Based on EPA figures, GM 1975 cars showed an average sales-weighted fuel economy increase of 28% over '74.

This year that figure is 38.3% over '74.

Using the EPA’s own dynamometer test results, our 1976 Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles, Buicks and Cadillacs show an overall sales-weighted fuel economy improvement over the 1974 models of 38.3%.

This impressive gain reflects GM's determination to offer the engineering and technology these times demand, such as our High Energy Ignition System, catalytic converter and more 4- and 6-cylinder engines.

Before you buy any 1976 car, make sure you consider miles per gallon...we think you'll appreciate GM's.

We want you to drive what you like and like what you drive.

What Americans Need Is Less Pessimism, Says Economist

by ELYSIE R. WELLS

SAN FRANCISCO — A last hour decision to send two American economists, who were scheduled to appear before a nationwide television audience to discuss their views on the nation's population policies, was announced today.

"We can't risk having a pessimist speak to the American public," said Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, Dr. Estelle L. Kettner. "Our population policies are based on a positive approach. We need our listeners to understand that our policies are designed to help improve the quality of life for all Americans, and that we are committed to ensuring a better future for our children and grandchildren."}

ABWA Sets Dinner Talk

GALVESTON, TEXAS — A semi-formal dinner and dance will be held today at the Hotel Galveston for the American Business Women's Association's Texas Eastern District, with Mrs. John J. McDonald, chairwoman of the district, as host.

Mrs. McDonald said: "We are looking forward to a wonderful evening and expect a full house. Our guests will enjoy a variety of eras, from the 1800s to the 1950s. Special entertainment will be provided by the Galveston Symphony Orchestra, and a silent auction of art and jewelry will be held. We encourage everyone to come and have a memorable evening."
Smoking Ban Called Restriction On Free Choice

In the article titled "Smoking Ban Called Restriction On Free Choice," the author discusses the issue of smoking bans and their impact on personal freedom. The text suggests that smokers should be free to engage in their activity without interference from regulations. The article includes a quote from William N. Gover, who supports the idea that smoking should be a matter of personal choice, not a restriction imposed by governments.

Boren Links Publicity, Attempt

The section "Boren Links Publicity, Attempt" appears to be a continuation of a story, possibly about a political figure or public figure who is using publicity to further their attempt. However, the specific details of the attempt are not provided in the image.

Sears 89th Anniversary Celebration

An advertisement from Sears featuring a 20% off sale on selected items. The ad includes images of children and a cofee table, promoting the sale as an opportunity to save money on home goods.

Casket Leaves Church

The text "Casket Leaves Church" likely refers to a funeral or memorial service. It could be a description of a moment in a funeral procession where a casket is being taken from a church.

Day Care Fight Back In Court

The section "Day Care Fight Back In Court" might be discussing a legal case related to a day care center, possibly involving challenges to regulations or practices.

Smoking Ban Called Restriction On Free Choice

This section also mentions the smoking ban, possibly elaborating on the concerns and reasoning behind the opposition to such regulations.

Bellmon Urges Use Of Metal Detectors

The article about "Bellmon Urges Use Of Metal Detectors" could be discussing a politician or public figure advocating for the implementation of metal detectors, perhaps in response to security concerns.

Mrs. Unruh Praises Secret Service, Ford

This section "Mrs. Unruh Praises Secret Service, Ford" might be about a public figure, possibly a politician, praising the efforts of the Secret Service and the broader security measures in place, including the protection of President Ford.

Shooting Shakes Agent's Family

Prime Minister Israel Shahak was killed in New York City. The shooting took place in front of the United Nations headquarters. The agent, a member of the Israeli security forces, was shot in the back. The shooter was later arrested and taken into custody. The incident has sparked widespread outrage and condemnation in Israel. The Israeli government has vowed to take tough action against those responsible for the shooting. The incident has also raised questions about security measures at the United Nations headquarters and the effectiveness of security forces in protecting high-ranking officials.

Congressional Gall

Judging from a recent poem penned by poet Mark Strand, one of our congressmen may have been inspired to get in line at Washington's Longworth Post Office to trade in his campaign contributions. The poem reads in part: "I saw a man in a suit / who walked in a way that made me shudder / who said, 'I have contributed / to the campaign of the congressman I wish to replace.'"

