Police Pleased With Pact

NOW President Wins Re-Election

Soviets

American Longs now 120's, with the flavor that goes on and on and on and on...

Women's Day Slated

Health Units Schedule Eight Stops

Club Invites Two Speakers

Dental Short Course Friday

Two Professors Given $1,000

Methodist Schools Get Study

10 Convicts At Large

BRAND OPENING OF
ORIENTAL FOODS

50% OFF
ALL CANNED GOODS

SPECIAL OFFER
10% OFF REGULAR PRICE

REPAIRS THAT STOP LEAKS
SHOULDN'T STOP TRAFFIC.
Raymond Wolf Sr. Dies, Rites Pending

National Briefs

Egypt Wins Again

Washington (AP) - President Nixon and Saudi Arabia's King Fahd met today for a special session of the U.S.-Arab Strategic Dialogue in the White House. The meeting comes ahead of the opening of the annual strategic dialogue between the two countries.

Sadat Arrives In Virginia

WASHINGTON (AP) - Egyptian President Anwar el-Sadat arrived in Virginia today for a four-day visit. Sadat is expected to meet with President Carter and other top officials during his trip.

Epilepsia Insured

WASHINGTON (AP) - Epilepsy can now be insured by private health insurance companies in the United States, after President Carter signed into law the Epilepsy Foundation of America's bill.

Pentecostal Flag

Church Holds Rites

NATIONAL SECURITY

A LIFETIME SUPPLY OF FIREWOOD $9.95
18" SET

Wes Hankins Battling His Way Back

Sooners Nearing Elite In All-Time Grid Skeins

At Oklahoma, the Sooners are rapidly approaching the elite status in the all-time grid skeins. Russell Erxlep, the Sooners' all-time grid skein leader, is expected to return to the lineup soon after his brief absences.

Dallas Rallies, 20-17

In a dramatic come-from-behind victory, Dallas rallied in the fourth quarter to defeat the rival team, 20-17. The game was filled with tension and excitement, as both teams fought for the victory.
U.S. Showing At Pan Am Games Best Ever

SPORTS CITY (AP) — The United States won 12 of 16 gold medals in the first American Track Classic, which was part of the Pan American Games. Los Angeles' Bob Beamon, the world record holder in the triple jump, won his third straight title.

The U.S. team won 13 of the 16 gold medals in track and field, including the men's 4x400-meter relay. Beamon, who also won the long jump, set a world record of 8.90 meters in the triple jump.

Beamon's victory was a major boost for the American team, which had struggled in previous Pan American Games. The U.S. had won just three gold medals in the meet's history, and Beamon's performance was a sign that the U.S. was ready to make a strong showing.

The United States also won golds in the men's 10,000 meters, the men's shot put, and the women's 400-meter hurdles. The U.S. women's relay team also won gold, setting a new world record.

In addition to Beamon, other standout American performers included pole vaulter Jane Hume, who broke the world record, and triple jumper Mike Haddix, who won the event for the third straight year.

The Pan American Games, which were held in Mexico City, were considered a test event for the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City. The American track team, which had been coached by Tom Heinsohn, was expected to do well in the Games, and Beamon's performance was a sign that they were ready to compete at the highest level.

The U.S. team's success in the Pan American Games was a sign of things to come at the 1968 Olympics, where the Americans would win a total of 100 medals, including 42 golds. Beamon would also win gold in the men's long jump at the Olympics.
Pirates Move Into 6th Spot

In some ways, it might be a little discouraging that the Pirates have moved into the 6th spot in the NL East. It's easy to get carried away with the excitement of a new season and a new team, but the reality is that the Pirates are still behind the New York Mets, the Philadelphia Phillies, and the Washington Nationals. It's a long season, and anything can happen, but for now, the Pirates are still in the bottom half of the league. The team will have to work hard to keep up with the competition and make sure they're not left behind. It's a tough challenge, but with the right attitude and effort, the Pirates can still make a strong case for the postseason.
America Losing Drive For Material Progress?

An Economist Survey
America's Third Century
Second Of Series

John Kenneth Galbraith

The concept of growth has been the yardstick by which the economic performance of the United States has been measured for nearly a century. But the United States is facing a new economic reality: it is no longer the economic superpower that it once was.

The demand for manufactured goods has declined, and the country is now转向服务行业. This shift has been driven by a number of factors, including the growth of technology and the rise of globalization.

The decline of manufacturing has been particularly evident in the Rust Belt, where factories have closed and jobs have moved to other parts of the world. This has led to a decline in the standard of living for many workers, and has contributed to the political polarization that has characterized recent elections.

The United States is not the only country facing these challenges. Across the world, economies are struggling with the impacts of globalization and technological change. But the United States is particularly vulnerable to these trends, as it has historically been the leader in innovation and technology.

The United States must adapt to these new realities, or risk falling behind other countries. This will require a shift in priorities, and a focus on quality of life rather than growth at all costs.

--

Scouting today... a lot more than you think.

A lot of young people today are embracing scouting to learn skills that will help them succeed in life. Scouting is not just about camping and outdoor activities, but it is also about personal development.

Scouting teaches young people the value of teamwork, leadership, and responsibility. It helps them to build self-confidence and develop problem-solving skills.

In addition, Scouting offers opportunities to learn about science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM). Young people can participate in Scouting programs that focus on these areas, and can even earn merit badges in STEM-related fields.

Scouting is a valuable experience that can benefit young people throughout their lives. It is a way to get involved in the community, make new friends, and learn important life skills.

Support

Support 1975 Scout O Rama
November 7 - State Fairgrounds