City Split On Sewer Line OK
By TERRY MAXON
Two Oklahoma City officials have disagreed on whether a proposed sewer line on a public property could be constructed without a proper easement.

Mayor Jerry West threw the idea of a proposed sewer line on the north side of the city to be contracted by the Public Works Department. The plan would require the city to pay for the construction of the sewer line.

The city has already received a proposal from a local contractor, who has agreed to build the sewer line at a cost of $250,000. However, the contractor has not yet obtained the necessary permits and easements to proceed with the construction.

West said that the city should proceed with the construction of the sewer line, even without the necessary permits and easements, because the project is needed for public safety reasons.

On the other hand, City Councilor Tom Winters said that the city should not proceed with the construction of the sewer line without the necessary permits and easements, because it could result in legal issues and potential lawsuits.

The issue has now been referred to the city's legal department for further review.

Weather Word

ON THE WAY:

A cold front is moving into the area, bringing with it a chance of snow and ice. The temperature is expected to drop significantly, so be prepared for slippery roads and reduced visibility.

Ong Sets Delivery Mark

On a recent survey conducted among customers, Ong's Delivery Mark scored the highest satisfaction rate, with an average rating of 4.5 stars. Customers praised the fast and reliable delivery service, as well as the friendly and professional drivers.

Save on Long Distance by Choosing When and How You Call.

For example, a three-minute call to a city in Oklahoma 100 airline miles away costs:

$1.20
$0.80
$0.70
$0.60
$0.55

That's one rate for a long-distance call, and the other is the same, all day and all time.

If you make a long-distance call, the way it's rated there is different.

As a result of recent changes in rates for long-distance calls in Oklahoma, the One-Plus call is a better buy than ever.

That's because there's a bigger difference now between rates for in-state One-Plus calls and operator-assisted calls.

So save money. Dial your calls to other Oklahoma cities the easy One-Plus way.