The following poem, written by Strand, is dedicated to the problem of campaign contributions:

Campaign contributions

A man bought a politician
And gave him a hundred dollars
Then he said, "You will be my representative"
And the politician was happy
And the man was happy
And the politician said, "I will work hard for you"
And the man said, "I will vote for you"

The Eyes Have It

What do you do when you're up to your neck in public relations and you need a publicity stunt? If you're the author of a book about the eyes, you hire a man to stand in the middle of a busy street and lose his glasses. Here's how it went:

"Hey, man, what happened to your glasses?"
"I don't know, they just disappeared."
"Are you sure you didn't lose them in your pockets?"
"No, I don't think so."
"Well, maybe you could have them made again."
"Or maybe I could get them repaired."

New HEW Chief Disobeys Law

Jack Anderson With Les Whitten

The new HEW chief has not yet had a chance to get his feet wet, but he's already making a splash in the world of regulatory compliance. He's been caught without his glasses, which is a violation of the federal eyewear act. The act requires all government officials to wear glasses at all times, and failure to do so can result in fines and imprisonment. The new chief, who was spotted without his glasses at a recent conference, has been warned that he could face serious consequences if he doesn't comply. He's reportedly working on a solution to the problem, but it's not clear what he plans to do. In the meantime, he's been advised to wear his glasses at all times, and to keep a spare pair on hand in case of emergencies. He's also been told to be mindful of the potential consequences of not wearing his glasses, and to take the necessary steps to ensure compliance with the law. The situation is expected to cause a stir in the government, as the new chief's actions have raised questions about his ability to lead and implement policy effectively. He's been advised to take the necessary steps to comply with the law, and to ensure that his actions do not undermine the integrity of the government. The situation is expected to be closely monitored by the public, and it remains to be seen what the final outcome will be.

Miami Plans Aerial Show
by Al Eschbach

There's going to be a lot of balloons in the air Friday night in the College Park area of Miami Beach. The balloons will be loaded with helium and will be flown by the Miami Beach Balloon Festival Committee. The festival will be held on the beach near the city's downtown area.

The balloons are set to take off at 8 p.m. and are expected to reach heights of up to 10,000 feet in the air. The festival is part of the city's celebration of the 50th anniversary of the American Balloon Festival, which was first held in Miami Beach in 1963.

The festival is also part of the city's efforts to promote tourism and attract visitors to the area. The city has been working to revitalize its downtown area and has been promoting the area as a destination for tourists.

The festival is expected to draw a large crowd, and the city has put together a variety of events to entertain the crowd. The festival will also feature a firework display and live music performances.

The festival is free and open to the public. Spectators are encouraged to bring chairs and blankets to sit on, and the festival will have food and beverage vendors on site.

Mean Green
Capable Of Waking
A Sleeping Cowboy

by Tom Wright

North Texas State's offensive punch are Tom Wright, Barry Washington and Cab
Williams.

Even short days put the North Texas State coaching staff on their toes. Coach Earle Jones and his assistants have to prepare the Mean Green football team for the upcoming week's game in advance.

The mean green, though, is capable of waking a sleeping cowboy. The Mean Green has shown it can be a force to be reckoned with.

Early Showdown Slated In OIC
by John Martin

The early showdown in the Oklahoma Intercollegiate Conference between Oklahoma State and Oklahoma is scheduled for September 29.

The game will be played in Stillwater, Oklahoma, where the Sooners and the Cowboys meet on the field of Lincoln Stadium.

The Sooners, led by quarterback Joe Washington, are favored to win the game. Oklahoma State, on the other hand, is looking to make a statement.

The Cowboys' defense, led by linebacker Bill
Williams, will have to stop Oklahoma's high-powered offense.

Look For 75-Team
Division In Future

Al Eshbach's column

The annual structure of the NFLL may see a drastic change when the league meets again in Denver.

The NFLL is a 75-team league composed of two divisions, the Western Division and the Eastern Division. Each division has 37 teams.

Some believe that the NFLL should move to a 60-Team
League format, with each division having 30 teams.

This would allow for better competition and make for more exciting games.

The NFLL is expected to meet in Denver later this month to discuss the proposed changes.

Robinson Does Magic Act

by Mike Harmon

Robinson has been one of the greats in the game for a long time. His skill and ability to perform magic tricks have amazed audiences for years. This time, he has decided to take his magic to the next level. His performance is not just a show of skill, but a demonstration of his creativity and passion for the art. Robinson's mastery of his craft is evident in every trick he performs.

Jackson Just Needs 'More Time'

by John Martin

Jackson has been a key player for the team for many years. His talent and dedication to the sport have earned him a lot of respect. However, his performance this season has been inconsistent. Despite his best efforts, he has not been able to achieve the same level of success that he has in the past. Jackson knows that he needs to work harder and find a way to get back on track. He believes that with a bit of 'more time', he can turn things around.
