Eastside Hangouts Offer Sex, Drugs, Gambling

A few weeks ago Consultant James Jones told the Omaha World-Herald his organization had found a new hangout in Omaha's 9th Ward. The place, he said, was a predominantly black neighborhood, where the white population was mostly under 15 years old. "It's a place where you don't have to worry about getting caught in the wrong neighborhood," he said. "The only reason we're in this neighborhood is because we want to make sure that we're safe." The comments were made after a group of white teenagers were shot while out for a walk in the 9th Ward.

The Omaha World-Herald, which has a large black population, also reported that the 9th Ward is one of the most dangerous neighborhoods in the city. The paper said that the area has a high rate of violence, and that many residents are afraid to go out after dark.

"We're trying to protect the community," said a spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to keep the peace, and we're trying to make sure that people feel safe in their homes." The spokesperson said that the police department has increased patrols in the 9th Ward, and that they are working to improve the quality of life in the area.

The Omaha World-Herald also reported that the 9th Ward is one of the most economically disadvantaged neighborhoods in the city. The paper said that many residents live in poverty, and that they are struggling to make ends meet.

"We're trying to improve the economy," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to attract businesses, and we're trying to provide opportunities for people to get jobs." The spokesperson said that the police department has worked with local businesses to help create jobs in the area.

The Omaha World-Herald also reported that the 9th Ward is one of the most culturally diverse neighborhoods in the city. The paper said that many residents are from different cultures, and that they bring a rich diversity to the community.

"We're trying to celebrate diversity," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to bring people together, and we're trying to create a sense of community." The spokesperson said that the police department has worked with local organizations to help create events that celebrate the diversity of the community.

"It's a great neighborhood," said a resident of the 9th Ward. "It's a place where people come together, and they help each other out." The resident said that the neighborhood is full of energy, and that they are proud to be a part of it.

"We're trying to make sure that people feel safe," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to protect the community, and we're trying to make sure that people feel safe in their homes." The spokesperson said that the police department has increased patrols in the 9th Ward, and that they are working to improve the quality of life in the area.

"We're trying to improve the economy," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to attract businesses, and we're trying to provide opportunities for people to get jobs." The spokesperson said that the police department has worked with local businesses to help create jobs in the area.

"We're trying to celebrate diversity," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to bring people together, and we're trying to create a sense of community." The spokesperson said that the police department has worked with local organizations to help create events that celebrate the diversity of the community.

"It's a great neighborhood," said a resident of the 9th Ward. "It's a place where people come together, and they help each other out." The resident said that the neighborhood is full of energy, and that they are proud to be a part of it.

"We're trying to make sure that people feel safe," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to protect the community, and we're trying to make sure that people feel safe in their homes." The spokesperson said that the police department has increased patrols in the 9th Ward, and that they are working to improve the quality of life in the area.

"We're trying to improve the economy," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to attract businesses, and we're trying to provide opportunities for people to get jobs." The spokesperson said that the police department has worked with local businesses to help create jobs in the area.

"We're trying to celebrate diversity," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to bring people together, and we're trying to create a sense of community." The spokesperson said that the police department has worked with local organizations to help create events that celebrate the diversity of the community.

"It's a great neighborhood," said a resident of the 9th Ward. "It's a place where people come together, and they help each other out." The resident said that the neighborhood is full of energy, and that they are proud to be a part of it.

"We're trying to make sure that people feel safe," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to protect the community, and we're trying to make sure that people feel safe in their homes." The spokesperson said that the police department has increased patrols in the 9th Ward, and that they are working to improve the quality of life in the area.

"We're trying to improve the economy," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to attract businesses, and we're trying to provide opportunities for people to get jobs." The spokesperson said that the police department has worked with local businesses to help create jobs in the area.

"We're trying to celebrate diversity," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to bring people together, and we're trying to create a sense of community." The spokesperson said that the police department has worked with local organizations to help create events that celebrate the diversity of the community.

"It's a great neighborhood," said a resident of the 9th Ward. "It's a place where people come together, and they help each other out." The resident said that the neighborhood is full of energy, and that they are proud to be a part of it.

"We're trying to make sure that people feel safe," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to protect the community, and we're trying to make sure that people feel safe in their homes." The spokesperson said that the police department has increased patrols in the 9th Ward, and that they are working to improve the quality of life in the area.

"We're trying to improve the economy," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to attract businesses, and we're trying to provide opportunities for people to get jobs." The spokesperson said that the police department has worked with local businesses to help create jobs in the area.

"We're trying to celebrate diversity," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to bring people together, and we're trying to create a sense of community." The spokesperson said that the police department has worked with local organizations to help create events that celebrate the diversity of the community.

"It's a great neighborhood," said a resident of the 9th Ward. "It's a place where people come together, and they help each other out." The resident said that the neighborhood is full of energy, and that they are proud to be a part of it.

