Firemen Fight Police Tax

BY TERRY MANUS

The Oklahoma City Fire Department on Thursday afternoon began a formal petition drive to try to override the police department's voter-approved tax increase. The fire department's petition drive will begin at the same time as the police department's, but will run concurrently until the April 11 election.

The petition drive will focus on the issue of the police department's proposed tax increase, which was approved by voters in the November election. The fire department is seeking to gather signatures from 30,000 registered voters in Oklahoma City to place a proposal on the ballot to override the police department's tax increase.

The petition drive will be led by fire department president John Smith, who said he expects to have the petition ready for signatures by the end of the week. The petition drive will be supported by the Oklahoma City Fire Fighters Association, which has been active in recent years in opposition to the police department's proposed tax increases.

The police department has launched its own petition drive to gather signatures in favor of the police department's tax increase. The police department has said it needs the additional funds to fund new hires, technology upgrades, and other initiatives.
