ROGERS DEFIES HOUSE PROBERS

Education Bill Passed

BY HOWARD DAYRE

The Senate passed a $1.4 billion education bill with $1.4 billion in new money, including a stimulus to give every public school its share in the state as a percent of its property valuation, but the House failed to pass the bill.

The Senate passed the bill in a vote of 34-13, with one Senator absent.

The House, which was unable to override the Senate's rejection of the bill, voted 35-33, with one vote deferred.

The bill, which was the House's response to the Senate's rejection of the bill, would have provided $1.4 billion in new money for education, including $1.4 billion in new money for the state's public schools.

Puzzle Solution

Eludes 11,000

More than 11,000 readers had tried to solve the puzzle in the newspaper.

All failed, due to either choosing only two words, or choosing four words. In each case, two of the chosen words were not correct.

The puzzle was set by the newspaper's editor, who had chosen the words carefully to ensure that the solution would be difficult to find.

Weather

Bill Hikes Court Fees

The coming of the summertime brings a series of changes to the everyday life of the people. The weather gets warmer, the days get longer, and the nights become shorter. This increase in daylight can lead to an increase in outdoor activities, providing more opportunities for entertainment and relaxation. It's a great time to enjoy the outdoors and make the most of the warm weather.

With the summer season upon us, it's important to be prepared for the expected changes. One way to do this is by planning ahead. By creating a schedule or to-do list, individuals can stay organized and focused on their goals. Additionally, planning for future events or activities can help to reduce stress and prevent last-minute rushes.

In terms of weather, it's essential to stay informed and prepared. Monitoring the forecast and keeping emergency supplies on hand can help to ensure safety during unexpected storms or other weather-related incidents. By taking the time to plan and prepare, individuals can make the most of the summer season and enjoy all that it has to offer.

New Racing Class Set For Ponca City Prix

When the Ponca City Grand Prix is held July 4, a new and exciting racing class will be featured. The 100-mile race over the 5.5 mile course of the new dirt circuit track will be presented by the Ponca City Chamber of Commerce. The event is scheduled for the afternoon of July 4. The course is designed to accommodate all classes of cars.

The tour is a new division that will be added to the existing schedule at the Ponca City Grand Prix. This new division will feature cars that are specifically designed for track racing. The cars will be classified into two categories: Grand Prix and Sports Car. The Grand Prix category will feature high-performance vehicles with engine displacements of at least 3.0 liters. The Sports Car category will include cars with engines no larger than 2.5 liters.

The tour will feature a variety of races, including sprints, sports car races, and 100-mile races. The races will be held on the new dirt track, which is designed to provide a challenging and exciting course for drivers.
