4 Nixon Aides Convicted in Watergate Coverup

Ehrlichman Calls Verdict Political

By JANE DENISON

The verdict was returned in late afternoon after a three-month trial and exactly 10 hours of secret jury deliberations. In a New Year's Day climax to the greatest political scandal in U.S. history, a 12th defendant, campaign consultant Lawrence O'Brien, was acquitted.

The other four face the prospect of substantial prison terms.

Nixon's Comment Expected

United Press International Far East Bureau Chief Michael McFaul, Lawrence O'Brien, 28, a nephew of President Richard Nixon, was the fifth defendant to be tried and the last of five defendants in the Watergate coverup to go to trial. O'Brien, who was accused of conspiracy, wiretapping, perjury and other charges, was acquitted in the trial of his father, former Virginia Attorney General Melvin O'Brien.

O'Brien's acquittal came as a further blow to Nixon's political enemies. It was the first time in the trial that the jury had acquitted a defendant of the main charges.

O'Brien's acquittal was announced by the judge, Judge William W. Bryant, who said the jury found O'Brien not guilty of all charges.

The acquittal marked the end of a trial that lasted over 100 days.

O'Brien's defense attorney, John L. Stilson, said he was pleased with the outcome. "We're happy," he said. "We're happy with the verdict."

Fruit Tree Pruning Represents Important Chore

Eye On The Garden

Readily available tools, simple techniques, and a little common sense are all that is needed to ensure healthy fruit trees. This process involves training the tree to grow as desired and promoting shoot development. It is important to know which trees are best for the climate and soil conditions. The best way to know when and where to prune is to consult with a horticulture expert. This knowledge allows you to avoid damage and maintain the shape of the tree. By learning the proper techniques, you can ensure that your fruit trees remain healthy and productive.

Sex Differences Studied

The differences between men and women in the workplace have been long documented. However, the specific reasons for these differences have not been fully explored. A recent study conducted by researchers at the University of California, Berkeley, sheds light on the underlying factors that contribute to these disparities.

The study, titled "The Role of Gender in the Workplace: A Cross-Cultural Analysis," found that societal expectations and cultural norms play a significant role in shaping the behavior of men and women in the workplace. Women tend to be more conscientious and less likely to take risks, while men are more likely to be assertive and competitive.

The researchers also found that women are more likely to experience gender-related stress, which can affect their mental and physical health. The study recommends that organizations implement gender-neutral policies and provide equal opportunities for both men and women to thrive in the workplace.
