If Impeachment Comes, Rogers To Cry foul

By RICHARD COUSE

Dundie Capitulizes

If impeachment were to become a reality, it would mean the end of John Rogers's career as Speaker of the House. Rogers, a Republican, has been a key figure in the impeachment proceedings against President Clinton. However, Rogers is not expected to support the impeachment resolution. In fact, he has been quoted as saying that he would vote against it. The reason for his decision is unclear, but some political analysts speculate that Rogers may be concerned about the impact of the impeachment on his own political career.

City Survey Shows Home Finance Rates Vary

In all states, the banks have their own rates on home loans. The rates vary widely from state to state, and even in some cases within a state. The survey found that the lowest rates were in the West and the highest rates were in the East. The survey also found that the rates on home loans were higher for larger loans than for smaller loans.

Disclosure Law Aids Home Buyers

In most states, home buyers have access to a disclosure law that protects their interests. The law requires sellers to disclose any known defects or problems with the property. The law also requires sellers to provide the buyer with a copy of the disclosure statement before the sale is completed.

Home Canning Time Begins

With the arrival of autumn, the time has come for home canning to begin. There are many different types of fruits and vegetables that can be canned, and the process is relatively simple. However, it is important to follow proper canning techniques to ensure that the food is safe to eat.

Some Like Its Music

By STEVE HOFFMAN
Of The Journal Staff

The Bee Gees - Barry, Maurice and Robin Gibb - have performed professionally in 1967 at the Gasenbergs Theatre in Manchester, England, for 20 years now.

Now the three brothers earn thousands of dollars for one-night stints and stadium tours from their albums, which have revolutionized the music industry almost as much as the Beatles' music.

The brothers' interest in music "comes from an early exposure to Australian music," said Maurice.

"Some of our records were made in Australia where we went when Brian Epstein," Maurice said.

After meeting Spitz - who was the manager of the Beatles and their first manager in 1966 - things began to happen in the Bee Gees.

"We've made all of our records since then," Maurice said. "It was during the time when the power was in and everybody thought it was kind of sickly rock."

During the first two weeks of the first recording was played on American radio stations, disc jockeys didn't even ask the group to play the song.

"We were thought to be the Beatles," Maurice said. "We got to have them (the Beatles) when we opened with them."

"The Bee Gees had to be brought out at the time because they were different from the Beatles."

"The differences was the orchestration the Bee Gees used, which has been their trademark and influence on everyone."

Maurice said the group was somewhat influenced by Neil Sedaka and Chuck Berry.

"At the time the Americans were influencing the English, but that changed in the English when they heard the American music."

"This is not the music we're playing," Maurice said.

"The Bee Gees have really made it in America," he said. "It's a lot more exciting here. The reviews have been marvelous."

The majority of the Bee Gees music, Maurice said, is written by Barry and Robin. But "Main Course" is a "mixture of the two."

The Bee Gees are presently touring the country and plan to play in all cities in three months. They are scheduled to perform at Civic Center Music Hall June 5.

Maurice said he and his brothers have no "bad memories" of concerts they have presented in the U.S. The Bee Gees' first favorite city is Los Angeles, Maurice said.

"We didn't know what we were doing," he said. "They brought the military out to force the crowd and the kids couldn't sit down and enjoy themselves."

Schulzy Stars In Lincoln Plaza Comedy

By NANCY GILSON

It's a coup for the theater on the corner of Main and Main. They've got a hit on their hands: "The Schulzy Show," starring Schulzy the Comedian, who's been entertaining audiences for years. The show is a hit because Schulzy is a natural performer, with a great sense of timing and delivery.

The show features a variety of acts, from stand-up comedy to impressions and skits. Schulzy's humor is clean and family-friendly, making it suitable for all ages.

The theater is family-owned, and the owners are thrilled to have such a popular show. They're planning to run the show for at least another month, depending on the demand.

