CONVICTS HALT GRANITE REVOLT

Inmate Gripe Voiced

S. JOHN GILLIE

The Journal Staff

GRANITE - 'There was no progress,' there were always remains in a prison - that Wednesday would bring to the inmates. It was the first time that the inmates of Granite had made a strike, and the Granite prisoners had protested about their living conditions.

"We were told that we had to go to work," one of the inmates said.
"But we were never paid for our work."

"We were never given any food," another inmate said.
"We were never given any clothing."

"We were never given any medical attention," a third inmate said.
"We were never given any education."

Energy Blessing In Disguise?

The United States is certainly one of the most energy-intensive nations on the planet, with a per capita energy consumption that is among the highest in the world. In recent years, there has been a growing concern about the sustainability of our current energy practices, particularly given the increasing awareness of the impact of climate change. The debate over energy policies has become more intense, with some arguing for increased dependence on fossil fuels and others advocating for a transition to renewable energy sources.

The issue of energy policy is complex and multifaceted, involving not only environmental and economic considerations but also geopolitical and social factors. The United States has a significant role to play in shaping global energy governance, and the choices made by the country will have implications for the world as a whole. It is crucial for policymakers to balance the need for energy security with the imperative of reducing greenhouse gas emissions and transitioning to a more sustainable energy system.

Ford Finds A Future!

WASHINGTON, DC - Ford Motor Company announced today that it has developed a revolutionary new technology that will revolutionize the automobile industry. The technology, known as the "MiniCam 9," is a compact, lightweight camera that can be integrated into the car's interior to provide real-time video surveillance. The system is designed to enhance the driving experience by providing drivers with a comprehensive view of their surroundings.

The MiniCam 9 is the result of a multi-year research project conducted by Ford's advanced technology division. The company has invested over $1 billion in the development of this technology, which is expected to be commercially available within the next two years.

"We are excited to introduce the MiniCam 9 to the world," said John Doe, vice president of advanced technology at Ford. "This technology represents a significant advancement in the field of automotive electronics, and we believe it will revolutionize the way we drive."

Counties Given $1.2 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) - The State Board of Education has awarded $1.2 million in grants to 12 counties for the construction of new buildings or the enlargement of existing ones.

The grants, which are part of the state's educational facilities program, will be used to build new classrooms, libraries, and science laboratories. The recipients were selected based on their needs and the quality of their educational programs.

The counties receiving the grants are:
- Orange County
- Leon County
- Polk County
- Hillsborough County
- Pasco County
- Pinellas County
- Manatee County
- Sarasota County
- Collier County
- Monroe County
- Levy County
- Gilchrist County

Each county will receive a grant of $100,000 to $200,000. The grants will be matched by local funds, bringing the total project costs to approximately $2.4 million.

The state education board also approved a $1 million grant for the construction of a new high school in Tallahassee. The new school will provide additional classroom space for the growing student population.

The grants are intended to improve educational facilities and help meet the needs of students in the state's growing population.
