Bellmon Urges Full Report On CIA

The Suche for Justice in the Assassination of Robert F. Kennedy goes on. John F. Kennedy's brother, Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy was slain by Sirhan Sirhan on March 30. Now the C.I.A. is being probed, not for the assassination itself, but for its role in the CIA's efforts to stymie the anti-war movement.

The House Select Committee on Intelligence has begun investigating the CIA's activities in the anti-war movement. The committee is chaired by Representative Richard Gephardt, a Democrat from Missouri. The CIA has already provided the committee with documents detailing its efforts to suppress anti-war activism.

The CIA's efforts to suppress anti-war activism have been documented in previous hearings. The committee has already heard testimony from former CIA employees who testified that the CIA used a variety of tactics to suppress anti-war activism, including surveillance, harassment, and even physical violence.

The committee is expected to release its final report in June. The report is likely to include recommendations for reforms to the CIA's anti-war activities.

PROtheses - Congressional investigators have probed the case of the "Philippine Affair." The price tag for the investigation is enormous. According to preliminary estimates, the cost of the investigation will be around $50 million, with the bulk of the funds going to the commission staff. The commission has been accused of exceeding its budget and of engaging in excessive travel and entertainment expenses. The investigation has also raised questions about the role of the State Department in the affair.

Off-Beat Energy Suggests Come In

By W. C. Henry

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) -- The nation's energy experts are on the alert for a new wave of ingenuity in the nation's energy picture. The approach of the New Year has brought a notable increase in the number of proposals for innovative and unorthodox methods of generating power.

The most striking of these is the idea of using the energy of the human body. A group of scientists, led by Dr. John G. Bleak, has developed a new device that can extract energy from the body's metabolic processes. The device, known as the "Biotherm," has been tested successfully on laboratory animals and shows promise for use in human applications.

Another innovation is the "Solar Wind" device, developed by Dr. Harry P. Smith. This system captures energy from the wind and converts it into electricity. It is designed to be installed on rooftops and can provide a substantial amount of power for small buildings.

A third idea is the "Geothermal Heat Pump," which uses the earth's heat to provide heating and cooling. This technology has been used extensively in Europe and is now being explored in the United States.

Energy officials are optimistic about the potential of these new approaches, but they caution that much more research is needed before they can be widely applied. However, the energy experts are confident that the nation's energy needs will be met in the coming year.

Del City Budgets New Revenue Sharing Funds

The Del City budget for the upcoming fiscal year includes substantial new revenue from the federal government's revenue sharing program. The funds will be used to improve local infrastructure and to support community programs.

The revenue sharing program is a federal initiative that distributes funds to local governments based on their population and economic needs. Del City's allocation is expected to be one of the largest in the state.

The city council has approved a plan to use the funds to construct a new city hall and to improve the city's parks and recreation facilities. The council has also earmarked funds for a new community center and for the expansion of the local library.

The revenue sharing funds will also support a variety of social programs, including a new preschool program and a new senior citizen center. The council has expressed its commitment to using the funds to improve the quality of life for all residents of Del City.
