Rest Of State Wheat May Go Overseas

By JOHN BROOKS
The Journal Biblical Times
There’s a good chance the rest of the state’s wheat crop will be exported, to keep prices up, for shipment overseas, said State Wheat, foreign trade specialist for the agency.

After studying the foreign market of the last few weeks, we have obtained the impression that the market is favorable for the export of wheat, said Ledwith.

The international market is at a premium for wheat, and this trend is expected to continue for the next several months. The export market is strong, and the demand for wheat is increasing. The international market is currently paying higher prices for wheat than the domestic market.

The state wheat crop is expected to be around 500,000 tons, with exports expected to be around 100,000 tons. The wheat will be primarily exported to Asian countries, particularly Japan and South Korea.