"We're trying to make sure that people feel safe," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to protect the community, and we're trying to make sure that people feel safe in their homes." The spokesperson said that the police department has increased patrols in the 9th Ward, and that they are working to improve the quality of life in the area.

"We're trying to improve the economy," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to attract businesses, and we're trying to provide opportunities for people to get jobs." The spokesperson said that the police department has worked with local businesses to help create jobs in the area.

"We're trying to celebrate diversity," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to bring people together, and we're trying to create a sense of community." The spokesperson said that the police department has worked with local organizations to help create events that celebrate the diversity of the community.

"It's a great neighborhood," said a resident of the 9th Ward. "It's a place where people come together, and they help each other out." The resident said that the neighborhood is full of energy, and that they are proud to be a part of it.

"We're trying to make sure that people feel safe," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to protect the community, and we're trying to make sure that people feel safe in their homes." The spokesperson said that the police department has increased patrols in the 9th Ward, and that they are working to improve the quality of life in the area.

"We're trying to improve the economy," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to attract businesses, and we're trying to provide opportunities for people to get jobs." The spokesperson said that the police department has worked with local businesses to help create jobs in the area.

"We're trying to celebrate diversity," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to bring people together, and we're trying to create a sense of community." The spokesperson said that the police department has worked with local organizations to help create events that celebrate the diversity of the community.

"It's a great neighborhood," said a resident of the 9th Ward. "It's a place where people come together, and they help each other out." The resident said that the neighborhood is full of energy, and that they are proud to be a part of it.

"We're trying to make sure that people feel safe," said the spokesperson for the Omaha Police Department. "We're trying to protect the community, and we're trying to make sure that people feel safe in their homes." The spokesperson said that the police department has increased patrols in the 9th Ward, and that they are working to improve the quality of life in the area.
Pottery Talk Slated By Club

Generation Gap...

Wedding Plans Cause Family Rift

Couples Say Nuptials, To Establish Homes

Engagement Announced

Polly's Pointers...

Damp Aluminum Roll 'Returnable'

Steve Burton Jr., Funeral Tuesday

Idabel Firing Protested

State Health Conference Set

Oil Supply Called Off Until 1978

American Longs NEW 120s

Vital Statistics

Extra-take, extra puffs and extra good looks, yet American Longs don't cost extra.
Editorials

The Shooting Gallery

This week marks the 20th anniversary of the Voting Rights Act of 1965. It was a landmark moment in American history, and it has had a profound impact on our democracy. It's a time to reflect on the progress we've made, and to acknowledge the work we still have to do.

The PEOPLE'S Voice

Hazardous

This week, a new study was released showing the dangers of using certain chemicals in the workplace. It's a call to action for employers to prioritize the health and safety of their employees. We must all work together to create a safer workplace environment.

Real American Majority Remains Unknown To 'Elite'

The Washington Post

Politicians often forget that the 'blue-collar white guy' is an important part of the American electorate. More than 50% of the white-collar workers live in the middle class, and they are not being represented by the current political system. It's time for a new perspective on how we view our electorate.

Navy Image Trouble Cited

The Washington Post

There is a growing concern that the Navy is not doing enough to address the high rates of suicide among its personnel. It's important for the military to prioritize mental health and provide resources for those in need.

CB Rules Relaxed

The Washington Post

There have been calls to relax some of the strict regulations and rules that are in place for CB radio operators. The goal is to make it easier for people to communicate and stay connected.

Why is Tareyton better?

Charcoal is why. Charcoal filtration is used to freshen air, to make water and other beverages taste better. It does something amazing, somehow.

TAREYTON has two filters - a white tip on the outside, activated charcoal on the inside. Like other filters they reduce rush and nicotine. But the charcoal is more. It balances, smooths - gives you a taste no plain white filter can match.
It's Good Life If You Love It

Woman, 20, Runs 750-Acre Farm

TULSA, Okla. — A young woman who has been running a 750-acre farm for three years is the subject of a recent article in the Tulsa World. The article highlights the challenges and rewards of farming as a career choice for young people.

Nursing Homes Select Queen

TULSA, Okla. — Nursing homes in Tulsa have chosen a queen as their new leader, according to a recent article in the Tulsa World. The queen is expected to represent the nursing homes in community events and activities.

Oil Compromise Hopes High

AUGUSTA, Maine — The state of Maine and oil companies have reached a compromise on the use of offshore drilling, according to a recent article in the Portland Press Herald. The compromise aims to allow limited drilling while protecting the environment.

Self Defense Expert Shuns Use Of Guns

NEW YORK, N.Y. — A self defense expert has spoken out against the use of guns, according to a recent article in the New York Times. The expert argues that non-violent solutions are often more effective in resolving conflicts.

