Ford Plans Veto Of Oil Price Lid

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) - President Ford has decided to veto a 40-cent-a-barrel increase in the price of oil for 30 days. The Administration has not yet decided whether to veto the entire bill or only the 40-cent-a-barrel increase. The President's decision is expected to be announced today.

The move comes as a surprise to many oil industry officials, who had expected the 40-cent-a-barrel increase to be approved. The move could have significant implications for the oil industry, as it would effectively freeze the price of oil at current levels.

Midwest City Police chief Jerry Johnson said the increase would have a significant impact on the department's budget. "We're already short on funds, and this would only make things worse," he said.

But the increase was opposed by the Ford administration, which is concerned about the impact on consumers.

"We're trying to keep the prices down for the American consumer," said Secretary of Energy James Schlesinger. "This increase just doesn't make any sense."

Grand Jury Summons Mrs. Hearst

Mrs. Hearst Cadenhead, who was the wife of influential oil magnate John D. Rockefeller, is being summoned by a grand jury to testify about her role in the oil industry. The grand jury is investigating possible violations of antitrust laws.

Mrs. Hearst has been a prominent figure in the oil industry for many years, and her testimony is expected to be critical. She is being represented by prominent defense attorney Edward J. Roberts.

Poor Lose Food Aid

By PAUL ENGLARD

In the United States, food aid is provided to low-income families through the Food Stamp Program. In the past year alone, over 1 million families have lost Food Stamp benefits.

Two-thirds of the families affected are children, who are often the hardest hit by cuts in food aid.

The Food Stamp Program was created in 1964 as part of the War on Poverty. It provides coupons to low-income families to purchase food.

In recent years, the program has been under increasing pressure due to budget constraints. Many states have cut back on the amount of food stamps provided to families.
