3 Men Die In Molasses

The Arizona Daily Star

SAN FRANCISCO — Police had no immediate explanation today for the deaths of three men found dead in the mud and debris of the partially collapsed Molasses Pool, a subterranean drain where 100,000 gallons of molasses were trapped.

The men were discovered early this morning by two workers who were clearing the pool of debris.

The cause of death was not immediately known, but officials said it was probably accidental.

The pool is located near the corner of Mission and Fourth streets in San Francisco's Chinatown district.

The workers were clearing the debris from the pool when they made the discovery.

The pool had been used as a storage area for molasses, which was used to make brown sugar.

The collapse of the pool occurred in 1914, when a large earthquake shook the area.

The pool has since been filled with sediment and is now considered a potential hazard to the environment.

Further investigation is underway to determine the cause of the deaths and to assess the risk to the public.

MADISON, Wis. - The Wisconsin State Journal has reported that Ford has vetoed a bill that would have provided free school lunches for all students.

"The bill would have been a great step forward in ensuring that all children have access to healthy meals," said the Journal. "But Ford insists on imposing a $1 billion tax cut instead, which is a slap in the face to families and schools.

"We need a leader who will prioritize the well-being of our children and our communities," said the Journal.

Victim Trapped Suspended Clearing Housing Panel

By MIKE BLAKE

WASHINGTON - President Ford has vetoed a bill that would have provided housing assistance to victims of domestic violence.

The bill, introduced by Sen. Barbara Boxer, D-Calif., would have provided up to $1 billion in funding for housing and other services for victims of domestic violence.

"I applaud Sen. Boxer and her colleagues for their efforts to help victims," said Ford. "But we need to be careful about how we spend our tax dollars.

"We must prioritize funding for programs that have a proven track record of helping those in need," said Ford.

Several fuels are used to make electricity. Soon OG&E will use coal.

Here's why.

1. Natural gas is diminishing in supply and is thus becoming more expensive to find and use.
2. Oil is needed for literally thousands of products. The less our nation uses to generate electricity, the more it helps move us toward energy independence.
3. Nuclear fuel is a reality and a possibility for your future.
4. Coal is available now and in abundance. Coal is a sensible, economically sound solution.

Today, OG&E uses natural gas as its primary generating fuel. For tomorrow we are building coal-fired plants. These plants cost more to build but electricity will have to cost more. Still, the use of coal will allow the rising cost of electricity.

One thing never changes at OG&E: we're working to make sure you'll continue having the electricity you need. And that it won't cost any more than it has to.
