2. Societal Pressures: Modern society places a high value on making quick decisions and taking risks. This can encourage behavior that may be considered thoughtless by others.

3. Lack of Empathy: Frank McGees may be perceived as lacking empathy for others, which can lead to actions that are hurtful or detrimental to others.

4. Social Media: Social media platforms can amplify the prevalence of Frank McGees. People often present themselves in the best light, which can lead to a perception of others as less thoughtful or considerate.

5. Cognitive Biases: People often exhibit cognitive biases that lead them to underestimate the likelihood of negative outcomes of their actions. This can result in actions that are thoughtless or harmful to others.

6. Institutional Factors: Certain institutions, such as workplaces and educational institutions, may inadvertently promote a culture of thoughtlessness through their policies and practices.

7. Media Influence: The media often portrays Frank McGees in a positive light, which can contribute to the prevalence of these types of people.

The prevalence of Frank McGees is a complex issue that requires a multi-faceted approach to address. It's important to recognize the impact of these behaviors on others and work towards creating a more empathetic and thoughtful society.
"How 'Bout a Facial, Mae?"

The Big Boom

"They're packaged in grateful wood, or gold, silver, black and bronze, in chubby bottles or tubes, with a little rubber ball on the end, for relief in stress or tension,

You have to know the tricks, since they're called by other names. Moisturizers are called face hydrators, massage oil is called a bronzer,

...Facial masks are puckers or plasters... But, by any name, they're still beauty aids."

By Joan Kattner Steinman

in Men's Beauty

"You know, you're a man's man, the type who likes to be on the go, who's always ready for the outdoors, the woods, the mountains."

What seems to be essential is a whole gear of accessories for men, and the trend, as far as we can see, is towards more ruggedness, more practicality, less elegance."

Kigler, who has run a women's ads and model management firm for years, has found that the men in society are now more concerned with hair preparation.

Even the handkerchiefs are becoming more than just a fad. A recent report from the National Industrial Conference Board, which tracks trends in the men's fashion industry, notes that men are spending more on hair care products than ever before."

"You see, it's not just about getting ready in the morning, it's about being prepared for whatever the day may bring."

"You can't just go out with a simple shirt and pants, you have to have something that shows you're serious about your appearance."

"And it's not just about looking good, it's about feeling good. Men want to have the confidence to go out and face the world."

"But it's not just about the products, it's about the experience. It's about the journey, the process of caring for your hair."

"And it's not just about the men, it's about the women who are looking for men who take care of themselves. They want men who look good, feel good, and are confident."
Pet Owners, Beware! These Common Household Items Can Poison Your Cat

By Felicia Ames, Columnist and author of "The Cat's Tail" column

Not to long ago, the list of known dangers to our feline friends was limited to a few household chemicals and plants. Today, thanks to veterinarians and pet parents alike, we know that there are many everyday items that can be toxic to our cats. From cleaning products to medications, it's essential to be aware of the potential dangers that lurk in our homes.

Common Household Items That Can Poison Your Cat

1. Houseplants: Many houseplants are toxic to cats, including ferns, ivy, and houseleeks. Symptoms can include vomiting, diarrhea, and liver damage.
2. Cleaning Products: Some cleaning products contain ingredients that are toxic to cats, such as bleach, ammonia, and isopropyl alcohol. Symptoms can include vomiting, diarrhea, and difficulty breathing.
3. Human Medications: Cats can accidentally ingest human medications, which can cause serious health problems. Common medications that are toxic to cats include ibuprofen, aspirin, and acetaminophen.
4. Pet Products: Some pet products, such as flea collars and sprays, contain ingredients that are toxic to cats. Symptoms can include vomiting, diarrhea, and difficulty breathing.

It's important to keep these items out of reach of our felines and to be cautious when introducing new products to our homes.

Paul Lynde:
There's Plenty of Tragedy Behind That Grin

I was in analysis for about a year in New York. . . . After a year the psychiatrist said he'd had too much time analyzing me . . .

There have been more people who've caught their eye over the years than Paul Lynde. But when we met I was completely和社会 of the community in Los Angeles, where "The Paul Lynde Show" is located, and I wanted to make sure that I was not making a social faux pas.

Lynde: I was just about to start my own business when I was approached by the producer of the show. He wanted to change the name of the show to "The Paul Lynde Show" and I was hesitant. He assured me that I would be the star and not just a sidekick.

FRO: Did you ever catch his eye over the years?

Lynde: Yes, and you know I've always been interested in that kind of thing. But I don't know what was wrong with him. He just didn't get it. The first time I saw him I was just about to start my own business and I thought he was just another businessman. But then he started talking about what he was doing and I thought, "Hey, this guy's got some ideas!"

FRO: Did you ever meet him?

Lynde: Yes, but I didn't really get to know him. I just met him a few times and we would have dinner together. But I never really got to know him as a person.

FRO: Did you ever get to know him as a person?

Lynde: No, but I have met some of his friends. They're all really nice people. But I don't know what was wrong with him. He just didn't get it. Up to $20,000 of insurance to be purchased by you, the breadwinner of the family to provide money for your survivors, not for yourself. The Family Life Insurance Plan does just this while it also allows you to insure your wife for up to $20,000 — and all your eligible children for $1,000 each, no matter how many, for one low premium. All of this protection at rates so low that you can't afford not to cover the whole family.

