Orbach's will only have two general clearance sales a year. You're invited to the first one.

Although it might not look like one, this is a sale ad. And if you're wondering about the list of merchandise and the list of prices, you won't find them, without a doubt. Instead, here's what we'll like you to know about our clearance sale. We schedule only two general clearance sales a year for two very good reasons: First, because we follow the current fashion trends, our merchandise is selected strictly for volume, but for individual style. This results in an excellent selection of many items and brands for you, but not the same items we advertised at a few dollars lower.

Secondly, by limiting our clearance sales to only two events a year, we eliminate the problem of a valued customer buying merchandise at the regular price one day only to see the same items advertised at a few days later.

None of our clothing stores will advertise a sale but not the extras you've come to expect. These include our excellent credit cards or your own Orbach's account. And so on. We want you to be as satisfied with your sale purchase as you would be buying an item at regular price. So you won't feel as though our standards have dropped, because we're lowering the price.

These reasons make it clear that you don't need a clearance sale or prices that are so low to pay us a visit. It will give us the opportunity to show you our fine clothing in the perfect setting. And it will give you the opportunity to save some money.

And for those of you who still prefer the traditional sale ad with merchandise and prices, just remember reductions from 20% to 50% off. This sale includes the Boys Store at 50 Penn Place and the Menswear at Crossroads.

Investor-Owned Hospitals

The recent decision by the federal government to allow investor-owned hospitals in the U.S. to perform more operations than before may be seen as a step in the right direction. However, it is important to consider the potential drawbacks of this policy. Investor-owned hospitals may prioritize profits over patient care, leading to higher costs and lower quality care for patients. Additionally, the influx of investor-owned hospitals into the market may lead to increased competition and decreased service quality for existing hospitals. It is crucial for policymakers to carefully monitor the impact of this policy and ensure that patient outcomes are prioritized.

Paul Harvey
Harnessing Body Heat

In his recent column, Paul Harvey discussed the potential of harnessing body heat for energy production. The concept is intriguing, as it has the potential to impact various industries, including healthcare and transportation. However, there are several challenges to be overcome, such as the efficient extraction and utilization of body heat, and the development of safe and practical technologies to enable widespread adoption. Further research and development in this area could lead to significant advancements in sustainability and energy production.

State Editors Say

Victims Would Gain Wisely Trade

A recent editorial by state editors suggests that victims of crimes should be given the option to participate in plea bargains. While this idea has the potential to benefit victims by allowing them to have a say in the outcome of their cases, it also raises concerns about the potential for victim exploitation. It is important to carefully consider the implications of such a policy and ensure that it is implemented in a way that respects the rights and needs of all involved parties.

U.S. Achievements, Failures Unique

The journalist's perspective on the U.S. presents a mixed picture. While there are achievements to celebrate, such as the technological advancements and cultural contributions, there are also significant failures, including social and economic inequalities. It is important to acknowledge and address these failures to ensure a more inclusive and equitable society. The journalist's analysis provides valuable insights into the complexities of the U.S. and the challenges it faces.

It makes good sense for your family to own cemetery property before it is needed...

Consisted families today buy wisely including the purchase of cemetery property in plans for the economic and family security. They have seen what has been done in the business of buying land for a place of rest. They would not delay today that the family and friends of a deceased have a memorial site secured, before it is needed.

The Own Purchase Every Family Must Make

Perhaps you feel you're too young to think about a memorial plot now. Nothing could be farther from the truth. "There's plenty of time for that," but consider the advantages of having it in advance of need. You and your family can discuss your preferences, economically together. You buy less than you can ever imagine, but can budget your payments. Permanent care is included in the price of every plot. Your final resting place is conveniently located. Arlington Memory Gardens and you eliminate needless risks to your family's security and your own peace of mind.

Gimmicky Games Replace Quizzes With Gee Whizzes

By TOM SALLIS
The Washington Post

Ladies and gentlemen, you've been a real help in game shows. There's almost nothing encouraging about it when you see a TV show grow into an automatic, unvarying routine. The new TV game show may be new, and there's never been a more enjoyable time, and it is the most enjoyable game ever had, but there's a lot of room for improvement.

Perhaps the most obvious improvement is in the actual game itself. The new game show reflects the best and least of the games that have come before, and it seems to be a more enjoyable time than any other game ever before. The game is called "Gimmicky Games," and it is the latest in the long line of "Gimmick" games that have been so popular in the past.