Alan Alda—most popular man on TV for the second year—photographed especially for FAMILY WEEKLY by his wife, Arlene Alda
FOR WILLIAM E. SIMON, Secretary of the Treasury

Why are you so optimistic that the recession will end this year?—Eleanor Whitaker, Westport, Conn.

"Because we've already seen the first patches of blue come up after three months in a row. With inflation receded and wage growth modest, monetary policy is getting more con-tractive, Congress is voting lower, which undermines the housing industry. Government policy is shifting all the fiscal support to individual state and local governments. This is why the recession will end this year."

FOR SHIRLEY MAXWELL, author of "You Can Get Those Fees Here"

You seem to be more active than ever. How do you relax, and how often do you get away from the family?—A.L., Atlantic, N.Y.

"I prefer the quieter and more sedentary. It doesn't mean I'm not an active person, but it's just that I'm more comfortable with things that are quieter and more relaxing. When I do get away from the family, I usually go to the beach or to a quiet retreat where I can read and meditate."

FOR EDGAR BERGER

What pet are you interested in adopting?—G.S., Van Nuys, Calif.

"I'm interested in adopting a cat. I find that cats are very low maintenance and can be very rewarding pets. They can also provide a lot of companionship and can help reduce stress."

FOR RIC O. SIMPSON, football player

In the book "Take It Easy," Howard Keel says you decided to quit pro football and ended up as a movie star. True?—William Connolly, Rockport, Mass.

"That's true. I was tired of the grind of pro football and wanted to pursue a different career. I started working in the movies and eventually ended up as a movie star."

FOR VERA LUEE, help center director

Does it upset you when your mother's娒ê extended family seems to make demands on you, but you're the one who is always doing the work and taking care of everyone?—V.D., San Diego, Calif.

"It doesn't upset me, but it does make me realize that I need to set boundaries and take care of myself. I'm a strong woman, and I won't allow anyone to take advantage of me."

FOR THE ASK THEM YOURSELF EDITOR

Is it true that Down East is headquartered in Boston?—J.B., West

"It is true that Down East is headquartered in Boston. The company was founded by two brothers who grew up in Maine, and they wanted to create a magazine that reflected the culture and spirit of the state."

FOR ISABELLE MEYERS, music director

Do you prefer classical music or jazz?—G.L., Los Angeles, Calif.

"I enjoy both classical and jazz music. Each genre has its own unique beauty and can evoke different emotions. It really depends on the mood of the moment and what I'm in the mood for.

FOR HUGH D. SMITH, author of "Papa Was a Rodeo"

What did you do with your first big paycheck?—P.M., Phoenix, Ariz.

"I bought a new car and a nice watch. I also took my family on a vacation to Hawaii."

FOR JUDY FERGUSON, actress

Do you believe that Washington and the Nixon administration have a responsibility to account for their actions in any way?—M.F., Alexandria, Va.

"Yes, I believe that they should be held accountable for their actions. The Watergate scandal was a dark chapter in American history, and it's important that we learn from it and ensure that it doesn't happen again."

FOR VERNE CARL

As a Christian, did you experience any persecution as a child?—S.R., Montgomery, Ala.

"I experienced some persecution as a child, but I don't want to dwell on that. What I want to focus on is the positive aspects of my faith and the support I received from my family and community."

Talks About His World, the "Occult"—And His Painful Childhood

By Helen Dorsey

What interests me is scientific work that's done on the borderline between the known and the unknown. All that stuff is pushing its way into what's measurable. Now it's just a question of when it will get there.

Alda's books on science are black with lesson plans. What you see is only a fraction of his many other activities. His wife, Arlene, is a jewelry designer, and their three daughters, Evie, 16, Elizabeth, 14, and Beauregard, 11.

Alan Alda was born in New Jersey, a town of about 10,000, a suburb of New York City. He grew up there, but much of his early life was spent in New York City, where he went to school, and in Hollywood, where he spent most of his time. His parents were both actors, and he was often taken to the studio by his father, who was a director. He was a good student, but he was also interested in science. He read a lot of science fiction, and he was fascinated by the idea of space travel. He was also interested in the occult, and he read a lot of books on that topic. He was a good student, but he was also interested in science. He read a lot of science fiction, Natural food fiber: How important is it to your health?

