Judge Doubts Delay On Grand Jury Probe

By Michael F. Frank

Cleveland, Ohio — Judge Robert J. Yuhasz, who is presiding over the John T. Sweeney case, yesterday indicated that he may grant a delay in the case to allow time for the prosecution to conduct further investigation.

Judge Yuhasz said he would consider granting a delay in the case, which is set for trial next month. The delay would allow the prosecution to conduct further investigation into the facts of the case.

The John T. Sweeney case involves allegations of corruption in the Cleveland police department. Sweeney, a high-ranking police officer, has been accused of taking bribes from a local businessman.

Your Right To Stay Armed

By Richard L. Robles

The struggle to protect the Second Amendment is a battle that has been fought for generations. It is a struggle that is not just about guns, but about freedom and the right to defend oneself.

In many states, there are proposals to limit the ability of citizens to carry firearms. These proposals are often driven by a desire to make our communities safer, but they can have unintended consequences.

The right to bear arms is not just about the ability to own a gun, but about the right to protect oneself and one's family. It is a fundamental right that has been upheld by the courts and is essential to the preservation of democracy.

State Editors Say

State Payroll

The state payroll is a critical component of the state budget, and it is important to ensure that it is managed in a responsible manner.

The state payroll includes all employees of the state government, from the executive to the legislative branch. It is important to ensure that the payroll is managed in a way that is fiscally responsible and that it does not put undue strain on the state budget.

According to GUINNESS

The longest recorded bottle of wine in the world at the time of writing is a bottle of Madeira wine that was bottled in 1717. The wine is stored in a private cellar in Portugal and is estimated to be over 300 years old.

Audit Spurs Grant Halt

The audit of the state grant program revealed several issues that need to be addressed. The state has taken steps to address the issues and is working to ensure that the grant program is managed in a way that is fiscally responsible.

Symphony Subsidy Still Possible, Zahn Says

The state has allocated funds for the symphony, and it appears that the subsidy is still possible. The state has taken steps to ensure that the subsidy is managed in a way that is fiscally responsible and that it does not put undue strain on the state budget.

The tenderness in ProTen Beef is directly related to delicious tropical fruits, such as passion, pineapple and figs. Nature's original tenderizing agents already present in beef are combined with a unique food protein derivative of one of these fruits. Bordeaux grapes are used to create further tenderness seldom achieved previously. This process is so unique, itvolume beef tender and nutritious as well as added tenderness.

Food-Handling, Storage Contribute to Savings

In order to save money on food, many people store food in an effective manner. Proper storage can help to extend the life of food and prevent spoilage. Some tips for effective food storage include:

1. Store dry goods in a cool, dry place.
2. Keep fresh fruits and vegetables in the refrigerator.
3. Use airtight containers for dry goods.
4. Label containers with the date of purchase.

Finally, a Stick Margarine "Good Enough to Fool Mother Nature!"

Do you want to make your margarine taste better? Try our Stick Margarine. It's made with real butter and has a smooth, creamy texture. Plus, it's low in fat and calories. Make your margarine even more delicious with our special recipe:

1. Melt 1 tablespoon of our Stick Margarine in a small saucepan over medium heat.
2. Stir in 1 teaspoon of grated lemon zest.
3. Drizzle over your favorite vegetables or meats.
