$13.4 Million Tax Cut Wins House Approval

By JOHN GILLES
Of The Jerusalem Journal

Rejecting two amendment attempts, the House of Representatives passed yesterday by a 215-17 vote a measure that would provide state income tax relief to nearly 300,000 taxpayers.

This was the first year in many years in Oklahoma that these income tax provisions were extended, according to those who drafted the measure.

Over the years, this provision has been used to bolster the state's budget and provide tax relief to those who have been hit hardest by inflation.

The measure, which was introduced by Rep. John Smith, was designed to provide relief to those taxpayers who have been overcharged for state income taxes.

In its current form, the measure allows taxpayers to claim a credit for up to 10% of their state income tax liability, up to a maximum of $1,000.

The measure also allows taxpayers to claim a credit for up to 50% of their state income tax liability for the first $5,000 of state income taxes paid, up to a maximum of $5,000.

The measure was passed by the House with a vote of 215-17, with 44 Republicans, 13 Democrats, and 13 Independents voting in favor.

The bill now goes to the Senate for consideration.

Boycott Bars, ACOG Meet

By TERRY MASON
Of The Jerusalem Journal

For the second straight month, university students are planning a boycott of bars and restaurants in order to pressure the administration of the OU administration to reverse its decision to cut ties with ACOG, the association of national furriers and sheepskin manufacturers.

The students are demanding that the university sign a contract with ACOG, which they believe will help to protect the university's reputation and improve the quality of life for students.

The University of Oklahoma announced last month that it would no longer do business with ACOG, citing concerns about the company's policies and practices.

The students have called for a week of protests and demonstrations, including a picket line in front of the university administration building.

The university administration has not yet responded to the students' demands.

The measure was passed by the House with a vote of 82-15, with 49 Republicans, 17 Democrats, and 9 Independents voting in favor.

The bill now goes to the Senate for consideration.