Recent observations suggest fiber in the diet may be of greater value than previously thought.

NEW INTEREST IN FIBER

Who’s all this sudden interest in natural food fiber? Why are there major articles on it in many newspapers and magazines? The answer comes from recent observations indicating dietary fiber and how it may affect health. Essentially, they’re saying something we’ve been saying since natural food fiber was first realized to be of great importance to the digestive system.

IMPACT OF THE DIET

Right now, there’s a lot of research on dietary fiber. But no one can pinpoint exactly all of the benefits of all forms of fiber. Measurable evidence is difficult to obtain. The only thing anyone agrees on is that fiber is in great importance to keeping your digestive system working smoothly.

SOURCES OF FIBER

With recent changes in eating habits, evidence suggests that many Americans aren’t getting the food fiber they need. In spite of the fact that fiber-filled foods such as wheat, especially the bran portion, are easily available.

VITAMINS BLESSED WITH TAXES

Kellogg’s All-Bran and Kellogg’s Bran Buds are two cereals that have been blessed with taxes. The bran portion of wheat, which includes the outer bran layer and bran itself, is filled with vitamins and minerals. All-Bran and Bran Buds also have a distinctive taste that has been enjoyed by people of all ages. It almost tastes as if it were a seasoned meat or sauce. People who eat bran are satisfied with it because it is easy to digest. It is a good source of fiber and has been shown to be a good source of vitamins and minerals.

RELATION TO HEALTH

If you’re interested in losing weight, including these two bran cereals as part of your diet.

"There Are a Lot of Great Athletes..."

By Sportscaster Jane Chastain

As told to Francine Schmit

Jane Chastain, the leading lady of television sports broadcasting, has covered major on events for ABC, NBC, and CBS. Now, in an exclusion interview for FAMILY WEEKLY, the celebonous personality talks about the six athletes she follows the most.

KYLE ROTE, JR., has to be on my list of atheletes. Certainly he is one of the most outstanding athletes of the decade. He brought success to the Dallas Cowboys. As a superb all-around athlete, he has demonstrated that he can be a top quarterback and an excellent running back.

One question I ask about football is why athletes become such successes in some areas but not others. After interviewing Kyle for this story, the question remains unanswered.

Some sportsmen describe Choker as a disgust, but I don’t think the Dallas Cowboys are the same without him.

Choker has a unique set of values, which are totally dedicated to his sport, and playing a game of honest, physical football.

How you can Collect from Social Security at any age!

By Claude Hopkins

Would you like to know exactly how much money you have invested in Social Security right at your fingertips? Then you will be interested in this article which tells you how to get the most out of the Social Security benefits you have earned. It was written by a man who has spent years studying the Social Security system and has written numerous articles on the subject. He has also worked as a consultant to the Social Security Administration, and has helped many people maximize their Social Security benefits.

As you know, Social Security benefits are based on your earnings record. The amount of benefits you receive depends on your average indexed monthly earnings (AIME) and your age at retirement. The table below shows the percentages of the AIME that are paid as benefits at various ages.

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Age at Retirement</th>
<th>Percentage of AIME</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>62</td>
<td>71%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>65</td>
<td>83%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>70</td>
<td>100%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

To qualify for Social Security benefits, you must have worked for at least 10 years. The amount of money you receive is determined by your earnings during those years. The more money you earned, the more money you will receive.

Social Security benefits are paid in equal monthly installments. If you are entitled to benefits at age 62, you can start receiving them at any time between ages 62 and 70. If you wait until age 70 to begin receiving benefits, you will receive a higher benefit amount each month.

If you have any questions about Social Security benefits, please contact your local Social Security office. They can provide you with detailed information about how to apply for benefits, what documents you need to provide, and how your benefits will be calculated.