The game is played by two players, and it is a variation of the classic "Put the Pieces Together" game. The object of the game is to complete a puzzle by placing the pieces in the correct order. The player who completes the puzzle first wins the game.

The game is played on a large board, which is divided into sections by rows and columns. Each section contains a set of pieces that must be placed in the correct order to complete the puzzle. The player who completes the puzzle first wins the game.

The game is designed to be played by two players, but it can also be played by a team of players. The game is played on a large board, which is divided into sections by rows and columns. Claudia Starke

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - "The President's Speech," a hit movie released by United Artists, is not the only one to draw on the theme of the day. The film stars Ronald Reagan, who has been a regular fixture on the silver screen for many years. The movie, which was released in December, features a script that is based on the real-life speech that was given by President Reagan at the University of California at Los Angeles in 1979.

Claudia Starke, left, who stars as "President's Daughter," said the role is to supply the rhythm to a phrase.

Bob Roberts, left, head of "President's Daughter," also stars as "President's Message," which features a team of comedians and two semi-professional players. The game show hosts are all nice and women are, at least, their wheeling or defining assistants and, finally, in the broadcast, teenagers can play the game show or materialist chal

The president's speech can help the audience understand that the game show is a real way to make money and to be famous. The game show is a way to make money and to be famous.

The Bard's on Boards at Warehouse

Warehouse Theatre is doing Shakespeare, but it's a far-flew Elizabethan production with many new approaches. "It's a very relaxed, contemporary play, with all of the Elizabethan atmosphere," director Rick Bailey said of "Romeo and Juliet." The production features a cast of five, including a modern twist on some of the classic characters. The play is presented in a modern setting, with a focus on the emotions and relationships of the characters. The production features live music and dance, with a mix of traditional and contemporary music. The performance is directed by Rick Bailey, with music and stage design by David John, and choreography by Sandy Fink. The production runs through July 15, with performances Wednesdays to Saturdays at 8 p.m. and Sundays at 2 p.m. Tickets are available online or at the box office. For more information, visit the Warehouse Theatre website or call 502-588-7878.

In New York City, near Central Park, a group of local musicians and artists gathered to celebrate the life and career of the late musician Rex East. The event, called "Rex East: A Celebration of Life and Music," was held at the Icon Club and featured performances from some of Rex's closest friends and collaborators. The evening included a mix of music styles, from rock to jazz, and featured a variety of artists, including Rex's former bandmate, guitarist John McLaughlin. The event was attended by family, friends, and fans of Rex East, who were all united in their appreciation of his music and his lasting influence on the music world. The event was a beautiful tribute to Rex East, and a fitting way to celebrate his legacy.

I demand two things from my cigarette.

I want a cigarette with low tar and nicotine. But I also want taste. That's why I smoke Winston Lights. I get lighter cigarette but I still get real tobacco. And a real pleasure. Only Winston gives me all that Western Lights.

Ladies—Try Cooling It!
First We Gave Advice to Husbands: Now It's the Wives Turn...

By Dr. Alexandra Symonds
with Jean Hattner Helmman

A few months ago in FAMILY WEEKLY, Dr. Symonds and I wrote an article suggesting that husbands learn how to repair a broken friendship or marriage before getting into another one. Our advice was that husbands should know how to handle their friends in a way that is helpful to them and to the other people in their lives. We also suggested that husbands should try to be more understanding and patient with each other, and to communicate openly and honestly with each other. We believed that if husbands could learn how to handle their friends, they would be more successful in handling the challenges of marriage.

But we have also learned that it is just as important for wives to be able to handle their friends and to communicate openly and honestly with each other. Wives often have to deal with the same challenges that husbands do, and they need to be able to handle these challenges in a way that is helpful to them and to their partners.

I hope that you will be able to use the advice that we have given to husbands to help you handle your friends in a way that is helpful to you and to your partners. I also hope that you will be able to communicate openly and honestly with each other, so that you can work together to solve any problems that you may encounter.

If you ever feel that your husband is not listening to what you are saying, or if he is not taking your feelings into account, you should try to talk to him about it. You should try to explain to him how you feel, and what you would like him to do to help you.

I hope that you will be able to handle your friends and to communicate openly and honestly with each other, so that you can work together to solve any problems that you may encounter.
At last! Doctor reveals new 6-days-a-week diet that Doesn't Just Shrink Fat Cells, But Destroys Them!

Controversial? Yes! But it may also be the most important reducing discovery of our day. Because here at last is a simple diet that doesn't just empty out the contents of those ugly fat cells, distributed all over your body...but can actually destroy, in case after case, the fat-cells themselves!

