State Collects Nearly
$1 Billion In Taxes

By RICHARD GRAY
The Oklahoman

The state of Oklahoma has collected nearly $1 billion in taxes this fiscal year. The bulk of the revenue came from sales tax, which accounted for more than 50% of the total.

The state budget is projected to be in surplus for the first time in several years. This is due in part to increased economic activity and higher state tax collections.

The state is planning to use the surplus to fund important programs and initiatives, such as education and infrastructure improvements.

Glamor People' Pose Problems For Police

'Why, I do know, when I first met him, that I didn't know him. He was so tall and handsome and he had such a fine figure. He was so polite and so charming. I thought he was just the perfect gentleman. But then I discovered that he was also a complete practical joker. He would sneak into my room at night and play pranks on me. Sometimes he would hide my clothes and shoes and then leave notes for me to find them. It was so frustrating. But then one day he surprised me with a birthday cake and a beautiful bouquet of flowers. I realized then that he was a kind hearted person after all and I forgave him for all his pranks. I love him now and I can't imagine my life without him.

Tulsa Brother's Trial Today

Kidnap Victim Pleads For Life

The Tulsa City Council has set a meeting for next week to determine whether or not to sell the city's trash collection, recycling, and composting operations to a private company. The move has激起ed a debate among council members, with some arguing that private companies can provide more efficient and cost-effective services, while others believe that the city should retain control over these critical services.

Garbage bag sales have been a major concern for the city's fire department. City officials have been working to increase the use of fire-resistant bags to prevent the spread of fire, especially in residential areas. In an effort to support fire safety, the city has handed out fire-resistant bags to firefighters at a ceremony.

Support workers who are fired or laid off due to budget cuts or other reasons may face challenges in finding new employment. The city has been working to address these issues by providing job training and skills development programs to help these workers transition to new careers.

Weather conditions are expected to remain mild over the upcoming weekend, with temperatures expected to remain in the low 50s. The city's utility rates are expected to increase in the coming months, with the rise due to higher costs of natural gas and electricity.

Darnell, Bombers Ruffle Some Feathers

by Mike Harmon

The 107-pound, 5-foot-10-inch freshman defensive tackle has already had a couple of attention-grabbing moments on the field for the Baker College Bombers this season. In early October, he was the subject of attention for the wrong reason - he was charged with disturbing the peace.

But the Bombers' hard-hitting defensive tackle is already making a name for himself in the college world. And he's not done yet.

"I was just acting out of anger," Darnell said of the incident. "I was upset about something that happened at practice and I took my frustration out on some of the other players. I didn't mean to do it, but it happened.

"I've learned my lesson and I'm trying to move on. I want to focus on the games and do my best on the field."

Sooner Offense May Not Dance On Cats This Time
by Al Eschbach

When Oklahoma and Kansas State have gotten together on the gridiron the last four years, the Sooners offense has had a lot of offense. Pending the period the OC has been against a scoring defense, a game has yielded 34 points. That's a shade better than a points a game.

This week's matchup between Sooner Joe Blanton was against the biggest of the big cats. Kansas State coach Ted Smith will have to face a formidable Sooners team this week.

The Sooners offense is in good shape. They are making three of four looks to keep a game going. The offense has been dangerous and has scored a lot of points.

The Sooners have scored 26 points in their last two games. They scored 24 points against Kansas State last year.

The Sooners also have scored 14 points against Oklahoma State this year. They scored 13 points against Oklahoma State last year.

Unwinding The Pro Football Star

By Murray Olderman

NFLPA — 1968 — Through injuries and illness, the NFLPA grew from a membership of 15 in 1963 to well over 200 in 1968. Today, the NFLPA is the official negotiating agent for all NFL players and is represented by NFLPA president and former Baltimore Colts star Gene Washington.

Washington believes that the NFLPA is more than just a labor organization. He sees it as a way for players to band together and negotiate better contracts for themselves.

Washington's goal is to increase the league's total payroll and thereby increase the number of jobs for players. He also wants to improve the working conditions for players, such as better facilities and medical treatment.

Washington has been a vocal advocate for better contracts and working conditions, and his efforts have been recognized by the league. In 1968, he was named to the Pro Football Hall of Fame.