Why Term Insurance is Best For You!

It provides maximum coverage and the lowest possible cost to do the primary job that life insurance is intended to perform... protection and security for your loved ones in the event of the untimely passing of the primary family provider.

The Family Plan is Term Life Insurance so straightforward in concept and explained so fully in this booklet that we recommend buying it this easy, low cost way through the United States mail. And you can apply right from this Family Weekly booklet, but you must mail the application by January 31, 1973. Better yet, do it today!

During this limited enrollment period you, the readers of Family Weekly can apply for yourself and all eligible members of your family. However, to keep your policy in force, you must pay your premiums promptly when due. And you can continue to renew your policy until you're 70 years old without any proof of continued good health.

Turn Page for Low, Low Monthly Rates
How Can Rates Be So Low?
The answer is simple. The Family Life Insurance Plan was created for association members and employees to supplement their regular group life insurance. But now National-Ben Franklin is offering the same plan for mass enrollment of Family Weekly readers throughout the United States. Through mass enrollments, costs are kept very low and you get the most protection for the lowest possible rate.

NOW—JUST ASK YOURSELF THESE QUESTIONS

1. If you're self-employed, do you provide as much life insurance protection for yourself as you would expect if you worked for someone else?

   Your family protection needs may be even greater because of your higher standard of living. You can use our plan to provide this added protection.

   2. Will you still have your present coverage if you change jobs?

   You need to be sure you and your family are protected at all times. Our plan does not depend on where you are employed—it continues when you change jobs.

   3. Have you increased your life insurance in the past two years?

   Prices of everything (as well as your standard of living) keep rising, and coverage adequate a few years ago, just may not be enough today.

   4. Does your group life or other insurance also cover your wife?

   Money can't replace the love she gives to the family, of course, but money can help care for the children and your home if she isn't there.

   5. Does your group life insurance also cover your children? Are you making sure your children will be able to get life insurance when they start out on their own?

   Conditions of health could change so that your children are no longer insurable. This way they're guaranteed protection up to $10,000 each when they are age 29.

   If you answered "NO" to any of these questions, you and your family may need the low-cost, high benefit protection of the Family Life Insurance Plan that covers you and, if you wish, your wife and your children for one low monthly premium. To get these low family rates for your wife and children, however, you must also be insured under the plan.

   You Risk Nothing

   Even if you change your mind after you receive your Family Life Insurance Plan, just return your policy to us within 30 days of the time you receive it, and N-BF Life will promptly refund the money you've paid.

   So you risk nothing by applying today. But if you delay, your health conditions (or a family member's) could change suddenly and make it difficult or impossible to get life insurance anywhere, at any price.

   Mail Application Today

   Please mail your application today, so your protection can begin just as soon as possible.

   When you receive your policy, you'll see that it is simple, direct and easy to understand. Read it carefully and show it to a trusted advisor to make sure it's exactly what you've wanted and needed. If you change your mind for any reason whatever, simply return the policy within 30 days of receipt and your money will be refunded promptly.

1. Who is eligible to apply?

Anyone between 18 and 60 years of age who is in ordinary good health. Wives under age 60 and children from 15 days to 29 years old are also included for very little additional cost.

You can apply for up to $20,000 life insurance on yourself (the minimum is $10,000 but you can choose $15,000 or $20,000). You can add $5,000 for your wife or children ($10,000; $15,000; $20,000). And you can add $1,000 protection for each of your eligible children, no matter how many, for one low premium.

3. Why such low rates?

By mass enrollment throughout the country, sales costs are held to the lowest possible by savings passed along to you in lower premiums.

4. Is there any red tape?

None at all. Just answer each of the simple questions on the Application on the back page of this booklet and mail it with your first month's premium before the deadline. That's all there is to it.

5. Can I convert to Ordinary Life insurance?

Yes — ordinary life insurance accumulates cash value, but of course has higher premium costs. You may convert to the same or smaller amount of your coverage anytime up to age 65 without proof of insurability.

6. Can my wife convert her coverage?

Yes — anytime regardless of her health or occupation and without any physical examination, up to her age 65.

7. Can my children convert their coverage?

Yes — Your children are guaranteed the right at age 23 to convert their coverage to an amount up to 10 times coverage under the Family Life Plan. This can mean $10,000 of Ordinary Life Insurance regardless of their health or occupation and without any physical examination.

8. Can my insurance policy ever be cancelled?

Never — However, to keep your policy in force you must pay premiums when due. N.G.F. Life guarantees renewability up to age 70 without any proof of continued good health.

9. Can my rates be changed?

No — your premium rate can never be changed from the schedule shown on page 5 and will be shown in your policy. Each year your age determines your rate.

10. Why do I need this coverage if I have other insurance?

Ordinary life, annuity or other plans providing for retirement income are fine depending on what you want your insurance to accomplish. For pure protection however, this is the buy for you! And if your present insurance is group coverage, it probably doesn't cover your wife and

The Family Life Insurance Plan rates are so low to cover your wife and only 60¢ a month more to cover all your eligible children, that you can't afford not to insure them as well.
