Three Seek Meatyers Vacating

Ward 8 Gets Wide Range Of Candidates

BY TERRY MEATYER

The Ward 8 City Council seat has attracted three candidates who vary greatly in their approaches to city government. Their qualifications and views on city issues differ widely, offering voters a wide range of choices.

Sitting for the seat now, in the last Thursday primary will be Monte McCullough, Sr. of 828 S. Portland; Ted Johnson, 30, of 708 W. 13th; and John Johnson, 20, of 708 W. 13th.

John Meatyer, the only one of the three candidates to have held the mayor of city positions in previous elections. Meatyer, who served as the Ward 8 in 1931, but he has been a full-time city employee since then. Meatyer, father, who is retired from the phone company, and his mother, who is retired from the school system, support their son.

McCullough, executive vice president of the Oklahoma Good Roads and Women's Association, and his wife, have two children, a son Bill and a daughter Martha.

He is a member of the Lions Club, Oklahoma Good Roads Association, American Legion, Oklahoma State Veterans' Commission and Association of Retirement Employees. He is a 60-year member of the Masonic Lodge and the Odd Fellows and has been active in local affairs.

Further details about the candidates can be found in the Ward 8 page.