Policeman's Home Burns

ROCHESTER, N.Y. — A police officer's home was destroyed by fire last night, according to a recent article in the Rochester Voice. The cause of the fire is currently under investigation.

Injuries New Act In OU Openers

The University of Oklahoma (OU) football team has a new act in its openers, according to a recent article in the Oklahoman. The act is expected to add an element of excitement to the team's performances.

OSU-Arkansas Tilt Springboard For The Victor

OSU-Arkansas tilt springboard for the victor by J. R. ELLIOTT

SEC Takes A Tumble

The Southeastern Conference (SEC) has taken a tumble, according to a recent article in the SEC News. The conference's teams are struggling to compete against teams from other conferences.

NW Becomes A Team To Watch

In jumbled Mid-State Race

NW becomes a team to watch in jumbled Mid-State Race by Staff

Injuries

New Act In OU Openers

OSU-Arkansas Tilt Springboard For The Victor

SEC Takes A Tumble

NW Becomes A Team To Watch

In jumbled Mid-State Race
Birds, BoSox Roll

Britons Win Wightman

Benfity Tabs Upset

Yo's Men Run Four Minutes

Birds, BoSox Roll

Baseball

Patriots Trying To Gain Support

Fourball Results

Wade Reports

Few Problems

With 1st Game

Texas A's Appear Lacking

New Mexico State

Grabs Gift Horse

Armstrong Lifts Broncos

Weyerhaeuser

Seeks To Help

Animal Habitat

Ratings Shuffled

Auburn-Bama

Bout Suffers

Time Finally Came

For Wake Forest

Firestone

Fall Values

MONDAY ONLY FROM 5 till 9pm

All Chrome Wheels in stock...$15.00.

Stereo City

205-5417

Midwest City store only

APRIL FROM THREE WEST STATES
Technical Director Seeks Right Mood

Housewife Hits Study On Value

Tourism Thrives In ‘N’Orlyuns’
GOSSIP
by Robin Adams Sloan

How many of you on St. John have yet to meet Mrs. Patti McPherson? She is an independent, loose and easy drinking sort of gal who has a whole lot of fun in life. She's not into mixing drinks or anything like that. Just enjoys the simpler things in life. She's also known as the "Queen of the Beach". Give her a call sometime.

Hearing Opens Tuesday

Homosexual Challenging Air Force Rule

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- The Air Force, it is understood Monday, will provide a legal team to challenge the Air Force’s anti-gay policy.

Synanon Plan Spreads

Addict Kicks Habit

Synanon Plan Spreads

Addict Kicks Habit

Traffic Block

A truck and trailer rig stuck on a hillside at the intersection of 9th and Main Streets. The truck, which stayed a day on a steep hillside, blocked traffic for several hours before local police were able to move it aside and reopen the road. (Photo by Paul Young)

LISTEN, Leanne, one of the girls whose voices are represented in the film "The Blues Brothers," is ready with her latest media work. "Dance" goes will be released this week. Keep an eye out for her next film project.

Worlds Views

Reds Face Cut In Portugal

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) -- Portugal now looking for a government for two weeks, but it had a new political organization to replace the socialists, the communications ministry announced Thursday. Portugal's new government will take power as the result of negotiations between the Communists and the Socialists.

Israeli Cities Strengthen

By UPI Staff

Eighteen cities and towns in Israel, including the port city of Haifa, were listed Thursday as the result of a new government decision to strengthen the cities. The cities were chosen for their strategic importance and for their population size. They include Beersheba, Netanya, and Sderot.

Russian Perspectives

Reds Face Cut In Portugal

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) -- Portugal now looking for a government for two weeks, but it had a new political program to replace the socialists, the communications ministry announced Thursday. Portugal's new government will take power as a result of negotiations between the Communists and the Socialists.

U.S., Spain Resume Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- Talks about the U.S. and Spain were resumed Thursday by officials from both countries. The talks are expected to cover the issue of Spanish military presence in the U.S.

Spain's Policeman Killed

MACAU, China (UPI) -- A Macau policeman was killed Saturday by unknown assailants.

Woman, 83, Solved Across Ocean

STANFORD, Stanford (UPI) -- Eighty-three-year-old Mrs. Margaret Johnson, who has been missing since she was last seen in Stanford, was found Saturday in the ocean off the coast of Hawaii. She was last seen on May 1st.

British Firm Faces Shutdown

LONDON (UPI) -- British Leisure Foods, a subsidiary of the firm that makes Marks & Spencer's food products, is facing the possibility of a shutdown. The company, which supplies products to Marks & Spencer and other retail chains, is facing financial difficulties.

Tropical Depression Sped Up

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) -- A tropical depression over the eastern part of the island may have sped up the arrival of the tropical storm. The storm, which was moving over the eastern part of the island, is expected to move northward and strengthen.