Structure Approved For City Bicentennial

By DENIS DOMINO

The Oklahoma Journal

The Oklahoma City Council on Tuesday approved a resolution establishing the City of Oklahoma as a "City of the Century" in recognition of its 100th anniversary. The resolution was introduced by Councilman Steve Wilson, who said it was "an honor to be associated with this historic moment in our city's history." The resolution will be sent to the Oklahoma Centennial Commission for consideration.

Witness Tells Of Bank Deal

By GARY RYAN

A businessman who was involved in a failed bank deal at First National Bank of Oklahoma City testified Thursday that he was offered a bribe by a bank official.

In his testimony, the man said he was approached by a man who offered him $50,000 to help him get a loan. He said he refused the offer and reported it to the FBI.

The man, who could not be named for legal reasons, said he was offered a bribe by a bank official who was also a member of the local chamber of commerce.

Testimony Motivated

By DAVE JONES

The widow of a man who was killed in a workplace accident while working at a local manufacturing plant testified Thursday that the death of her husband had motivated her to speak out.

In her testimony, the widow said her husband had been working at the plant for 10 years before he died. She said the company had failed to provide the necessary safety equipment and had ignored numerous complaints about safety issues.

She said she had decided to speak out because she wanted to raise awareness about workplace safety and to prevent similar accidents from happening again.

Inquiry Hears 2 Accusers

By BILL GIBSON

The Oklahoma City Police Department has received two more accusers who said they were wrongfully identified as suspects in a recent rape case.

The department said it was working to determine if the accusers were legitimate and if there were any other cases in which they may have been wrongfully identified.
