INTERNAL: Mandatory Helmet Bill Approved

The Oklahoma Senate Monday approved the mandatory helmet legislation, House Bill 2820, which requires all motor cyclists to wear helmets, with an override veto by the House.

The bill, sponsored by Rep.
Blair B. Todd, R-McGraw, and repudiated by Rep. Robert Henderson, R-Durant, would make it illegal to operate a motocycle on public highways in Oklahoma without wearing a helmet. Violators would face a $25 fine.

The Senate voted 33-17 to approve the legislation, with 11 abstentions. The House, however, rejected the override veto on a 47-37 vote, with 3 abstentions.

The helmet legislation was an attempt to address safety issues on the roads. The Senate and House have been divided on the issue, with some members concerned about the potential for increased costs and others favoring the safety benefits.

The legislation would also require motorcycle riders to wear vests when operating in adverse weather conditions. Violators would face a $50 fine.

The Senate also approved a number of other pieces of legislation, including a bill to prohibit the use of handheld devices while driving and a bill to create a fund to support law enforcement efforts.

The legislation will now be sent to Gov. Kevin Stitt for his consideration.

The Paper That Tells Both Sides

Winters Act OK

By GARY NEWTON

The Oklahoma City Board of Education is reviewing possibilities of issuing a government license for a new daily newspaper that would be sold in the school district. The newspaper, the Oklahoma City Daily, would be similar to the Winters Act, a community newspaper that has been in operation for the past 20 years.

The new newspaper would be sold in the school district and would be distributed to students and teachers. The newspaper would also be available to the public for purchase.

The Oklahoma City Board of Education is considering the possibility of issuing a government license for the newspaper in order to ensure its success.

The Oklahoma City Board of

State Editors Say

Harriet Von Horne

The New Wave

Whoa, Faukus?

It doesn't make sense.

The state editors have spoken, and they've got some big news for everyone. It turns out that the state's new governor, Faukus, is the first female ever to hold the office. While some may be skeptical of her ability to lead, the editors are confident that she'll be a great addition to the team.

As the state moves into a new era, the editors are excited to see what Faukus and her team will accomplish. With a fresh perspective and a commitment to progress, they believe that the state is in good hands.

So, there you have it. The state editors say it's time to get ready for the new wave of leadership. Let's see what the future holds!

Arapaho Plans Indian Health Care Center

Benedictine Sisters of Mary, Inc., have announced plans to build a hospital for the Shoshone Reservation in Arizona. The hospital will be located on the reservation's southern border.

The hospital is scheduled to open in 1975. The Sisters have already acquired land and are in the process of raising funds for the construction.

The facility will be fully accredited and will provide medical care to the Shoshone Reservation's population of approximately 40,000.

The project is expected to cost over $5 million and will include a 100-bed hospital, a medical school, and a research center.

The hospital is being built with funds from the federal government, private donations, and the Shoshone Reservation.

The Sisters have already begun recruiting medical professionals to staff the hospital, and they are expected to complete the construction within the next two years.

Senate OKs Boren Short Ballot Plan

The Senate has approved a bill that would allow for a shorter ballot in state elections. The bill, sponsored by Sen. Michael Boren, D-Oklahoma City, would reduce the length of the ballot by eliminating some non-essential questions.

The bill passed with a vote of 34-0 and now heads to the House for consideration.