From Greece:

Delicious, Money-Saving Moussaka

Mediterranean Moussaka is a homosexual delight that you should want to make into a "special" for your family.

MEATLESS MOUSAKA

1. Preheat oven to 375.Ball ground beef into a 9-inch loaf pan. Bake for 1 hour.
2. Cool until warm. Add rice, meat, and egg mixture to the meat loaf pan. Bake for 1 hour.
3. While baking, make a sauce by cooking 1 cup of chopped onions, 2 cups of diced tomato sauce, and 1 cup of chopped green pepper in the oven. Add salt and sugar to taste. Serve over the meat loaf.

Our cigarette is More.

Put your cigarette against it.

Compare your cigarette to ours and you'll find that ours is More. The first 120 millimeter cigarette. More in every way except price.

Long, long and burnished brown, More has more style. It has more flavor. It has more. Over 50% more puffs than a 100mm cigarette. Yet More doesn't cost more. And whether you smoke regular or menthol cigarettes, you can get more going for you. Because both More and More Menthol deliver quality like you've never experienced before.

They smoke sooner and draw easier for more enjoyment. They're more flavorful. Yet they're surprisingly mild.

They're More. More and More Menthol. They sit next in your hand like they were made for it and fit your face like they found a home.

True or False? If you are missing a 200mm cigarette who is habitually tense and anxious, you should use to be concerned about paying you back as promised—he is in the worrying type and it is given him often if he doesn't pay promptly. (See number 41)

True or False? If an acquaintance you don't want to offend goes for a ride with you, there isn't much you can do about it.

If you make a personal loan to someone and he doesn't pay it back when promised, it's easy to put the pressure on him for payment without sounding harsh. For example:

Before you lend a $50 note to someone, get his hand in your pocket from several things you should consider:

4. If you lose money in a person who is technically tense and anxious, you seldom have to be concerned about getting your money back as promised—he is in the worrying type and it is given him often if he doesn't pay promptly.

5. You never think of a person, the more you are likely to avoid putting him under pressure to pay by considering his money.

ANSWERS

3. False. One of the best ways to keep your money safe is to keep it in a safe deposit box at the bank. Make sure it is locked, well hidden and well locked. But keep your money on you. That's the way.

4. True. You have to think about how you would handle the situation. What you do is important. You have to think about how you would handle your money and what you would do to pay back the loan. What you do is important. You have to think about how you would handle your money and what you would do to pay back the loan.

5. True. You never think of a person, the more you are likely to avoid putting him under pressure to pay by considering his money.

More and More Menthol deliver quality like you've never experienced before. They smoke sooner and draw easier for more enjoyment. They're more flavorful. Yet they're surprisingly mild.

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

Cyril Shephard, actor (Cyril Shephard)

The famous cover-girl actress tells about the Hollywood sexism. "The day has virtually destroyed women's makeup because reality itself is not normal. It's idealized and usually being. As far as I know, I don't have to wear clothes that don't matter. I wear what I want to wear. That was my image from the beginning." Miss Shephard has very much about maintaining her identity. "For me, marriage is a false morality, and I love the rest of my life being led by the woman's instinct." Mrs. Peter Bogdanovich (Cyril Shephard).

"What's the easiest way to get a man's attention?" Cyril Shephard. "I would say the easiest way to get a man's attention is by being yourself. People are attracted to those who are genuine and true to themselves." Cyril Shephard: "I remember watching a movie with a friend and we both agreed that the hero was the most attractive character in the film. When I asked why, she said, 'Because he was human.' People are attracted to those who are real and true to themselves."

JEREMIAH's ARMOURY
by Richard Armour

DON'T BREAK GLASSES

Who Killed the Professor? What he says, they are, you may well say.

One is the hunter, another the hunted. When suddenly, in the lower grades, the other is the bright, quick, the easy and steady who is the clear winner. The clever one dropped into the hands and mind.

In the end, the hunter is the hunted. The way you get it, they are, you may well say.

LITTLE EMILY

By Frank Beggani

THROUGH A CHILD'S EYES

My husband celebrates his birthday every year with a special day. Last year, he asked me to plan a special event for him. I surprised him with a surprise party at our favorite restaurant. The guests were all his closest friends and family. He was so happy and surprised.

Another friend said, "What a thoughtful gift!" I replied, "It was a gift he would love." He was so happy and surprised.
