To Stay

Our summer weather and warm temperature are expected to continue for a few days, providing residents of the state with a pleasant spring day.

The following figures are as of the upper 40s and 50s, with some areas reaching the high 50s. The temperature is expected to remain in the same range through Thursday, with a slight increase expected on Friday and a high of 60s and 70s.

The next several days call for fair weather with cloudy and cool conditions. However, a front moving through Thursday will bring a chance of rain and temperatures will drop as the week progresses.

THE FELLOW at the office stopped at a railroad crossing, looked over, and then let the train proceed on its way.

State Ready Early
Bond Issue Payoff

BRIAN CLEVER

With the federal budget in deficit and the nation facing a potential economic downturn, the state is preparing to issue bonds to help finance the state's operations.

The bonds will be sold to investors through a process called "flotation," which involves the sale of bonds to a group of underwriters. The underwriters then sell the bonds to investors who are willing to buy them.

The state has been issuing bonds to help finance its operations since the 1930s, and the practice has become increasingly popular in recent years.

The bonds are sold in denominations of $500, $1,000, and $5,000.

DENIM STAKES A CLAIM

The Oklahoma Fashion Journal

by Elizabeth Hanley

There's no doubt that jeans have been around for quite some time. At least one of their original uses was by the railroad workers. The denim fabric was durable, strong, and could withstand the harsh conditions of the job. In the early 20th century, the popularity of jeans increased significantly, especially among young people. The design and style of jeans have evolved over the years, reflecting changing fashion trends and cultural movements.

The first pair of jeans were designed to be durable and comfortable for those who worked in rough environments. The denim fabric was chosen because of its strength and ability to withstand wear and tear. Over time, jeans became a popular everyday attire, not just for work but also for casual occasions.

Today, jeans come in various styles, colors, and fits, catering to different tastes and preferences. Whether it's a classic pair of Levi's or a trendy, fashionable look, jeans remain a staple in many people's wardrobes.

The popularity of jeans has also led to a shift in the fashion industry. Designers have incorporated denim into various collections, creating unique and stylish pieces. From high-end designer jeans to more affordable options, the denim fashion trend continues to be a prominent part of the fashion world.

In conclusion, jeans have come a long way from their humble beginnings to becoming a beloved and versatile piece of clothing. With their durability, comfort, and endless style possibilities, it's no wonder jeans have remained a favorite for so many years.

Moslems Mixed Over ‘Mohammed’

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — Paramount’s thespians are apparently getting in on the action. For several weeks now, the studio has been working on a film biography of the Prophet, Mohammed. The project has been in the works for a few months, and now it seems to have a definite future. The story of Mohammed, the first of the world, is scheduled to be released in the United States in early 1975.

The film, directed by John Huston, is being shot in Morocco. It stars Omar Sharif as the title role, with Jack Lemmon and Lee Remick as supporting actors. The film is being produced by Dino De Laurentiis and is distributed by 20th Century-Fox.

The film is expected to generate a great deal of controversy, particularly in the Muslim world. Some Muslim leaders have already expressed their reservations about the film, while others have welcomed it as a means of educating the world about the life and teachings of Mohammed.

The film’s portrayal of Mohammed’s life and teachings has been a controversial issue. Some Muslims have criticized the film for its depiction of Mohammed as a saintly figure, while others have praised it for its accuracy and depth.

The film’s release has been delayed several times due to technical difficulties and budget constraints. However, it is now scheduled to be released in the United States in early 1975.

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. Most people believe that success or failure depends on effort or luck.
2. The superstition that has the strongest hold on people is that it is bad luck to walk under a ladder.
3. People of higher education and intelligence tend to take a more law-abiding view of such beliefs as ESP, astrology, etc.
4. People whose boys have been in God's Department of Beliefs about lucky numbers are strongly influenced by what psychologists term the "seven phenomenon."
5. Almost half of the people in the U.S. believe there are angels... and you differ from one—see the other plane.

ANSWERS

1. True—although University of California studies of the attitudes and beliefs of tenured men and women from various social backgrounds. Most rated effort as the most important ingredient in determining success or failure. Luck was accorded the lowest rating.
2. True—according to the findings of a university study that surveyed a cross section of men and women. The belief in the efficacy of "smacking on wood"

Belief in the "Unknown":
How We Think

True or False: The superstition that has the strongest hold on people is that it is bad luck to walk under a ladder. (See number 2)

3. False. Studies on the belief in the supernatural, conducted by investigators at three leading universities, have shown that neither education nor a higher-than-average intelligence has a marked effect on belief in the supernatural. A further finding: Women as a whole were more literally disposed toward such beliefs than men.

4. False. A team of University of Michigan sociologists conducted a study that showed a significant decrease in church attendance over the last decade, the large majority of respondents—the majority of respondents—said they believed in God. A disturbing number, however, said they believed in life after death. The investigators also reported that "There were no significant changes in the proportion of people who said they considered their everyday decisions by what they thought God wants them to do.

5. True. Studies conducted at Florida State University showed that when people are questioned in their favorite or favorite or least favorite subject matter, they are more prone to false statements. The same interesting finding applies to a number of other institutions. Researchers at "The Mass Phenomenon" have been made on hundreds of subjects at other universities with similar results. But just why this should be is not hard to explain, but studies show that even children favor blue jeans.

6. True—according to a nationwide survey of men and women from various walks of life, which showed that most people feel that certain items were passed by a person being torn more resemblance to us. Thirty-eight percent didn’t believe there was much of a chance of selling the three items—shoes and a dresses, and 18 percent couldn’t make up their minds about the popularity of the plan. An interesting sidelight: the survey showed there were almost twice as many buyers among the college-educated as among those with only a grade-school education.

As the prices of food, clothing, and gasoline rise, it's time to plan ahead. To cut the cost of food by growing vegetables, there is a greenhouse you can build next spring. It's a greenhouse that can help you grow your own vegetables.

A backyard vegetable garden is hardly a new idea. During World War II, farmers had to grow their own food. Then when food became scarce, they turned to vegetables. They planted vegetables in their gardens and on their balconies. And today, vegetable gardens are still popular.

A greenhouse is a way to grow vegetables indoors. It's a way to control the temperature and humidity, to give you a year-round supply of fresh vegetables. You can grow tomatoes, cucumbers, and peppers. You can even grow bananas and pineapples in a greenhouse.

A greenhouse is not just for vegetables. It's also a place to grow flowers and house plants. You can grow orchids in a greenhouse. You can even grow pineapples and bananas in a greenhouse.
